Education Tax—III

Many Crucial Factors Depend On Levy's Passage

"The secret of education lies in respecting the pupil."
...Ralph Waldo Emerson

By BOB SHEUE
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Patrons of the Sedalia school district have much to gain or much to lose, depending on the outcome of the May 16 election on a 65-cent increase in the school tax levy.

An opportunity to regain the prestige of an AAA rating for Smith-Cotton High School graduates would be lost if the levy fails. It is also a fact that the school system will lose accreditation with the North Central Association, a penalty many educators feel might hamper college entrance efforts for some S-C graduates.

A chance to expand the vocational-technical program in Sedalia schools as well as the learning disability program coordinated by the school system with the Children's Therapy Center would be lost. Classes would remain overcrowded and the quality of education will stagnate. The new junior high would be only partially staffed, and as a result some of the $1.9 million in bonds voted for construction of the school would be wasted.

Perhaps the most crucial loss from a defeat of the levy would be in the form of kindergarten, something the school system has never had, even though the pre-school concept is more than 100 years old. The lack of kindergartens might prove especially damaging, many educators think, because of the solid foundation it provides for a total school experience.

Parents Voice Opinions

Many parents, who have taken the trouble to pre-enroll their children in kindergarten on the hopes the levy will pass echo the feelings of those educators on the vital importance of pre-school experience.

For instance, Mrs. C. J. Harris, 1821 East Seventh, said recently that she felt kindergarten would help her son Warren adjust to being away from home and learning to get along in a group.

"I've had people tell me that kindergarten isn't that important," Mrs. Harris said. "But my older son had an adjustment problem when he went to school. Any help Warren can get will help. I think kindergarten provides kids with a better start and gives them a push in the right direction."

Speaking on the levy itself Mrs. Harris said, "I'm for the levy. It's about time Sedalia schools did something. We need better schools, more teachers and more dedication. Right now I have a 10-year-old at Washington in a class with about

"What's the matter with this community? We've had friends tell us that if the community can't work together and back something like this they don't want to stay here any longer."

35 other kids. I think it would be much better for him and everyone if there were 15 or 20 in the class."

Kindergarten a Benefit

Mrs. Wayne Brauer, 713 East 14th, and Mrs. Charles Fulks, Route 4, both expressed similar feelings on the need for kindergarten.

Mrs. Brauer said her daughter Shelly would "learn how to get along with other kids, and she'll pick up a little more education. I look on kindergarten as a benefit," she continued, "and I think it's worth it."

Mrs. Fulks also said she wanted her daughter Lori to learn to adjust to the situation of being with other children her age, rather than being limited to strictly a family experience.

Mrs. Sara Wells, 1020 South Vermont, voiced strong support for both kindergarten and the levy increase. She takes particular concern in both issues since her grandson Troy has been pre-enrolled in a prospective kindergarten class at Horace Mann.

"I think kindergarten is really important and my grandson is so eager to learn. We really need kindergartens in our schools here," she continued.

Important For Children

Speaking on the levy, Mrs. Wells said, "I know it's harder

At Junior High

Members of the Sedalia School Board Friday toured the junior high school building and reviewed progress of the construction work along with the architect and the contractor. According to George Thompson, board president, Don "L" Bron, the Kansas City contractor, Friday promised him that the building will be ready for use July 15. "We'll keep a weekly watch on the progress of the work," Thompson added. Bron pointed out that the current delay in laying the roof was due to periodic rains, Thompson said. Viewing the lockers are, from left to right, Donald Buller, architect; Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Bill Dugan, Thompson, Dr. Chester A. Kirkpatrick, Glenn M. Kell Jr., and Dr. C. W. Monsees, all board members.

South Recaptures Ground Lost To North Vietnamese

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces struck Saturday in their first counteroffensive on the northern front, recapturing some ground seized in the six-week-old North Vietnamese drive across the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Marine helicopters carried South Vietnamese marines into battle in Quang Tri Province below the DMZ, where the provincial capital of Qung Tri City fell to the enemy May 1. The Saigon forces were reported Sunday to be holding their new positions.

In fighting elsewhere Sunday:

— Government forces repulsed a tank-led North Vietnamese assault on the defensive perimeter of the threatened city of Kontum in the central highlands, the Saigon command reported. It said 10 of the 12 Soviet-built T54 tanks were destroyed by ground troops firing light antitank weapons and by American helicopters using missiles. The clash occurred about two miles outside the city, said to be a key enemy objective in the highlands.

— Enemy gunners rocketed the Da Nang area on the northern coast for the fifth time in a month, hitting the big U.S. air base and a nearby South Vietnamese military hospital with 20 rounds. Preliminary reports said five persons were killed and 19 wounded at the hospital. One U.S. aircraft, a vehicle and three buildings were reported destroyed at the base.

In Quang Tri Province, the attacking South Vietnamese met strong resistance at some points, but they reported killing 168 enemy with the help of massive air strikes, artillery and naval gunfire. South Vietnamese losses in the fighting were put at about 40 men killed or wounded.

Reports from the north said, however, that the marine operation was not expected to have any major effect on expected North Vietnamese assaults on the city of Hue itself, a key enemy objective.

A communique from South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said that on the "major war fronts, which are Kontum, Hua Hien (around Hue), and An Loc, there were no significant improvements."

While the South Vietnamese intiative dominated the day's battleground North Vietnamese forces kept up their heavy pressure on An Loc, another provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon that has been under siege since April 7. Heavy guns, fired from surrounding enemy positions, battered An Loc again, as they have repeatedly for weeks, and savage ground fighting went on in and around the town.

South Vietnamese forces moving from the south drew to within 13 miles of An Loc, seizing two miles of Highway 13 after several days of heavy fighting.

There also was another major clash about 30 miles northwest of Saigon, scene

Fifteen Injured

Flaming Crash Kills 14

BEAN STATION, Tenn. (AP) — A Greyhound bus carrying 28 persons and a cargo truck crashed in flames in mountainous east Tennessee early Saturday. Fourteen persons were killed and 15 injured, three critically.

There was no immediate explanation of the cause of the accident which occurred on dry pavement on a relatively straight stretch of the highway in the foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains.

The road—U.S. 11-W—is heavily traveled and more than 100 people attended a recent meeting in nearby Scaggston to protest the traffic. A second meeting had already been scheduled when the accident occurred.

U.S. Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., called the wreck "catastrophic evidence of the intolerably hazardous conditions along U.S. 11-W and other twolane roads that fill in the gaps in the nation's interstate highway system." He said he hoped the accident would spur action to prevent further wrecks along similar highways.

The drivers of both vehicles were among those killed.

Jesse Coffee, 27, whose house is about 100 yards off the two-lane road, described the accident this way:

"It sounded like a case of dynamite went off. It jarred the whole house. Then everything was quiet and all we heard was a baby crying."

Three children were among the dead; a baby was among those treated and released at Morristown-Hamblen Hospital 16 miles southeast of here.

Greyhound officials at Roanoke, Va., where the bus was due later in the morning, identified the bus driver as Frank Flick of Roanoke. The truck driver was identified as Bobby G. Garrison, believed to be an employe of the Malone Trucking Co. of Gadsden, Ala.

The bus had left Knoxville earlier in the morning.

Among the injured was Evelyn Delaney, a nurse at Holston Valley Community Hospital in Kingsport, who suffered a leg fracture. "I remember going to sleep and the next thing I knew I was outside on the gravel," she said.

In Washington, the National Transportation Safety Board said it was sending a group of experts to investigate.

Rain began falling shortly after the wreck, but state troopers said the road was dry when the crash occurred about 5 a.m.

State troopers said the westbound truck bore Alabama license plates.

Tragedy Strikes In Pettis County

Within less than three hours tragedy struck in Pettis County Friday — leaving a small boy dead in a bulldozer accident, taking the life of an 18-year-old Clarksburg man in an auto accident near Smithton and sending seven persons to Bothwell Hospital as the result of a four car mishap at LaMonte. In another accident a Sedalia girl escaped serious injury in a car-bicycle collision near Seventh and Lamine.

Melvin D. Reno, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Reno, Route 3, was killed when a bulldozer operated by his step-father ran over him on a farm, eight-tenths of a mile south of Dresden.

A spokesman for the Pettis County Sheriff's Department said the accident occurred at about 3 p.m. when the Reno boy apparently walked behind the machine as it moved backwards and was run over. The youth was pronounced dead at the scene by Pettis County Coroner Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher.

Gary Lee Theiss, 18, Clarksburg, a passenger in a 1964 Ford driven east on Highway 50 by James Uptergrove, 18, Fortuna, died when the car went out of control and overturned four miles east of Sedalia about 4 p.m.

A spokesman for the Highway Patrol told The Democrat-Capital Uptergrove was attempting to pass a pick-up truck and skidded on wet pavement, striking an embankment on the northside of the road.

Theiss's body was taken to Bowlin Funeral Home, California. Uptergrove suffered a chest and possible head injury. He was taken to Bothwell Hospital where he was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday morning.

A chain reaction accident was set off near LaMonte when a 1969 Ford driven east on Highway 50 by Frank Lilly, 62, Kansas City, collided with the rear of a 1971 Volkswagen driven by John T. Scott, 22, 174 Heritage Village, which had slowed

Youth Drowns In Knob Noster Park

(Democrat-Capital Service)

KNOB NOSTER — A 17-year-old Raytown youth drowned Saturday afternoon at Clearfork Lake in Knob Noster State Park.

According to Harlan Temple, Johnson County Sheriff, Don Alan Young was in approximately 15 feet of water and 30 feet from shore when he yelled to three companions for help and went under.

Capt. David Mize, Whiteman AFB, was called to the site to dive and recover the youth's body. The body was recovered at 3 p.m., about 45 minutes after the incident, and was taken to a Warrensburg funeral home.

The youth was on a church outing with the Countryside United Methodist Church's MYF group.

Petition To Register Pettis County Voters

A petition drive to initiate county-wide voter registration has been launched by the League of Woman Voters of Sedalia-Pettis County, the Jaycees and committee members from both political parties, it was reported Saturday.

One of the reasons given for the petition effort is the elimination of possible fraudulant voting practices.

Mrs. E. N. Healey, Route 2, head of the campaign, said, "Although some portions of the county may not seem to need voter registration, in our mobile society it is no longer possible for election judges to know all the voters in their precincts."

She added that "in order to protect the vote of both the rural and Sedalia voter, a uniform procedure is needed. The issues and the candidates are the same throughout the county, and possible fraudulant voting in one precinct could cancel the legal votes of another precinct."

In order to place the issue on the ballot for the November general election, the petitions must net the signatures of 2,155 qualified voters in the county.

That figure represents 15 per cent of the total vote cast in the county for governor in the last election, as required in a "local option" state law.

Any qualified voter 18 years old or older who has resided in Missouri at least one year and in the county or city for at least 60 days may sign the petitions. Husbands and wives must sign separately, according to Mrs. Healey.

Another basic reason for the petition drive, Mrs. Healey said, was "to validate every eligible person's right to vote. Residents of Sedalia now register because of a state law requiring cities of 10,000 or more to register. Many of them are unaware of the fact, as well as appalled by it, that county residents do not."

She said Pettis County had a unique problem in that an election in School District 200 allows registered voters as well as those who are not registered to go to the pools.

"Residents living in the district but outside the city limits are not registered and may vote at any polling place they choose," she said. "This is not only confusing, but also in some instances it has resulted in persons being denied a vote. Fraudulant voting is also possible," she said.

"Another inequity is the fact that a negligent county voter may not exercise his right to vote for years until a particular issue or candidate spurs him to the polls. A Sedalia voter who has neglected to register does not have this privilege," she said.

According to Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson, Pettis County clerk, if the drive is successful and the issue is approved by the voters, she will publish dates when she and her deputies will visit various townships in the county to begin registration proceedings. Mrs. Wilson said she favored the petition drive and has assisted the League in obtaining information necessary to initiate it.

Big City Protests Cap Week of Demonstrations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Antiwar protests were staged in about a dozen big cities and college towns Saturday, capping a week of demonstrations against the latest administration moves in Vietnam.

The demonstrations, which had led to scattered violence and more than 1,000 arrests during the week, generally were uneventful during the daylight hours Saturday. Additional arrests were made, however, at an Air Force base in Massachusetts, which has been the target of protesters for the last three weeks.

There also were several demonstrations of support for the war moves announced by President Nixon last Monday night.

The biggest antiwar rally of the day was held in New York City. Demonstrations also were held in Boston, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco.

About 1,000 persons attended a rally on the Capitol steps in Washington. The protesters, mostly young people, had marched up Pennsylvania Avenue from the Elipse.

In San Francisco, some 500 to 600 antiwar protesters marched peacefully through downtown to a rally at the civic center. They chanted "Peace Now!" and many wore lapel buttons reading "Enough."

The National Peace Action Coalition said there were 10,000 at a rally in New York's Central Park, where Swedish actress Viveca Lindfors urged a general strike to force a U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

A rally in Chicago's Grant Park attracted about 2,500 persons, and organizers said the turnout was cut by rainy weather. About 300 police looked on, but there were no incidents.

The Boston rally drew about 1,500 people to the Boston Common.

Three demonstrations in support of President Nixon were held in the South.

Fourteen persons staged a pro-Nixon rally in Jackson, Miss., and about 200 Cuban refugees hailed the President in Miami.

About 5,000 protesters marched from the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis to the state capitol in St. Paul, eight miles away. In Austin, Tex., 100 of the 40,000 students at the University of Texas marched from the campus to the state Capitol.

About 300 persons gathered in Bataan Park in Albuquerque, N.M., for an antiwar rally.

'Meals' Program Favored

The idea of a "Meals-on-Wheels" program for Sedalia's elderly poor didn't meet with much enthusiasm as far as responses to a Democrat-Capital survey is concerned, but those who did reply favored the plan 4-to-1.

Specifically, the survey asked: "The Sedalia Council on Aging and other groups are working on a 'Meals-on-Wheels' program for the elderly poor here. The plan would be funded possibly through a federal grant and local contributions. Do you think there is a need for such a program in Sedalia and, if implemented, that it would be beneficial?"

One reader who said she was over 70 and who asked to remain anonymous wrote, "Yes, we need help. Some one should take the trouble to check the average Social Security checks that we receive and have to depend on."

After she and her husband worked all there lives in Sedalia, she said, it would seem proper that the elderly be given assistance other than social security in order to "retain dignity."

Another anonymous writer said there were "too many (persons) who want the meals and don't need them." His was a "no" vote.

And one respondent summed up the views of all the others concerning the program when he wrote "I think it is fine for those who can't get out much anymore."

More On How To Break A Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed eight suggestions on how to break up the marriage of a son or daughter. I would like to add two more. These are guaranteed to work. I know because they destroyed my marriage. Here they are:

(1) Whenever your married son and daughter visit with their children, make a point of how thin and tired the kids look. Get across the message that you don't have a very high opinion of the way your beloved grandchildren are being cared for. Intimate that the mother's neglect is detrimental to the health of the youngsters. Ask repeatedly what they eat and why it is that they have so many colds. If the kid breaks a tooth or is injured during play, get all the details and place the blame on lack of supervision.

(2) If your son has a button off his shirt or if his shirt isn't ironed as well as you used to do it when he lived at home, say something. Also mention the hole in his sock or the spot on his coat. It will fan the flame of self-pity and it could start the final fight that ends in the divorce court.

I hope you will reprint the original eight rules along with the two additional suggestions as a refresher course for in-laws. The divorce lawyers from coast to coast are sure to profit from a re-run. Thank you. — It Happened In New Mexico

Dear N. Mex.: Thank you for two splendid additions to the original eight ways to break up a marriage. For those who didn't see the first eight, here they are:

(1) When a son or daughter lets you know they plan to be married, show open hostility to the person of his choice. After all, marriage means less love and attention for parents and they have a right to resent it.

(2) Expect your married children to spend every Sunday and holiday at your home. Act hurt if they have other plans.

(3) If your married children have problems with their mates, encourage them to come home, no matter what. Listen attentively to all complaints and point out additional faults which may have gone unobserved. Remember, a drop of water at a time can wear away a rock — if you keep at it long enough.

(4) If your married children are having financial problems, rush in with the checkbook. If you are having financial problems yourself, borrow, if necessary, but let them know they'll never have to do without anything so long as you are around.

(5) If a married child has a drinking problem, keep telling him his mate drove him to it. It will make him feel better. Everyone needs someone to blame.

(6) If your married child gets an opportunity for advancement which takes him to another city, tell him family is more important than money and if he leaves, God will punish him for not obeying the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

(7) If there are grandchildren, smother them with gifts. If the parents object, tell them to keep out of it. After all, grandchildren are to spoil. Sneak money to the kids secretly if you have to. They'll love you for it.

(8) If your married child has a difference of opinion with his mate, get into the act and give them both a sample of your wisdom born of years of experience. What do THEY know? You've lived! If you talk loud enough, maybe you can turn a minor argument into a major hassle and break up the marriage.

Listen To Coach

These children are all ears as they listen to Mark Taylor, 427 West Saline, Chairman of the Sedalia Housing Authority's Recreational Program and known to local small-fry as "coach". Taylor, with the help of Housing Authority personnel, the Rev. Marvin Albright and Bob Heitmeyer, organized the program for children in the housing project. Taylor said Sedalia merchants and individuals have been most helpful in getting the program off the ground. He said residents in the housing project have volunteered their time and effort to provide a place for the children to play.

Fire Kills 118, Injures Over Forty

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Fire raged through a seven-story department store building Saturday night, killing 118 persons and injuring more than 40 others, police reported.

Most of the dead and injured were in a cabaret on the top floor of the Sennichi Department Store, police said. Many fled to the roof and tried to jump across to nearby buildings but fell to the ground.

Witnesses said the building became "an inferno with trapped men and women screaming for help from the windows and the roof."

Police said the department store occupying the lower floors of the building was closed and there was only one emergency exit from the top floor.

The blaze began on the third floor and spread quickly upward, destroying the third, fourth and fifth floors.

About 60 persons were saved, but others were killed or injured when some of the emergency chutes failed to work. Some were smothered inside.

Demonstrators Release Ship

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Eleven antiwar demonstrators gave up the ship Saturday morning, 24 hours after they seized the decommissioned Navy minesweeper USS Inaugural on the levee.

They said they wanted to take it to North Vietnam to clear away mines placed in the harbors by the United States. But the idea was too costly and time-consuming so the demonstrators, in their 20s, left the tourist attraction after spending one night aboard.

Reports Tool Theft

LeRoy Weller, 1310 South Missouri, reported to police Saturday at 8 a.m. an estimated $400 in tools and a McCullough chain saw had been taken from the cab of his pick-up truck sometime after 10 p.m. Friday while it was parked at the above address.

Tragedy

for traffic. Also eastbound, a 1966 Pontiac driven by Clarence R. Bartlett, 70, Merged, Calif., collided with the rear end of the Lilly auto, sending it into the westbound lane where it collided with a 1970 Ford driven by Seth Allen Wagenknecht, 16, 907 South Lamine.

Seven people were admitted to Bothwell Hospital as a result of the accident. Wagenknecht was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday as were Mrs. John Wagenknecht, 41, and Drew Wagenknecht, 3. The Wagenknecht boy had been reported in serious condition Friday night with possible head injuries.

Lilly, who was released Saturday afternoon, had been admitted Friday with lacerations, however, his wife Frances, 60, remained in Bothwell Hospital with a fractured arm and possible abdominal injuries. Other passengers in the Wagenknecht vehicle admitted to Bothwell Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joe Geoshen, 77 and 73 respectively, 1118 West Broadway. Both were listed in satisfactory condition.

At 4:28 p.m. Vicki Lynn Collier, 13, 819 East 10th, riding a bicycle, was struck by a 1971 Volkswagen driven south on Lamine near Seventh by Beth L. Saw, 19, 719 West Fourth.

According to police, the Collier girl reported her brakes failed as she was headed west out of an alley between Seventh and Broadway. The Shaw woman told police she tried to stop, but could not avoid the collision.

Miss Collier girl was treated and released from Bothwell Hospital.

The Reno youth was born at Sedalia on Aug. 31, 1966. His mother is the former Sharon Smith.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two half-brothers, Willis Harris and Bill Harris, two half-sisters, Jackie Harris and Chrissie Harris, all of the home; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Susie Fay Reno, Windsor.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home where funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday with the Rev. Flay Campbell, pastor of the Church of God, officiating.

Mrs. Larry Flaughter, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Waters at the organ.

Pallbearers will be Charles M. Smith, Paul B. Smith, Donald E. Smith, Kenneth Wayne Smith and William D. Miller.

Burial will be in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

Services At 8 P.M.

Sunday evening services for the Dresden Baptist Church will be at 8 p.m. instead of 7 p.m., as reported earlier, according to the Rev. Claude Newman, pastor.

of sporadic fighting during the past week. Saigon spokesmen said 137 enemy were killed in that area with the support of air strikes and artillery. South Vietnamese casualties were listed as four men killed and four wounded.

On the northern front, Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported that the South Vietnamese forces planted their country's flag at each point they regained from the North Vietnamese.

Involved were about 1,500 South Vietnamese marines from three battalions who had been holding the defense line to the north of the old capital of Hue.

Two-thirds of them were lifted by 19 U.S. Marines helicopters into areas around the district town of Hai Lang, 25 miles north of Hue. The South Vietnamese reoccupied the town at noon and began consolidating their positions. The town had been battered by air strikes and artillery.

Vandalism Reported To Police

Vandals broke into the Epworth United Methodist Church, shot out windshields on two autos and damaged the rear storm door of the Nu-Way Cafe in separate incidents Friday and Saturday.

Moses C. Cairer, 78, 515 West Sixth, told police someone shot holes in the rear window of his car while it was parked in front of his home sometime Thursday or Friday. No estimate of damage was reported.

The Rev. Eugene Trice of Epworth United Methodist Church, Broadway and Engineer, reported a break-in and vandalism at the church Friday night.

The vandals, thought to be juveniles because of the size of the window through which entry was gained, also tore a clock from the wall and damaged it, knocked over flowers, broke out tubes in the public address system, wrote obscenities on the pulpit, scattered books and papers on the floors of the building, and took a microphone.

Jack Newby, owner of the Nu-Way Cafe, 916 South Limit, reported that a car drove into the back door of the restaurant at 2:40 a.m. Saturday, causing an estimated $70 damage to the storm door. The car then left the scene.

Carl E. Jensen, 705 South Park, told police the right door glass of his 1971 Chevrolet pick-up had been shot out with a BB gun at 4:45 p.m. Saturday while he was operating it in a northerly direction in the 100 block of South Grand. Police had been called to the same location about 30 minutes earlier on another complaint of youths shooting an air gun, but were unable to locate them.

NAACP Meeting Set For Tuesday

Completion of plans for a rally and program to be held May 28 and a report on a leadership conference held in Denver, Colo., recently will be the main topics of discussion at a meeting of the Pettis County Branch of the NAACP at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Taylor Chapel United Methodist Church, 400 North Lamine.

Mrs. Helen Kyle Fields, president, will preside.

for older Sedalians to pay the levy increase, but I want it to pass because I think kindergarten is so important for the youngsters."

"I'm really concerned about the school system's accreditation too," Mrs. Wells continued, "because if we lose that it might hurt the older students," she continued. "I think it would be terrible for a town the size of Sedalia not to have an accredited school."

Mrs. Dale Yelton, 111 East Broadway, has enrolled her daughter Kelly in kindergarten at Mark Twain because "I don't want to pay the fees for a private school." She also said she felt public kindergarten teachers would be more qualified to enable her daughter to get the best possible advantage from the experience.

"I don't think the levy is that bad," she offered. "We've lived in both Columbia and Raytown and the levies were much higher there but so was the quality of the schools," Mrs. Yelton said. "As far as we're concerned this school system ranks bottom dollar and I think that's terrible in this day and age."

"What's the matter with this community?" she asked. "We've had young friends of ours tell us that if the community can't work together and back something like this they don't want to stay here any longer."

A TRIBUTE TO MOM

"God could not be everywhere, so he made Mothers," is an old proverb that so very well expresses the thought of Mother's Day. For, to us, Mother is exemplified by that certain look on a woman's face when she comes into our pharmacy to have a prescription filled for her sick child.

When we fill these prescriptions, there is always one extra ingredient that goes into the medicine container—our prayer for a speedy recovery and the hope that the next time Mom comes in the look of anxiety will be replaced by a smile.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine and we will gladly deliver it without charge. If you prefer, you may pick it up at our drive up window. We keep accurate records for tax and insurance purposes. We carefully fill welfare prescriptions and deliver or mail free of charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. Question

My job requires me to travel extensively by commercial airline. I have often wondered what settlement my wife would receive if something happened to me?

Answer

Only one phase ot a settlement resulting from an aircraft fatality would involve a mortuary. If the fatality occured while you were traveling as a part of your job responsibility you would be covered by a Workmens Compensation Funeral Allowance and a lump sum Social Security Funeral Benefit. Application for these benefits in your wife's name would be our responsibility.

Originally the Warsaw Convention fixed a liability limit of $8300 on international flights. The terms of the treaty were amended recently, however, and now the limit is $75,000 on most flights in and out of the country. There is no liability limit on domestic flights. Your wife may sue the airline for any amount and if the airline is proven to be at fault the amount she may recover is set by the trial court.

Warnings From Big Business

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Big business is advising the Nixon administration to start pulling the brakes on government spending and easy credit to avoid a possible resurgence of inflation in 1973.

Members of the Business Council, attending their spring meeting with administration officials, were cheered by predictions of a strong and broadly based business expansion well into next year. But R.V. Hansberger, chairman of the council's committee on the domestic economy warned that inflation may revive a few months from now.

"We should start building some restraints pretty darn soon," Hansberger told reporters.

The industrialist said that the council's advisory panel of 20 business economists—which sent a report to the session Friday suggesting that the speed-up of inflation will take place later this year and in 1973—is especially concerned over the prospective growing federal deficit in the second half of this year.

This prospect, combined with the present policy of holding down interest rates to encourage business borrowing, may cause a buildup of pressure against the Phase II controls, Hansberger said.

The administration's economic planning has gone awry in several respects. It had scheduled heavy deficit spending in the first half of this year as a deliberate economic tonic, to be followed by a cutback in the second half of the year. The government has been unable to spend as much money as it had anticipated, and had unintentionally collected billions of dollars in taxes more than predicted because of the steep new schedules of tax withholding.

The result apparently will be that much of the spending stimulus that was designed for this spring will be postponed to the second half of this year, and will be reinforced in early 1973 by extra large tax refunds.

Hansberger said council members generally agreed with the professional economists that policies of the Price Commission have caused uncertainty and need clarification and continuity.

The council's closed sessions ended Saturday. Chairman Herbert Stein of the Council of Economic Advisers and Secretary of State William P. Rogers were among the scheduled speakers.

Surprised?

A youth who grows a pepper plant as this youngster did may be surprised to find it gets as big as little bananas — that's why it gets the name "banana peppers." Congress, in an unusual action, adopted a resolution urging all Americans who can do so to plant vegetable gardens this summer "for the purpose of fighting inflation, saving money, getting exercise and having the fun and pleasure of family vegetable grown." Suit to End War Is Filed By Two Men

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ecologist Barry Commoner and Teamsters Union official Harold Gibbons have filed suit against the federal government demanding an end to the war in Vietnam.

The suit filed in U.S. District Court Friday contends President Richard M. Nixon has refused to stop the war as ordered by Congress.

It asks for an injunction to stop Nixon from refusing to set a definite date for U.S. withdrawal. The suit also asks to stop the refusal to negotiate in good faith with the North Vietnamese.

Commoner and Gibbons were joined in the suit by physics professor Dan Bolef of Washington University, Army Sgt. Sanford J. Berger of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. and the Vietnam Veterans Against the War.

The federal government has 60 days to reply to the court action.

Commoner has received national attention for his work with the environment at Washington U. Gibbons is president of Teamsters Joint Council 13. He and two other labor leaders made a recent inspection trip of North Vietnam.

Love Bugs Invading Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A host of love bugs, tiny black critters that fly in tandem, have inundated central Florida again this spring and an insect specialist says their vast numbers may be because birds and other animals don't find them very tasty.

Even the voracious and seemingly omnivorous dragon fly rejects the love bugs, says Dr. Lawrence A. Hetrick, an entomologist with the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences in Gainesville.

"If they were present in normal numbers, the public would not be aware of them," Hetrick said. "Except for their growing population, they would be confined to wooded areas."

Love Bugs, who get their name because they fly in mated pairs, swarm in large numbers along the highways about four weeks each spring and fall. They quickly coat the windshields and grills of automobiles.

Predators limit the population of most species, Hetrick said, but most apparently don't like the taste of love bugs.

"I've seen birds ignore the adults and I've seen dragon flies catch them, then drop them," said Hetrick, who has studied love bugs as a sideline since 1935. "There must be something very disagreeable about the taste."

Find No Evidence Of Cancer Cause

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An international authority on women's diseases says clinical evidence that oral contraceptives cause cancer in women is "nonexistent."

Prof. Hans-Ludwig Kottmeier of the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm said Friday that there is still no good evidence to link birth control pills with cancer of the breast, cerix and uterus.

Kottmeier was attending the 25th annual meeting of the Kentucky Obstetrical and Gynecological Society which ended Saturday.

Uncanny Deception Shown By Soldiers

By LYNN NEWLAND
Associated Press Writer

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese soldiers are masters of deception in moving guns, trucks and themselves across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam despite U.S. bombing.

"They have an ability that is almost uncanny to melt into the jungle," said Lt. Col. John P. O'Gorman, commander of the 421st Tactical Fighter Squadron.

"When they want to, they're real good at hiding anything they want to," 1st Lt. Mike Jewel added.

Both O'Gorman and Jewel expressed grudging admiration for the talent of the North Vietnamese in infiltrating troops and supplies into the South.

O'Gorman, 43, an F4 fighter-bomber pilot from St. Louis, Mo., flies his Phantom jet several thousand feet above the light observation propeller plane operated at 7,000 feet by Jewel, a 23-year-old from Yorktown, Va.

O'Gorman sees only general patterns on the ground below, while from his slower aircraft Jewel can pick out the green pack on the back of a North Vietnamese soldier.

"I see them now in groups of 10, while a month ago they were traveling in groups of 50 to 100," Jewel said in describing the clusters of North Vietnamese troops.

Soon after Quang Tri City fell on May 1, Jewel said, many North Vietnamese soldiers moved south with refugees down Highway 1, the main north-south link between that city and Hue.

"I can always tell the real refugees from the soldiers. When the civilians see a plane, they run and hide while the soldiers just stare up in our direction."

Both pilots agreed that North Vietnamese activity south of the DMZ had tapered off in the past weeks.

"A month ago, it was so hot that we observation pilots couldn't fly into a lot of areas," Jewel said.

O'Gorman, recounting a trip he made over the area two days ago, said: "I didn't see a wiggle or a hair. My impression is that they are holding down their obvious activities such as firing SAMS (surface-to-air missiles) until their attack on Hue."

Two Men Hurt When Plane Crash Lands

FLORISSANT, Mo. (AP) — Two brothers from Cincinnati, Ohio, were critically injured Friday when their single-engine Bonanza plane lost its propeller, flew into a power line and crashed in a field northwest of St. Louis.

Witnesses said the plane passed 10 feet over a house before it crashed in flames.

Dr. Cornelius Lottman, 49, a dentist, was severely burned. He was reported in critical condition at St. John's Mercy Hospital.

His brother Carl Lottman, 52, suffered a broken jaw and internal injuries. His condition was listed as serious at Christian Hospital Northwest.

An official at Lambert International Airport said the plane reported propeller trouble shortly before the crash, about 4 p.m. (CDT). The craft then disappeared from airport radar, he said.

The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating the crash.

Tax Charges Net Woman Fine, Prison

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A DeSoto, Mo., woman was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $15,000 in U.S. District Court Friday on income tax charges.

Judge John K. Regan imposed the sentence on Isabelle Walters, 50. She was sentenced under regulations which will permit a review of the sentence after 90 days.

Mrs. Walters was charged with evasion of income taxes totaling more than $14,000 and filing false tax returns for the period 1965-68.

Evangelical Magazines Prosperous

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — While religious periodicals generally are in a slump, the personally oriented, evangelistic magazines are thriving as never before.

"They're riding a groundswell of conservative religious feeling in this country," says Norm Rohrer, of La Canada, Calif., executive secretary of the Evangelistic Press Association.

They're also sharpening their style, both in appearance and content, to compete for the attention of modern readers.

"The key to our success is professionalism," Gary D. Foster, business manager of Moody Monthly, told the association's annual meeting here last week.

Signs of the brighter, catchier approach was in abundant evidence in the publications on display here.

"The Couples Game, a 19-page section on sex without hangups," read a caption, alongside a sparkling-eyed girl, on the multicolored front cover of Campus Life, put out by Youth for Christ International.

Its senior editor, Dean Merrill, of Wheaton, Ill., said religious magazines for youth today must compete with such secular organs as Playboy, Mad and Seventeen in "the battle of the coffee table and night stand."

"For too long, we've pretended religion was in a separate league with no one else around and that people would be interested whether or not we looked good or read good," he said. "Baloney! Religion has no captive audience. Unless we've got a product that grabs interest, we're wasting our time."

In the last year, circulation of Campus Life has jumped from 60,000 to 105,000, mostly among teen-agers. Accounts of similar boom growth came from numerous others.

Over-all, the Evangelistic Press Association includes 204 periodicals, whose circulation has grown more than a million in the past year to about 11.5 million.

Most of the more liberal religious journals and those of the larger mainline denominations, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, have suffered circulation drops in the last few years.

"It's the conservative, evangelical publications that are going strong and whose sales are gaining," said Leslie H. Stobbe, of Chicago, head of the Moody Press book division.

"People are fed up with uncertainty," he added. "They want publications that say, 'Thus saith the Lord.' And conservatives are saying it."

PUMAS MUST EAT

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Market trader Brian Munns was released from prison on bail to relieve police of the chore of feeding his pet pumas. Magistrates decided the cats were too fierce for the cops.

Address Students

Pamela Jean McIntyre, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McIntyre, and Robert E. Paul, right, son of Mrs. Clyde Paul and the late Clyde Paul, all of Otterville, were named salutatorian and valedictorian of their senior class at the Otterville High School. Miss McIntyre, co-editor of the school newspaper, plans to attend State Fair Community College and major in secretarial science. Paul plans to attend the University of Missouri, Columbia, this summer, majoring in pre-pharmacy.

Fred Davis To Address Graduates

Fred E. Davis

(Democrat-Capital Service)

OTTERVILLE — Fred E. Davis, president of State Fair Community College in Sedalia, will be the featured speaker at commencement exercises at Otterville High School at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Davis, a graduate of DeKalb High School, holds BS and MS degrees from Northwest Missouri State College. He will speak to 25 graduating seniors and their instructors.

Davis has been a teacher, principal and superintendent of schools and was assistant director of teacher education and certification and the director of Junior College Education in Missouri before assuming his duties in Sedalia.

Baccalaureate services here will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday, with the Rev. Warren Haley giving the benediction and the Rev. John Treece delivering the main address.

Then, on Thursday, Glen Young will present the student diplomas and Larry Hagedorn will award scholarships. Pam McIntye will give the salutatory address and Robert Paul is valedictorian.

Sportswriter Is Given Scholarship

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Irvin Muchnick of Creve Coeur, Mo., is the winner of a scholarship to Vanderbilt University as the most promising sportswriter among high school students ready to enter college.

Muchnick, a senior at Parkway Central High School and a free-lance sports writer, received the Thoroughbred Racing Association-Grantland Rice Scholarship.

Senators Defeat Shuttle Kill Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has defeated an attempt to kill the reusable space-shuttle program and has passed a $3.42 billion authorization bill for the space agency.

By a 61-to-21 vote Thursday, the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., to remove $227.9 million in shuttle development money from the space-agency measure.

Then, the Senate passed by voice vote the authorization bill for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The authorization measure provides for the final lunar landing and other space projects.

Mondale contended the space shuttle project was likely to prove of little scientific merit with few of the cost-saving benefits claimed for it by NASA.

The space shuttle is to carry men and supplies between Earth and orbiting space platforms. Rather than plunge into the ocean, it would land and be used again.

Paralyzed Man Flies Own Plane

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — John Coughlin can't walk, so he flies.

Coughlin, 38, has spent 20 years in a wheelchair. A Jeep accident during the Korean War left him a paraplegic. But his chest, arms and shoulders are strong; so is his spirit.

He tools his wheelchair out to his small single-engine aircoupe, tosses his legs onto the wing and hoists himself into the cockpit.

Now, after two weeks of training and nearly three years after receiving his private pilot's license, he is qualified to take to the skies when he can't even see them—he has his instrument rating.

"To a flier, that's the difference between being an amateur and a professional," Coughlin said.

He said he knew of only one other instrument-rated pilot who was paralyzed "and he was a military pilot before his injury and all he had to do was relearn.

"There are four or five others who fly, but just for their own pleasure," he said, adding he planned to reopen a charter boat business and do his own fish spotting from the air.

After he was injured, Coughlin and his wife Pat started running a charter boat. An essential part of his service was a plane used to spot large manta rays and schools of fish that feed near them.

"This gave me the idea to try flying," he said, and he soon bought the plane that takes him above his Florida Keys home on Marathon.

The aircraft is steered by a wheel instead of by rudder pedals common to most small airplanes. Coughlin stops it with a hand brake.

"I never dreamed I would be able to do anything like this," he said. "It's something I can do, and do well. You don't have to ask me if I enjoy it."

Bodies Recovered From Ditch in KC

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Police recovered the bodies of two boys Friday from a rain-filled ditch at a construction site here.

The victims were identified as Walter Earl Zewalk, 8, and Raymond Hayes, 9, both of Kansas City, Kan.

Construction workers told police they had seen boys playing near the flooded ditch and had chased them away from the area.

Later, they said, they found clothing piled on the bank of the ditch.

Firemen then found the bodies lying close together in about 10 feet of water.

Navy Seaman Apprentice Michael E. Zahringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Zahringer, 615 East 10th, has returned to Newport, R.I., aboard the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid, following a six-week cruise to Portugal and Spain.

The Intrepid took part in training exercises with the Portuguese and Spanish navies, and visited the ports of Sevilla, Costa del Sol and Lisbon.

George W. Bartlett, 19, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin N. Bartlett, live at 312 North Stewart, recently was promoted to Army private first class while serving with the 3rd Armored Division near Friedberg, Germany.

A tank loader in Company B, 1st Battalion of the Division's 32nd Armor, Pvt. Bartlett entered the Army last May, completed basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., and was stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., prior to his arrival in Germany in January this year.

Army Specialist Four Gary E. Kidwell, 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Wolfe, live on Route 1, Green Ridge, recently completed ten days of "adventure training" in Texas with other members of the 82nd Airborne Division's Company B, 1st Battalion, 505th Infantry.

Regularly stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., paratroopers of the company began their desert training with a parachute assault into west Texas.

During the exercise, the troopers procured their water from natural sources in the desert while food was resupplied by air drop.

A radio-telephone operator in the company, Spec. Kidwell entered the Army in February, 1971, completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, and was last stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Ryan Blasts Administration

(Democrat-Capital Service)

RICHLAND — John Ryan, Route 3, Sedalia, candidate for the new 21st Senatorial district, in a speech here Saturday night accused the Hearnes Administration of losing the state's surplus funds and said Missourians are now "paying almost twice as much to operate state government" as they did before Gov. Warren Hearnes took office.

"The present state administration thinks first of raising taxes and never does get around to the question of cutting expenses," he said. "To my way of thinking, the state government is a business and it should be operated in a business-like manner," Ryan added.

"When this administration took office, there was a rather large surplus in the state account. Today that surprise has not only vanished, but we are paying almost twice as much to operate state government as we were then," he claimed.

Ryan said the Department of Revenue was a case in point, adding that the department had invested "large sums of money" to purchase a computer in order to reduce the amount of clerical work done. He said he doubted that the computer had caused any reduction in the department's staff.

Ryan also concentrated on two other topics — environmental pollution and what he termed "political pollution."

In the latter case, he said, "I would have hoped that we would have learned by now that you cannot legislate the solution to every problem." He urged that some of the "basic powers and responsibilities" be returned to the people "and they will find their own solution."

Concerning environmental pollution, he said, "We have throughout this area of the state one of the most beautiful and picturesque areas in our whole country. We must protect that beauty."

The new senatorial district includes Benton, Cooper, Miller, Morgan, Pettis and Pulaski Counties.

Bodies Discovered In Mining Mishap

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The bodies of another six miners killed when Consolidation Coal Co.'s No. 9 coal mine was ripped by fire and explosions 42 months ago have been recovered.

Five were found Thursday morning and the sixth was discovered some 600 feet away Thursday night.

Seventy-eight men were lost in the disaster.

The recoveries bring to 22 the number found since crews began working in the mine 34 months ago.

MISSOURI BEAUTY SCHOOL OWNER TEACHES MEN'S HAIR STYLES

Men's hair styles are changing with the times. At one time in history crew cuts and flat tops were the "in" thing, but today men prefer their hair longer; and with this new era there has also been a change in the conventional idea of men's hairstyles by barbers only. One unconventional training facility is located in the Central Missouri College of Cosmetology. The school owner, PEG'ee Hewitt Homan, teaches all students who are interested the art of men's hair styles. Miss PEG'ee, a licensed cosmetology instructor, holds a BS in education from Central Missouri State College. She is a member of the Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians of America, National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, and a board member of the Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools.

Miss PEG'ee began teaching men's hair styling when she entered CMSC in 1966. Longer hair was beginning to be in vogue on campus. It wasn't until 1970 that she decided to call the new department the Captain's Chair. This changed the image from an all women's establishment to a unisex facility. The name and idea were so intriguing that it brought professors from the campus and business men into the school as patrons. The school developed such a thriving following that the idea has been expanded to another school owned by Miss PEG'ee. A Captain's Chair training center was opened in the Hannibal Beauty School. The theme goes well with the historical name of Becky Thatcher Beauty Academy in Hannibal. "These men's hair styling departments," Miss PEG'ee says, "are in no way competition for the barbers. They are training centers for progressive students." If a student wishes to train in the art of men's hair styling they may, but this is not a prerequisite for graduating. Students also have the opportunity to give color and perm waves to male patrons; as well as to style afros and naturals. CMCC was the first cosmetology school in the state of Missouri to offer these subjects to students.

New classes start at CMCC June 6. Call 747-6183 for further info.

FBI First

Moving quickly to give the FBI a new look, acting Director L. Patrick Gray III overturned J. Edgar Hoover's long-standing refusal to hire women as special FBI agents. Gray said women could apply immediately to become the Bureau's first special agents in history. Here, Mrs. Cynthia Edgar, 25, one of two women lawyers who sued Hoover last year when he rejected their applications, said she hoped to get an application in the mail shortly. Mrs. Edgar, 5-foot-7 and 120 pounds, is now an attorney for the General Counsel's Office of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. (UPI)

Think Many Women Will File For Jobs

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two women who filed suit against the late J. Edgar Hoover believe many women will take advantage of the bureau's new policy and try to become FBI agents.

Sandra Rothenberg Nemser and Cynthia Gitt, two lawyers, say they will resubmit applications to become agents as soon as they can.

"I would say hundreds, if not thousands, will do the same," said Ms. Nemser, a 29-year-old Denver poverty lawyer married to a physician. "I'm glad the FBI will now follow the federal law."

Ms. Cynthia Gitt, a 25-year-old attorney for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, also said there would be many women applying to become FBI agents.

"After we filed our suit last summer, I received several letters from women who were denied the opportunity," she said.

L. Patrick Gray III, acting FBI director, announced Friday that the FBI was changing its male-only policy and would seek female applicants for the first time in history.

Hoover vehemently opposed hiring women for the crime investigating jobs because he said the work was too dangerous.

Ms. Nemser and Gitt said they were never permitted to apply to become special agents because the FBI refused to send them application forms. In answer to their queries, they said, they received letters saying the work was too dangerous.

The American Civil Liberties Union, representing the two women, filed suit in U.S. District Court last June seeking to have Hoover's male-only policy declared unconstitutional.

Gray said in his announcement that existing requirements for the special agent position will remain unchanged, including the intensive 14-week training course.

It also contains a physical fitness program, requires the special agent applicant to become proficient in defensive tactics, and be at least 5 feet 7 inches tall.

Applicants also must be graduates of law school or accounting majors in college who have had one year of experience in their profession, although in recent years there have been exceptions.

Company Ordered To Stop Discharges

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The American Smelting and Refining Co. has been ordered to stop discharging dangerous levels of heavy metals into the atmosphere and will be required to bear all medical expenses of local children being treated for high levels of metal in their blood.

Judge C.R. Schulte on Thursday also instructed the firm to pay $100,000 in penalties and court costs and to implement some $750,000 worth of pollution control improvements.

The judge's ruling wound up three months of court proceedings on a suit brought against the firm by the city of El Paso and the Texas attorney general.

The firm also was required to finance the medical examinations of affected children for 30 months.

Testimony during court proceedings revealed that numerous children tested by authorities have been contaminated in some degree by lead from the smelter.

Jesus Movement Hits New York

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Signs of the Jesus movement are bobbing up increasingly among students here in the big town.

"Perhaps something is really happening," says the Rev. Albert R. Ahlstrom, Lutheran campus pastor at Columbia University. But considering the scene's vast diversity and numbers, he adds, "I'm not sure it is."

Latest flurry of Jesus activity came the past two weekends at the Columbia campus with a series of concerts, a "go tell every" festival, discussions, speeches and celebrations focused on Jesus.

"We have no illusions of a mass turning to Jesus," says Leslie Newton, a Columbia medical student. "But the Lord's spirit is working."

Off campus, similar symptoms picked up momentum among the young.

For one thing, New York City last month got its first underground Jesus paper, called "Credence."

For its initial two issues, sold on campuses, in coffee houses and on Greenwich Village streets, managing editor Dennis A. Miller said circulation rose from 6,000 to 15,000.

Its aim, he says, is to "plug a gap in the ministry to the 500,000 college and university students here."

One group of Jesus people recently decided to concentrate on 42nd Street, with its profusion of "skin-flick" movie houses and stores selling erotic magazines.

"One way, Jesus way!" the group called out, strolling the sidewalks in front. "Love of Jesus, not lust of man!" They entered one shop, but were brusquely ushered back out.

"It remains to be seen," commented one youth, "whether Jesus can overthrow the pornographic edifice."

The more diversified approach, however, marked the recent "Jesus week" at Columbia, where students gathered for music, talk and other events.

"Some students are obviously turning to Jesus as something new, a sort of 'do-it-yourself Jesus kit,' making Jesus a folk hero," says the Rev. Abigail Evans, a woman minister who helped lead the Columbia activities.

"Others are turning to the charismatic Christ who can truly change lives.

Bombings Net Prison Terms

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice has sentenced two Longview, Tex., men to federal prison terms in connection with the 1970 bombing of 36 school buses owned by the Longview Independent School District.

Sentenced to 10 years in federal penitentiary was Fred Loyd Hayes. Kenneth Ray McMaster was assessed an eight-year term for the July 4 bombing.

The original sentencing for the two men was for 11 years each, plus fines of $11,000.

But at that time the judge chose to assess the maximum penalty because he had decided to send both defendants to Springfield, Mo., to undergo psychiatric examinations.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Dale Long said that Justice had to assess the maximum sentences until after the psychiatric examinations had been completed and when resentencing could be accomplished. Hayes received 10 years on one count of the indictment and one year for a second count of the true bill. But Justice chose to have Hayes serve both sentences concurrently.

McMaster was assessed eight years on one count and one year on the second count, also to be served concurrently.

Both men have exhausted their appeal rights in the case and are in federal custody.

Republican Might Work For Democrat

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Donald R. Dwight, a Republican, will soon find himself working for a Democrat.

Dwight and Mrs. Dwight volunteered their services in a fund raising campaign for METCO, a voluntary busing program to integrate inner city schools.

Volunteers were "auctioned," and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Dwight were sold as a bartender-waitress team for a cocktail party to John C. Dyer, Democratic town committee chairman in Wayland.

Probation Granted Two Accused Men

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two Maryville, Mo., men have been placed on probation by U.S. Magistrate Calvin K. Hamilton.

David Eugene Dredge, 21, and Stephen Douglas Smith, 23, pleaded guilty Friday to stealing less than $100 from a bank. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Dredge and Smith were accused of taking $62.50 after breaking a front door glass at the Nodaway Valley Bank in Maryville April 6.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Doris Day is being sued by her son, Terry Melcher, who wants to find out his mother's earnings since 1955.

The probate action filed Friday centers on a contract between Miss Day and her late husband, Martin Melcher, who also was her agent and was to receive 25 per cent of her salary.

He died in 1968.

The younger Melcher is executor of his father's estate.

The suit, described by Melcher's attorney as a "friendly action," asks 25 per cent of Miss Day's earnings from 1955 until Melcher's death and 12½ per cent of the gross since then to be turned over to the estate.

NEW YORK (AP) — Television personality Dick Cavett and Metropolitan Museum of Art Director Thomas Hoving have urged the government not to deport Beatle John Lennon and his wife, Yoko Ono.

Hoving testified at a deportation hearing Friday about Lennon. "If he were a painter he would be hanging in the Metropolitan Museum, benevolently on the wall."

The government is seeking to deport the Lennons on grounds that he was convicted of marijuana possession in England. The hearing was adjourned to Wednesday.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton and his bodyguard have pleaded innocent to misdemeanor charges in the beating of a disc jockey in an Oakland bar.

Newton and Robert L. Bay were ordered Friday to appear in court May 26 for setting a trial date.

The two were arrested April 27 on battery complaints filed by Alonzo Miller, 29, who uses the name Marlon Scott. He alleged that Newton and Bay attacked him without provocation.

Delegate Lawsuit Is Filed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A suit challenging the constitutionality of the manner in which Democratic meetings were conducted April 18 in five Kansas City wards and one township in Jackson County has been filed in U.S. District Court here.

The petition filed Thursday by Irving Achtenberg, a civil rights attorney, was on behalf of nine Kansas City Democrats. The suit asks the meetings be declared null and void because the plaintiffs and other Democratic voters were denied due process and equal protection under law.

The meetings cited in the suit were in the 5th, 13th, 16th, 19th, and 23rd wards in Kansas City and the Sni-A-Bar Township in Jackson County.

Named as defendants were Bruce Watkins, chairman of the Jackson County Democratic Committee, Lawrence Damiano, chairman of the 5th Congressional District, and Sidney N. Davis, Knob Noster, chairman of the 4th district.

The petition asked that Damiano and Davis be enjoined from holding 4th and 5th district caucuses scheduled May 23 until proper legal ward meetings have been called in the disputed wards.

The petition was filed three days after Delton Houtchens, executive committee chairman of the state Democratic committee, denied 14 formal appeals from ward and township meetings to select delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Achtenberg, a supporter of Sen. George McGovern, said the irregularities alleged in the petition were by supporters of uncommitted delegates to the convention.

Company Still Gets Guarantee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration continues to guarantee GI home loans for a New York mortgage company that was indicted for fraud and barred from Federal Housing Administration programs six weeks ago.

Pending completion of a VA investigation of the firm, low-downpayment mortgages guaranteed by the VA are available to Eastern Service Corp., Hempstead, N.Y., said Edward A. Echols, director of the VA loan guarantee service.

Eastern was indicted by a federal grant jury March 29 in an alleged multimillion-dollar, New York City housing fraud scheme. The company and its top officers were charged with submitting false credit reports to the FHA that allegedly enabled speculators to sell low-income families decrepit, overpriced houses they couldn't afford to maintain.

FHA's subsequent debarment of Eastern as an approved lender did not automatically apply to the government's companion mortgage program for veterans, Echols said, because the VA does not approve mortgage companies, only the applications they submit.

But the VA would have stopped doing business with Eastern if the FHA's disciplinary action had been suspension rather than debarment, Echols said. He conceded there was no substantive difference between the two penalties. Each removes mortgage companies from participation in FHA programs.

"We are examining all of the cases Eastern submitted to us in recent years," Echols said in an interview. "The results of this investigation are not in and there is no basis for suspension from the program."

The FHA and VA programs are virtually identical in providing low-downpayment, government-backed mortgages, except one is for veterans only.

Used Cars Could Mean Saving

By PETER WEAVER

In the market for a car this spring?

If you take care, buying a used car is a good way to chop as much as one-half off your annual ownership costs.

That old devil "depreciation" is your biggest single cost of automobile ownership. When you buy a used car, you automatically knock down much of the depreciation cost. For example, if you buy a new car for $4,000, it will depreciate to around $1,500 in three years.

Let's say you buy the same car "used" when it's 2 years old for $2,000 and sell it after three years for $1,000. This gives a total depreciation cost of $1,000 for an annual depreciation charge of $333 compared with $833 if you had purchased a new car.

There are two completely different ways of buying a used car. The one you choose depends on your personal needs.

Plan one is to buy a two-year-old car and trade it in for another one after three years (or, when the mileage is just under 55,000). This way you get a dependable, fairly up-to-date car and avoid heavy depreciation costs.

You can buy a two-year-old car from a new car dealer with a good reputation. If you can buy one of his customers' trade-ins, he can give you the previous owner's name (for checking) and can often show you the car's service record.

Another good place to buy is from a leasing company. Such a company, according to Tony D'Lauro, group vice president, Rollins International (a major leaser), can sell you a two-year-old car for around $200 less than a dealer's price. You should ask to see the car's entire service record.

Don't buy a car that's been used for daily rental or one that's been used by a number of different drivers such as traveling salesmen.

Now for Plan two. If you really don't care about a car's looks and just want good, cheap transportation, buy a car that is seven or eight years old. You won't find these on a new car dealer's lot. You have to look for private sellers in newspaper ads.

You should be able to get a serviceable seven-year or eight-year-old car for around $300 to $500. Get one that's medium-size and isn't loaded with complicated extras such as power steering, brakes, windows and the like. A simple four-door sedan is your best bet.

John Barker, manager, Florida Aircraft Federal Credit Union, has come up with some comparative operating costs. Using depreciation, maintenance and repair figures, he found that it costs from $25 to $30 a month to own a seven-year or eight-year old car compared with $65 to $70 to own a new car.

According to Pat Goss, a garage owner who conducts consumer automotive classes, "You have to thoroughly check any used car you buy." He suggests paying a reputable mechanic $10 to $20 to go over the car before you buy for such things as: transmission trouble, brakes, wreck signs and severe rust.

Aside from garage testing, your prospective car should be thoroughly road tested in traffic and at freeway speeds. Does the clutch slip? Do the brakes pull? Is there a shimmy? Is there transmission noise or exhaust smoke?

You should avoid "muscle cars" (souped-up engines), pickup trucks and vans that have been used commercially and foreign cars with the exception of older Volkswagen Beetles. It's hard getting parts for older foreign cars.

To get a line on current retail and wholesale prices, look through the National Automobile Dealer Association's "Used Car Guide." Some dealers will show it to you. So will most credit union and bank loan officers.

Experts claim most used car warranties aren't worth much. The best is a 30-day, all-inclusive (parts and labor) warranty. You pay more for it but it shows the dealer has some confidence in the car he's selling.

Student Reports

Jane Viets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Viets, 1404 West Fifth, has recently been admitted to the teachers' program at Southwest Missouri State College. Miss Viets is majoring in speech correction.

The admission into the program is based upon the student's academic achievement, recommendations by their college professors, and strong indications of the qualities necessary for achieving excellence in the field of teaching.

Larry W. Dority, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dority, 1719 West 18th Street, was among students at Drury College, Springfield, who were honored at the annual honors dinner held recently in the student center.

Larry was recipient of the Breech Award presented by the Breech School of Business Administration. He received the Industrial and Human Relations Award.

William Jewell College, Liberty, saluted top students May 4 during an awards convocation in Gano Hall with Dr. Bruce Thomson, dean of the college, presiding.

Among those recognized for achievements during the school year from Sedalia are Nick Fowler, 1321 State Fair Blvd., who received the John E. Davis-Sigma Pi Sigma award and the National Science Foundation Undergraduate Research Grant; and Rebecca Speaker, 408 West 22nd, who received the James Marvin Motley Scholarship of $400.

SWEET SPRINGS — Out of town judges recently selected Wanda Stockman and Dick Vogt, seniors at Sweet Springs R-VII High School, as the 1972 queen and king of the Levrier, the school yearbook.

Wanda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stockman, Sweet Springs, is a member of the student council, Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, National Honor Society and Pep Club president. She was president of her freshman class and treasurer her sophomore year.

Dick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Vogt, Sweet Springs, is vice-president of his senior class and was vice-president his freshman year. He has served on the student council, was president of S Club, and has lettered in basketball and football. He received the Ray Wilson athletic award and the William Randall Athletic Scholarship in 1971.

Vote NO INCREASE on School Levy

The Sedalia Democrat has run a series of articles in connection with the school election coming up May 16th.

They have tried to tell the people that there was something wrong and illegal with the handling of absentee ballots, or the request for ballots. The impression is left that these ballots will be voted "No." At the time the article was written no ballots had been mailed to the people requesting them. It is hard for me to understand how the Democrat knew how people were going to vote.

I didn't like that but it made me and a lot of other people mad when in an editorial they intimate that people, who they assume are opposed to the levy, are trying to buy the election. If they had evidence to that effect they should have taken the matter to court. Why didn't they? The answer is obvious. It wasn't a fact and isn't a fact.

I think all of this was simply a matter of trying to scare people.

Now we have George Thompson making a statement that a negative vote is a vote against children. Nothing is further from the facts and it is simply another effort to stay away from facts. A vote against the levy is just that, and if it represents anything other than disagreement, it is an expression of the people that they are tired of being kidded and misled by people that are supposed to represent them.

As long as children have been brought into the campaign, why didn't everyone that is now so interested, take action when the School Board refused to consolidate a school with the school system, reason that their tax base wasn't high enough, what about those children?

The Democrat in an ad in Thursday, May 11 issue states in part, "The people of Sedalia School District No. 200 were told before they approach the construction of the Junior High School that the building was only a part of the total job, and that an increase would undoubtedly be necessary" etc.

We raised this question prior to the April election. The fact is it was never mentioned in any publicity or ads that appeared, and that's a fact. Why don't they quit trying to kid the taxpayers? If any public statement was ever made or presented, let's settle this question by giving dates and times.

From a remark made by Mr. Thompson prior to the April election that everyone knows an increase would be needed, it appears to me that the Board knew prior to the Board election that the 15 cents for the bonds wouldn't cover the cost.

During the levy campaign in April, Dr. Norris was quoted as saying the reason was, the money wasn't needed.

However, after the levy failed Dr. Norris was quoted on a report from the North Central Association, saying this was the second report by the association saying more teachers, administrators, etc. were essential or Sedalia would loose its approval. If this is true the money must have been needed which is correct.

The League of Women's Voters discussed various items in connection with the schools with Dr. Norris. One in particular dealt with the surplus money the Board of Education has. It is a matter of record that his reply indicated this money could only be used for teachers' salaries. If additional teachers were needed, why wasn't the money used?

When Sedalia lost its AAA rating, that we had for so many years, it was passed off as being not too important, nice to have etc., now it becomes all important. Why the change?

The above all adds up to me that evidently some people think that everything the Board does is alright, and they must feel "The end justifies the means used." I don't agree.

On the other hand, should anyone appear to come out against or appear to be against the levy, the Democrat intimates they are doing something illegal or are trying to buy the election.

We support the right of the Democrat to take any position on any issue, at any time, and will continue to do so. At the same time I feel, and plenty of others agree with me, that I have the same right. And certainly I don't want the Democrat or anyone else trying to dictate to me what I should do or what others should do, and then intimate we are doing something illegal when we don't agree with them.

In addition to voting on the tax levy, we are voting on whether the man who pays the bill, "The Taxpayer," is entitled to facts, all the facts, all the time. We haven't had them, and in addition some of the information given us at least appears questionable. Certainly we should expect more.

Again, how do you know the Board of Education needs this increase they are asking?

Don't give them a blank check.

Q — Why does Cablevision, Inc., still charge $5.90 a month when they lost the rate increase in court? — R.H.

A — Last March, Circuit Court Judge Frank Meyer ruled that the city, under its franchise agreement with Cablevision, had the right to regulate rates charged by the firm. However, Judge Meyer ruled only on the first of two counts in a petition filed by Cablevision, not the second.

The latter portion of the case involves the actual $1 increase. A final decision on this aspect of the case is not expected before June 15. However, as part of a request by Cablevision for injunctive relief from an ordinance passed by the City Council cancelling the firm's franchise, Judge Meyer in March ruled in favor of CATV, provided the company placed the $1 monthly rate increase in an escrow account.

The account was set up as required, and, depending on Judge Meyer's final ruling, will either go back to the customers or be kept by the firm.

The court has decided the city may regulate the rates charged by Cablevision. The issue to be decided now is whether the additional $1 is reasonable and actually needed by the company.

Q — Why is there a discrepancy in the price of season tickets at the Sedalia swimming pools? Is a season ticket bought at one pool valid at the others? — S.A.H.

A — The Sedalia Park Board, at its last meeting May 2, set uniform season rates for all municipal swimming pools. The board voted to charge $32.50 for a family pass, $17.50 for a single adult pass and $8 for children's passes.

Since the fees are levied for municipal pools, they are valid at each pool, it was reported. In the past, a season ticket purchased at Liberty Park pook was kept there, but this year each season pass-holder will keep the pass himself, according to Jack Couts, superintendent of parks.

Although uniform season pass rates were set by the park board, there is a small difference in daily rates charged at the Liberty Park and Hubbard Park pools. For example, Liberty will charge 70 cents for adults and 35 cents for children, while Hubbard will charge 40 and 20 cents, respectively. The reason for the difference, Couts said, is that the Hubbard facility is much smaller than the one at Liberty Park.

Q — In a recent ad in The Sedalia Democrat the movie "Shaft" was rated "R-DNV" on the first day and "R-DV" the second. Please explain why this happened. — J.C.

A — J. G. Golladay, Sedalia manager for Commonwealth Theaters, told Hot Line the discrepancy was "certainly not intentional." He indicated that the first rating was correct, indicating that questionable dialogue, nudity and violence were depicted in the film. The rating change occurred accidentally either in Golladay's office or while the ad was being composed, he said.

It was also indicated that since the rating arrangement is a new one, it may take a certain amount of time to "iron the bugs out of the system." Golladay said that errors "occasionally occur and I hope people will bear with us."

Q — Recently our phone went out of order in that we could call out but people couldn't call in. The incident occurred at a time when we were expecting an important long distance call in the late evening hours. The phone company maintenance department was called, but said they couldn't repair the problem until in the morning. So my husband, who was on call to go to work in Jefferson City, had to drive down there and sleep in the car in case his company needed to get in touch with him.

I realized overtime would be involved for Southwestern Bell, but this incident cost us nearly $100 in expenses and lost work. Why didn't the phone company save one of its customers such inconvenience and repair the phone that night? — J.A.

A — Robert Johnson, manager of the Sedalia office of Southwestern Bell Telphone Co., told Hot Line that the company regretted the inconvenience caused to you by the incident. He said your request for telephone repair was called to local telephone supervisors who had lines tested from the central office, which indicated no trouble.

Because of this, Johnson continued, telephone company personnel thought the trouble was cleared. However, due to the nature of the problem the test would not show the telephone out of order. Johnson said he regretted that the problem could not be solved immediately and resulted in an inconvenience. He emphasized that the phone company wants to respond whenever a customer has an emergency situation concerning telephone service.

No Delay

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, announced at a news conference that the government has refused to delay auto exhaust clean-up standards for 1975 model cars despite Henry Ford II's warning that the result could be a virtual shutdown of America's largest manufacturing industry. (UPI)

Auto Makers Must Comply With Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has refused to delay enforcement of the government-ordered regulations on auto emission standards for 1975 model year cars. But auto makers have indicated the fight is far from over.

EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus Friday turned down requests by the auto industry for a one-year extension of the requirements of the 1970 Clean Air Amendments.

The amendments require a 90 per cent reduction of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions for 1975 model year cars, compared with the 1970 emission levels. However, Ruckelshaus is permitted to grant a one-year suspension if the auto industry is unable to develop the necessary technology for compliance.

Ruckelshaus said he was unconvinced the five auto companies could not meet the standards, despite their testimony in 2,000 pages of application and 13 days of public hearings.

The EPA decision was immediately criticized as impractical by the auto industry.

Gerald C. Meyers, an American Motors vice president, said, "We stand on what we told the EPA about our position that the technology does not exist. There is not time to develop it for 1975 model production ...."

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler agreed. GM said, "Not even a single experimental car of any manufacturer has been able to pass the 1975 certification tests in accordance with EPA procedure."

Several environmentalists expressed concern over concessions that Ruckelshaus said would be allowed.

Instead of requiring that each automobile off the assembly line meet the individual standards, he said the law would permit averaging of test results to meet the standards.

Ruckelshaus said he also would permit one change of the chemical catalysts used by the antipollution device chosen by auto makers as their first line of defense against pollution.

Barbara Reid, a spokesman for four environmental groups, said permitting a catalyst change instead of requiring a single chemical charge to last the full 50,000 miles of warranty would put the burden of maintenance on the car owners.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., House author of the 1970 law, said the Ruckelshaus decision "fully backed the intent of Congress. This may well be the crucial decision that shows we do intend to clean up our environment."

Dr. Lovinger To Speak At Commencement

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SMITHTON — Dr. Warren C. Lovinger, president of Central Missouri State University, will be the main speaker at the Smithton High School commencement exercises at 8 p.m. May 18.

Before coming to CMS in 1956 as president, Dr. Lovinger was president of Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S.D., for five years. He was the associate secretary of the American Association of College for Teacher Education and his background includes service as a teacher and administrator in Montana schools.

Dr. Lovinger has served as a consultant in general education and in teacher education in colleges and universities throughout the nation.

He holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Montana State University and his doctorate from Columbia University, N.Y.

Lists Key Elements In Family

NEW YORK (AP) — Esther Hunt Moore of Hickory, N.C., who has just been named Mother of the Year, says the three elements of raising children are love, discipline and communication.

Mrs. Moore, 75, an educator of the mentally retarded who received a master's degree from Columbia University 11 years ago, made the assessment Friday after she was named mother of the year by the American Mothers Committee.

"The reason I feel humbly proud," she said in accepting the award, "is that my immediate family were descendents of slave parents. They were actually the persons who instilled faith—faith in God. They believed faith could remove any obstacle to success."

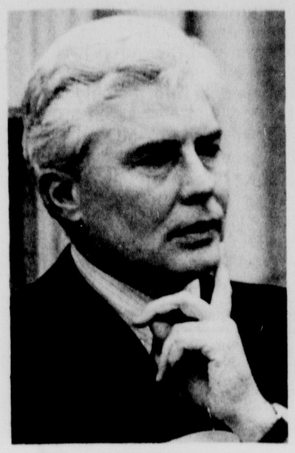
Journalism Dean Will Speak Here



Roy M. Fisher

Roy M. Fisher, dean of the Missouri School of Journalism and former editor of the Chicago Daily News, will be the commencement speaker at graduation ceremonies for Smith-Cotton High School at 8 p.m. May 26 at Jennie Jaynes Stadium.

According to Earl Finley, S-C principal, events scheduled for the stadium would be moved to the school's Physical Education and Fine Arts Building in case of inclement weather.

Finley, who will introduce Fisher, said about 320 students are scheduled for graduation from S-C this year. Fisher will give his address following the processional, presentation of a musical number and the invocation, Finley said.

Dean Fisher began his journalism career as a reporter for the Hastings (Neb.) Daily News and the Pratt (Kan.) Daily Tribune. He joined the Chicago Daily News after serving in the Navy in World War II. He first worked as a police reporter in Chicago and later became a political writer, feature editor, city editor and, in 1965, assumed the top editorial post.

He assumed his duties at the MU School of Journalism in April, 1971.

Born in 1918 in Stockton, Kan., Fisher received a journalism degree from Kansas State University. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Kappa Alpha Mu and the American Society of Newspaper Editors. For two terms he served on the journalism education committee of the Society.

He is a member of the board of trustees of Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital, Garrett Theological Seminary and the Adler Planetarium. He is presently a member of the Missouri United Methodist Church.

He is married and has four children.

SA Robert E. Cruse, son of Mrs. Sara Cruse, 402 North Washington, is home on leave from the U.S. Navy until May 30. He is stationed on board the USS Claude V. Ricketts at Norfolk, Va. Cruse is a 1969 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and elisted in the Navy Aug. 11, 1970.

Accident Claims Its Fourth Victim

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fourth youngster has died of injuries she received Sunday in the headon crash of two cars near Centreville, Ill.

Wheat Harvest Decrease Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers expect to harvest only 82.4 per cent of the winter wheat acreage they planted last fall and will average only 33 bushels per acre from it, the Agriculture Department says.

That compares with 89.4 per cent acre harvest last year when the average yield nationally was a record 35.2 bushels per acre, the Crop Reporting Board said Thursday.

The drought and winter kill in the southern plains area—including Kansas, Oklahoma and parts of Texas — were cited as part of the reason for the reduced rate of harvested acres.

Officials said another factor was a change in government programs early this year which was aimed at getting farmers to reduce their 1972 wheat acreage.

Based on May 1 field conditions, the board estimated winter wheat production this year at slightly less than 1.15 billion bushels, down one per cent from 1971 and an 11 per cent cut from an initial estimate made last December shortly after the crop was planted.

There was no production estimate for spring-planted wheat but an earlier projection based on yield trends and planting intentions said a harvest of 374 million bushels is possible for those types.

That would make a total wheat crop this year of more than 1.5 billion bushels, compared with the record last year of 1.64 billion.

A 1.5 billion bushel harvest would still be large and would produce slightly more wheat than the country needs at the current rate of domestic and export demand. Total use for the 1971-72 season is estimated at around 1.4 billion bushels.

Meantime, the carryover wheat stockpile has risen sharply and is expected to total 971 million bushels by July 1, the most in a decade, according to USDA reports.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Per capita milk consumption by Americans will continue to fall this year, continuing a long-time trend, the Agriculture Department says.

Last year, including the milk equivalent in cheese, butter and other dairy products, per capita consumption was 558 pounds or about 64 gallons.

That was about one per cent less than the per capita use in 1970, and the rate is expected to continue this year, the department said in a dairy situation report.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has suspended government price supports for 1972—crop cottonseed, the second year in a row for no props on the crop.

The reason, officials say, is that cash market prices for cottonseed have been much higher than the price support rate. Last year cottonseed prices averaged $57 per ton. In 1970, the price support rate was $37 per ton.

Officials said the outlook for cottonseed prices this year appears bright and that the supports will not be needed. Cottonseed is used to make oil and meal.

Rubin and Hoffman

Jerry Rubin, top photo, and Abbie Hoffman, bottom, spoke before a University of Miami student gathering Friday. Rubin called President Nixon a "maniac" and Sen. Hubert Humphrey a speed freak, taking a drug called wallet. Both Yippie leaders endorsed Sen. George McGovern for President and called for non-violence in the upcoming GOP and Democratic conventions to be held at Miami Beach. (UPI)

Demonstrators Allowed To Stay

ST. LOUIS (AP) — About a dozen antiwar protestors who took over a decommissioned, U.S. Navy minesweeper docked on the Mississippi River were allowed to spend the night on board Friday.

"I told them they can stay as long as they're peaceful and cause no damage," said Robert O'Brien, who owns the tourist attraction. "They promise they will not interfere with the flow of traffic over the weekend."

O'Brien said 15 persons asked for permission to remain on the World War II vessel.

Friday morning the group boarded the "Inaugural" by paying the regular $1.00 admission fee. The group said it intended to refurbish the ship and sail it to North Vietnam for use in removing mines blocking that country's ports.

O'Brien said the ship is intact but the engines would have to be cleaned before it could set sail. "It would cost about $50,000 to get it going," he said.

The protestors secured an upside-down American flag on the ship—an international distress signal. They also affixed the name Hoa Binh to the vessel's side. The words mean peace in Vietnamese.

Pipe-Line Fight to Continue

By CAROLE MARTIN ... AP Business Writer ....

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration gave the go-ahead this past week for construction of the controversial Trans-Alaska oil pipeline. But environmental groups vowed to continue their fight against the project.

In another development, President Nixon raised the quotas on oil imports from the Middle East, Latin America and Canada by 15 per cent or 230,000 barrels a day.

Meanwhile, the House of Representatives approved a two-step increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour, rejecting a proposal to make the jump immediately and to extend coverage to 5.8 million additional workers. The bill was sent to the Senate, where legislation raising the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour and expanding coverage awaited final action in the Labor Committee.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton announced Thursday that he planned to authorize construction of the Alaskan pipeline project, which had been stalled for the past two years by a court decision won by environment groups.

An attorney for these groups said Morton's action would be challenged in the courts.

Alyeska Pipeline Co., formed by a consortium of seven oil firms, applied for the permit to construct the pipeline, 48 inches in diameter, across federal land to carry hot oil from the Prudhoe Bay Field on Alaska's North Slope to a tanker port on its southern coast. From there the oil would be transported by tanker to the U.S. West Coast and perhaps other destinations.

The House vote on the minimum wage was a victory for the administration. The Democratic leadership had made an immediate $2 minimum and extension of coverage to government employes and household domestics a key part of its legislative program.

Also in Washington this past week, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said President Nixon might ask Congress to enact a tax reform bill that could include a value-added tax sometime this year. He emphasized that he was not speaking for the President, and that he doubted a reform measure could pass in the current election year.

In other developments:

—The Commerce Department reported that retail store sales slipped 1.5 per cent from March to April. Preliminary figures put last month's sales at a seasonally adjusted $35.58 billion. This represented a $36.4 billion drop from March, but was up 7 per cent from April 1971.

—General Motors announced it was recalling 350,000 Vegas to correct a possible throttle-sticking problem. It was the second time in recent weeks that GM announced a major safety recall involving the Chevrolet subcompact. The earlier recall was aimed at a possible fire hazard.

—International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., announced that it would begin the divestures required under the anti-trust consent decrees by selling publicly minority interests in some subsidiaries. ITT President Harold S. Geneen did not identify the companies or give other details.

Defuse Bomb Inside Headquarters

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP) — German explosives experts have defused a bomb that failed to go off in Augsburg police headquarters Friday when two other bombs damaged the building, police said Saturday.

Police Chief August Scheep said the bomb was defused and removed from the building's fifth floor during the night by experts from the Bavarian state criminal office in Munich, whose office also was bombed Friday.

The two bombs that exploded around noon in the fourth and fifth floors of Augsburg police headquarters injured one policeman.

Police said their investigation had not excluded the possibility that the bombings in the Bavarian city was linked to the bombing Thursday of a U.S. Army headquarters compound in Frankfurt.

An American lieutenant colonel was killed and 13 other persons were injured when three bombs exploded after normal duty hours in the V Corps headquarters building and in the adjacent officers' club.

Security has been tightened at American military installations throughout West Germany because of the blasts, the Army said.

Lightning rods came into use after a thunderbolt hit an Italian church concealing 100 tons of gunpowder in 1769, killing 3,000 people.

Election Procedures Explained

Local attorney Earl Crawford explained state and county election law procedures to the Pettis County GOP Club at its regular meeting at noon Friday at Bothwell Hotel.

Crawford pointed out discrepancies in election laws, which sometimes result in apparent contradiction.

The membership voted to hold a dinner for George Parker, candidate for State Treasurer, tentatively scheduled for June 15. More details on this dinner will be formulated later, it was reported.

John Ryan, candidate for state senator from the new 21st district, informed the club of some of his campaign activities for the near future.

It was also announced that there would be a Club Board of Directors dinner meet at 6:30 p.m. May 18 at the State Fair Restaurant.

Ron Shuler gave the invocation and Wendel Smith led in the pledge of allegiance.

Malaysians Drawn To Erotic Movies

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Word-of-mouth advertising, on the general theme "can see plenty," is drawing thousands of Malaysians to erotic movies.

At least 15 productions are being shown. They are of Japanese, French, Scandinavian and American origin.

Some are screened in Johor Baharu. That makes it easy for residents of nearby Singapore, where such movies are banned.

Speakers in Parliament have demanded a ban. A committee is being appointed.

Theater managers say their packed houses are due to the fact such movies are new to Malaysia. They contend interest will diminish as the newness wears off.

Miller To Seek Another Term

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — It's official now --Atty. Gen. Vern Miller will seek re-election.

Miller made the announcement here Friday night and was given a standing ovation by a crowd of 500.

Miller's announcement ended mild speculation that he might run for Congress. However, Miller, 43, said he had never seriously considered seeking a seat either in Congress or the U. S. Senate.

He admitted, however, he did consider running for governor until incumbent Gov. Robert Docking decided he would seek the post for a fourth term.

"When it appeared the governor might run for the Senate," said Miller, "we gave some consideration to becoming a candidate for governor because there appeared to be a dearth of candidates.

"The minute we knew the governor was running for governor, we made our decision to seek re-election."

Miller and Docking are both Democrats.

Miller made his announcement at a "Democratic Announcement" dinner at the Sedgwick County 4-H Building for Miller, Sedgwick Sheriff Johnnie Darr and Sedgwick County Attorney Keith Sandborn. Sandborn is seeking the new district attorney post in Wichita.

Miller, a former Sedgwick County sheriff, made this campaign promise:

"We will continue to fight gambling, drugs, consumer fraud, anti-trust violations and any indication of organized crime, as we have been doing."

Miller also promised he would "not shirk the duties of this office during the campaign. I think the people know where I stand. If the people don't approve of how we run this office, I don't think a campaign is going to change their minds."

Miller said he would "spend what time I can campaigning."

Miller wouldn't say his re-election is a cinch.

"Anything might happen to change things," he said. "I've never ever felt confident about an election. I've seen too many good people lose elections."

Prosecutor Activity Explained

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas Atty. Gen. Vern Miller says he led a movement to clear a Lawrence city street of demonstrators Thursday night because laws were being broken and nobody was being arrested.

Twenty-seven persons were arrested as the demonstators broke and ran.

Miller said he led the action with the agreement of the superintendent of the Kansas Highway Patrol, Col. William Albott.

"It was time to take action. Colonel Albott agreed with me, and we took action," Miller said in an interview Friday.

"You can bet your life I'll see to it that the laws are enforced in the streets of Lawrence," Miller said.

The attorney general said he went to Lawrence when one of his special agents informed him some roaming demonstrators had broken into the University of Kansas military sciences building and caused about $500 damage.

"There had been no arrests around the building, no officers were at the building . . . that's why I went over there," Miller said.

Miller said he found on his arrival in Lawrence "a reluctance on the part of everyone to take action to meet what I considered to be threatening violence."

Miller said he felt his presence was needed to instill confidence in law officers on the scene—"to prove to them they had the backing of state officials as well as the governor."

Gain in Anti-Bug Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists say they have scored what could be a major breakthrough in the control of disease-bearing mosquitoes without the use of DDT or other chemical pesticides.

Agriculture Department scientists, who directed the research, say the use of tiny parasitic worms which bore holes in mosquito larvae "holds particular promise" for controlling the insects.

The tiny worms, called nematodes, are being field-tested by the U.S. Public Health Service in El Salvador and by the World Health Organization in Taiwan and Thailand.

A key to the experiment was the development of a low-cost method of mass producing a species of nematodes, Reesimermis nielseni, which attack only mosquitoes.

The procedures are described in the May issue of "Agricultural Research," a magazine published by USDA.

At present, DDT is the cheapest and favorite pesticide for controlling mosquitoes in malaria areas of the world. Malathion, a potent but less persistent chemical, also is used.

Laboratory tests over a two-year period have shown the worms infect 13 of 19 known kinds of mosquitoes in Louisiana and have a 100 per cent kill record among insects they infect, USDA scientists say.

Although mosquitoes are the natural and only known hosts for the Reesimermis nematode, the worms usually kill only while the mosquitoes are in the "wiggler" or larvae stage of development.

The larvae develop from eggs and, if they survive, turn into adult mosquitoes which then can carry many diseases, including sleeping sickness or encephalitis as well as malaria.

ARS scientists say that mass production of the worms will enable man to spread them over large areas artifically, much the same as chemicals are applied now.

As with all control measures, however, there are drawbacks.

Cold weather inactivates the nematodes and polluted or salt water kills too many nematodes for them to provide adequate control of mosquitoes, some species of which can breed in such water.

Says LBJ Considered Sea Block

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — Walt W. Rostow, a special assistant to President Lyndon Johnson, said here Thursday that a blockade of North Vietnam was not employed during the Johnson Administration because it was thought it would not be militarily decisive.

Rostow, who is now a history professor at the University of Texas, told 1,200 students at the final session of a military seminar at the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, said it was thought a blockade would impose maximum risks on American fighting forces in South Vietnam.

"It was not judged in 1967 to be a form of action that would immediately defeat the Communists and thereby offer the Allies quick military results.

He said there were other ways the Soviets and Chinese could get supplies through and it was judged that other uses of air and naval power would be better and less risky.

Rostow said that five years ago America had not reached a rapproachment with Communist China and relations between the Chinese and the rest of the world were very tense. He said Johnson had seriously considered an embargo similar to one announced Monday by President Nixon but did not impose it because the Chinese were guarding much of the northern coast and border of North Vietnam.

Students Express Views On Tuesday's Tax Levy Election Here

(Editor's Note: "Tiger Tales," the Smith-Cotton High School student publication, recently devoted much of its latest edition to student statements concerning Tuesday's vote on the proposed 65-cent school tax levy increase. They are reprinted here.)

Recently, students at Smith-Cotton High School (grades 8-11) were asked to voice their opinions on how the passing of the school tax levy, to be voted on May 16, would affect them as students at Smith-Cotton.

With overwhelming response the students are hoping for passage of the levy mainly to reduce overcrowding of the classrooms and to gain more individual attention.

Listed below are just a few of the more than 1,000 opinions voiced by students at Smith-Cotton concerning the tax levy proposal:

Earlene Dotson - 8 grade 11 "You voted to have the school built so pass the levy."

Diana Scott - grade 11 "If the levy doesn't pass on May 16 there will be several people disappointed including me. Some people argue that you don't need to enjoy learning but I think that in order to really learn something, you need to enjoy the process of doing it."

Anne Fischer - grade 10 "I feel that the tax increase will definately have an effect on my education in that the number of students per class will be decreased, allowing more individual attention."

Martha Thomas - grade 11 "Why does Sedalia's young want to leave Sedalia? The youth of our high school know Sedalia does not move with the times. If they did, youth would be staying in Sedalia. Many of us are still not old enough to vote for the school levy but you that are, think of how much better Sedalia would be to live in if the levy passes.

Herbie Houston - grade 11 "If the tax levy passes I can benefit from it because I will get my welding class."

Jerry Pirtle - grade 11 "With the levy, we as students will benefit greatly. First, our classrooms will be less crowded, and that way we won't get as hot and tempers will not flair up as easily. Conditions will be better, it will be easier to think and learn, and this is what education is."

John Melvin - grade 11 "Being a student at this high school, I feel that I will benefit from this levy. My position may not be one of great importance, but I feel I am in great need of this tax levy. I feel that I will be able to learn more in a less-crowded class."

Jim Hayworth - grade 11 "I think that if the levy passes that the C.O.E. will be good for me. Because I can get training and then be able to get a good job somewhere and make future plans for something."

Cindy White - grade 11 "If the levy doesn't pass it would be just like the people of Sedalia saying they don't care what kind of education the kids get."

Debbie Rozier - grade 11 "I feel there is a definite need for a smaller number of students in one classroom. The way things are at present there is little room to breath, let alone learn."

Diana Huddleston - grade 11 "If the levy does not pass in the coming election, I will not: be able to take the new vocational courses offered, have a locker to myself, have the special attention needed from my teachers, be able to pass through the halls without the risk of being run over. As a result, I will not learn as much or even enjoy school at all."

Jean Henderson - grade 11 "I think that the voters ought to stop chewing the levy and then spitting it out. If they would digest it instead, they might realize that this school levy is more than just a rise in taxes, it is a rise in education."

Carol Hejtmanek - grade 11 "The passing of the tax levy would not only help the overcrowded conditions, but also the student's learning ability."

Marti Hudson - grade 11 "If the students are given more attention there is an immense possibility they will respond accordingly. Lack of attention is really a problem in learning and adjusting as society would like."

Kathy Kempton - grade 11 "We should have the right to the best education possible. This is the main reason that the people of Sedalia must pass the upcoming school levy proposal."

Tom Price - grade 8 "I don't like school but next year if the school levy doesn't pass, I'd hate school. Just think of having 50 kids in a classroom when it is 90 degrees out. It would be unbearable."

Ronda Lehman - Grade 9 "I believe that the school levy should be passed, for various reasons. If the levy is not passed, then the classes at Smith-Cotton will be bigger than they already are now. This is almost too many in one class to breathe, much less talk or get up to sharpen your pencil."

Brad Vermaas - grade 11 "Sixty-five cents, just a little over four bottles of pop, that's all it takes to improve conditions in our schools. Review the changes in our standard of living since you were in school and you will finally realize that times have changed. You are providing for the future generation which must lead ways of life just like you did. And these ways of life are rapidly changing and with this change education has to change. Put yourself in the students' shoes. If you were in school would you want better learning conditions?

Melissa Ramseyer - grade 9 "Since 1958, taxpayers have paid the low amount of $2.95 for school taxes. That amount is the lowest in the state of Missouri of towns over 5,000. Isn't 65 cents more worth a good education?

Laura Eubanks - grade 8 "For only 65 cents for every $100 worth of assessed valuation, I don't feel it is very much to pay for an advanced education in an advanced world.

Bill Rabourn - grade 8 "Sixty-five cents is not much to pay for a better education for your kids and grandkids."

Chris Tray - grade 9 "Ever tried to study in an overcrowded classroom? With students hot and tired from the 90 degree humid weather. Then the people of the town still don't realize what's wrong. It's those people who vote down the school levy. If our school levy was passed, there would be well-equipped classrooms, plenty of teachers, less crowding, and better educated students."

Sue Noble - grade 9 "All in all I think that it's a must that the levy passes. If it doesn't, I don't believe that Sedalia can keep up with the rest of the schools in Missouri."

Rhonda Buckner - grade 8 "Most parents still want us to learn. Even though some of them didn't get an education, I don't think it's fair for them not to let us get our education. I think that everyone should vote for the levy."

Lisa Williams - grade 8 "The tax levy must pass. How would you like 45-50 kids in a room. We are crowded now."

Alonzo Harris - grade 11 "To me a 65 cent raise in taxes is a small price for quality education at Smith-Cotton."

Mary Lee Roseboom - grade 11 "The school levy passage would represent a pride in Sedalia's school system and give the youth of our town a better chance to receive the proper education they need and deserve. The voters should realize that they are forming the lives of those who will someday represent our country and proper education is the basis of a good democracy."

Karen Hoover - grade 9 "With the passing of the school levy many things can be accomplished. It would make the classes smaller and teachers could spend more time with individual students. The school levy would make it possible to have free kindergartens for the people of Sedalia."

Diane Fleming - Grade 9 "I think that the public should think about our education a little and not just think about themselves."

Katy Hogan - Grade 9 "It gets so hot in the spring and summer at school that everybody is ready to expire, but if we got more teachers we could cut down the number of students in the classes and that would help a lot."

Patty Karigan - Grade 9 "College boards don't like to accept students whose high school had the lowest accreditation in the state. The levy will help everyone, so please vote yes."

Spencer Jones - grade 9 "I feel I could learn a lot more if the class size was reduced. In my band class there are more than a hundred people in a room that's not to exceed eighty. I sit, playing my instrument, with barely enough room to move. In gym, the classes really suffer from large numbers. There is just not enough equipment to occupy the students."

Matt Stretz - Grade 9 "I walked into my class on 3rd floor and said "hi" to 30 or 40 different people. As I stumbled over piles of books on the floor, I finally made my way to my seat and sat in someone else's because there were no more seats. In shop class after school I waited in line to use the buffers because there are only 2. Sure wish there was more room."

Kenneth Kemper - Grade 8 "The reason the levy was put down last time is because the town doesn't vote and the people don't know about the conditions of our schools."

Renee Guymore - Grade 8 "The situation down here if the levy fails to pass, will be a mess."

Bruce Goodheart - Grade 8 "Sixty-five cents, less than the cost of 5 lbs. of sugar, could increase the quality of our educational facilities here in Sedalia."

Kathy Anderson - Grade 8 "The passing of the levy will benefit me much the same way it will all students. It will provide more opportunities to learn in the vocational fields as well as better materials for just normal classes. The tax levy will divide the classes and reduce the student-teacher ratio, and produce an all around better education."

Kathy Birdsong - Grade 9 "Many of the lost and confused will find the special and needed attention which will be offered to each individual if the levy passes. Please vote yes so those who need this attention can become stronger in wisdom, stature, and favor with others."

Harry Browder - Grade 9 "I think the school levy should be passed because it would be to our advantage. We are now overcrowded and without the extra money to lower these crowded conditions, the Jr. High will not be serving its purpose."

Lynn Jones - Grade 11 "Most blacks think students here at S-C are not getting a fair chance. In most cases it's not true. The problem is that the schools are just too crowded."

Jancey Shelledy - Grade 10 "All of our classes are overcrowded and I think if our parents attended our school to see how overcrowded we really are, maybe they would see things differently."

Ann Stilfield - Grade 10 "I think the levy should be passed so we can have a better chance to get an education. Someone had to pay for our parent's education."

Disciplined Society Is Seen on Mainland

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It is a hard-working, early-to-bed, early-to-rise society."

That's the way Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., described mainland China for his colleagues Thursday.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and his Republican counterpart, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, have just returned from a 16-day visit in China.

"The cities are clean, orderly and safe," Mansfield said, "the shops well stocked with food, clothing and other consumer items; policemen are evident only for controlling traffic and very few carry weapons. Soldiers are rarely seen."

"The housing is of a subsistence type but is now sufficient to end the spectacle of millions of the homeless and dispossessed who in the past walked the tracks and roads or anchored their sam-pans in the rivers of China and lived out their lives in a space little larger than a rowboat.

"Crime, begging, drug addiction, alcoholism, delinquency are conspicuous in their absence. Personal integrity is scrupulous. In Canton, for example, a display case for lost-and-found articles in the lobby of the People's Hotel contained, among other items, a half-empty package of cigarettes and a pencil," he said.

Mansfield, making his first visit to mainland China in a quarter of a century, said a factory worker in Peking earns the equivalent of $22 a month and his wife works, making as much or more.

"That income is ample for a subsistence-plus existence because children are cared for free at a nursery or in public schools," Mansfield said.

"Rent takes only 5 per cent of total income. Basic food prices are low and fixed. Medical care is free. Entertainment is cheap; admission to a movie is about 10 cents."

Mansfield also reported that the rickshaws are gone and that bicycles and buses are the almost universal forms of transportation. He said China builds a few fine limousines for official purposes but private passenger cars are a rare sight.

"Production has been concentrated on such utilitarian vehicles as tractors, trucks and buses," he said.

By way of assessing China today, Mansfield remarked that it is possible to judge a bottle as half full or half empty.

"If China is measured by some of our common yardsticks, whether they be highway mileage, the number of cars, television sets, kitchen gadgets, political parties, or newspaper editors, the bottle will be seen as half empty," he said.

"If China is viewed in the light of its own past, the bottle is half full and rapidly filling."

See Industry Savings In Pollution

KANSAS CITY (AP) — U.S. industry can save millions of dollars that now flow down the sewers or go up in smoke, several experts said Friday.

Speakers, in remarks prepared for a pollution control roundtable in suburban Lenexa, Kan., cited results of some projects.

F. V. Huber of Massilon, Ohio, said Sherwin-Williams Chemical Division installed an air-cooled heat exchanger "to eliminate odors from around their Chicago plant. Not only did the exchanger eliminate 99 per cent of the odors, it also returns $60,000 worth of chemicals back to production each year."

Huber told how a St. Louis foundry cut water and sewage costs by recycling cooling water within the plant, and how a recycling system for petroleum refineries completely eliminates all discharges.

Charles Engel of the Unitech Co. cited a distiller who recovered dry solubles from process liquors and turned them into a profitable animal feed additive. A recycling process at a Mississippi fish processing plant reduced water consumption 97 per cent and yielded a 25 per cent increase in marketable fish meal, he said.

Towers to cool water have been perfected and can prevent irreparable damage from thermal pollution, said Donn (cq) B. Furlong, of Ecodyne Cooling Products.

"By the year 2000, studies indicate waste heat discharge into Lake Michigan will increase from its present 30 billion BTUs per hour to about 430 billion BTUs per hour if no corrective action is taken," Furlong said. "Bake temperatures could increase from 10 to 30 degrees."

"Cooling towers are the natural answer to the thermal pollution problems posed by today's giant nuclear power plants and sprawling refineries," Furlong said.

Huber said industry could cut its pollution of rivers almost to nothing by recycling water.

"The industrial and utility cooling function constitutes 70 per cent of the water used by the United States and a good deal of it returns to the environment polluted and overheated," Huber said. "Industry will come to realize that the most economical form of pollution control is recycling, which is well within available technology."

Ancient Sea Monster Remains Uncovered

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The remains of an 80-million-year-old sea monster found last month in a drainage ditch excavation are being prepared for display at Southern Methodist University.

SMU Prof. Bob H. Slaughter said Thursday that the fossilized remains found in a ditch at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport are that of a plesiosaur, a dinosaur-shaped sea creature with large fins in place of feet. The sea monster lived in a seaway that once connected the present Gulf of Mexico with the Pacific Northwest, Slaughter said.

Dinosaurs and other land animals also once lived on the shores of the sea, which extended as far north as Oklahoma, he added.

Disposal Of Waste Is Topic

The problem of solid waste disposal in Pettis County will be discussed at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the basement of the Federal Building.

Ron Kennedy, Extension environmental quality specialist, arranged the session, to which local and area officials have been invited.

Kennedy said one purpose of the meeting will be to discuss a new state law that allows counties to levy taxes for the purpose of providing rural landfills. User fees also have proved to be a workable system of retiring such bonds, Kennedy said.

Discussing this aspect of the problem will be John Meyer, of the State Division of Health.

Frank Schwarzer, executive director of the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission, Warrensburg, also has been invited to attend the meeting. That organization recently received a federal grant to study solid waste disposal.

Dr. John Heagler, a professor of civil engineering at the University of Missouri-Rolla, and mayors and Community Betterment representatives from other Pettis County towns also are expected to attend the meeting.

The growing problem of unauthorized dumping of trash on county roads has focused attention recently on the need for a county landfill or other means of disposal.

Mailbox Improvement

Mailbox Improvement Week begins Monday. The Postal Service designated the week to encourage postal customers to paint and repair their mailboxes to contribute toward the beautification of city streets and countryside. Here, David Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Gibson, 1109 Herold, tries to give the mailbox a new look. Sedalia Postmaster Maurice Hogan asked that area residents have their name and residence number or, box numbers, where applicable, painted on their mailboxes.

Knife-Wielding Man Cancels TV Broadcast

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP) — Television station KOAM-TV went off the air about 10 minutes Friday night when a man with a knife demanded that he be allowed to broadcast an anti-war, anti-Nixon statement.

Phil Stearn, station newsman, said the man was covered with blood from self-inflicted knife wounds on the abdomen when he entered the station, which is located 13 miles south of Pittsburg.

"He had three boys and a girl with him," Stearn said. "They told us the man had stopped them and forced them to bring him out to the station.

"He pulled out the knife when he got into the station and said he would kill himself unless we let one of the youths go on the air and speak against the war and Nixon," Stearn said. "Our engineer immediately took the station off the air."

Someone managed to call the sheriff's office while others finally talked the man into surrendering his knife. The youths then took the man to Pittsburg for medical treatment. Sheriff's deputies met them in town and took the man to a hospital.

Rusk Scheduled To Speak in Marshall

(Democrat-Capital Service)

MARSHALL — Dean Rusk, former U.S. Secretary of State, and the Rev. Jerry Max Hilton, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church here, will be the guest speakers at the Missouri Valley College 83rd annual commencement and baccalaureate ceremonies May 20.

The school reported that 160 seniors will receive degrees during the commencement exercises at 7:30 p.m. on Gregg-Mitchell Field, and two honorary degrees will also be given, one of them to Rusk.

Rusk will receive an honorary LLD degree and Howard A. Stamper, St. Louis, will be awarded an honorary DBA degree. Stamper is chairman of the board of Banquet Foods Corp., which has a plant in Marshall.

A Rhodes scholar at St. John's, Oxford, Rusk is a native of Georgia and received his AB degree from Davidson College in North Carolina in 1931. He received his BS degree in 1933 and his MA degree in 1934, both from St. John's. He was an associate professor and dean of the faculty at Mills College from 1934 to 1940.

Dean Rusk

Embarking on a career in Washington in 1946, he served as assistant chief in the division of International Security Affairs, U.S. Department of State. Continuing in this area, he served as Special Assistant Secretary of War, 1946-47; as director of the Office of the United Nations Affairs in the U.S. Department of State, 1947-49; as Assistant Secretary of State in February, 1949; as Deputy Under Secretary of State, 1949-50; and as Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, 1950-51. For the next eight years, from 1952 to 1960, he was president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Rusk was Secretary of State from 1961 to 1969, under President John F. Kennedy and President Lyndon B. Johnson. Since 1970 Rusk has been professor of International Law at the University of Georgia.

Mr. Hilton, the baccalaureate speaker, is an alumnus of Missouri Valley. He assumed his duties at the Covenant Presbyterian Church April 9. His earlier pastorates were at Aurora and at Hobart, Okla.

Columbia Doctor Will Speak Here

Dr. Richard A. Guthrie, assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of Missouri Medical Center, Columbia, will speak at a meeting of the Sedalia-Pettis County branch of the Missouri State Diabetes Association at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the REA Building on North Highway 65.

Dr. Guthrie will speak on books, identification tags, and camps for diabetic children. He will be accompanied by his wife, Diana, who is a diabetic nurse consultant.

Membership cards will be available at the meeting, according to Mrs. Jessie Goist, branch chairman. A question and answer session will follow Dr. Guthrie's talk, she added.

High-intensity street lights are being installed in 39 business neighborhoods in New York City to cut street crimes.

'Nitrogen' Car Seen as Answer

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Researchers say that "paper" cars powered by liquid nitrogen some day may whisper down the nation's streets, helping eliminate pollution and reducing highway deaths.

"It would sort of take care of a lot of problems," says Prof. Lindley Manning, a machine design specialist at the University of Nevada-Reno.

He predicted that within 20 years nitrogen-powered vehicles could be mass produced at prices competitive with today's gasoline-powered automobiles.

Manning said that with some 15 students and a fellow professor, Richard Schneider, he has been hammering out a prototype of the nitrogen-powered car, being built for about $1,000.

It is designed to travel about 60 miles per hour.

Schneider conceived the nitrogen engine concept about two years ago and now has several patents pending, Manning said.

The body is composed of a honeycombed weave of paper and fiberglass and is similar to the material used in the Apollo moon lander.

Manning said the body material is energy absorbing and would save lives during collisions. The material is rust resistant "and would float-if that's any advantage," he added.

Exhaust emissions would consist entirely of nitrogen.

"Since the atmosphere is composed of 80 per cent nitrogen, anyway, all we're doing is borrowing the gas for a while," Manning said.

Liquid nitrogen turns to gas at temperatures about 320 degrees below zero and ordinary atmospheric temperature would be sufficient to expand the gas to run the engine, he added.

But Manning noted one hitch: Nitrogen is manufactured by burning fossil fuel.

"But it could also be made by burning garbage," he said.

"And our rough calculations show that there is sufficient garbage in this country to supply enough fuel for the nation's cars for many years to come."

Manning hopes to finish the car in time for the Urban Vehicle Design Competition at Midland, Mich., in August.

Student Report

SWEET SPRINGS — The senior class of the Sweet Springs R-VII High School and their sponsors returned Sunday from a three day trip to Colorado Springs.

Their itinerary included the Garden of the Gods, Pikes Peak area, Seven Falls and the Air Force Academy.

Out of the Past

Anniversary of Whiteman Tragedy Observed

Broken and Burned

This was all that was left of a B-47 Stratojet after a fire in one of its engines touched off explosions in fuel tanks, engulfing the craft in flames. Four Whiteman AFB men were killed and another 18 injured in the disaster. (Air Force Photo)

(Editor's Note: William W. Wood, advertising representative for The Sedalia Democrat-Capital, was stationed at Whiteman Air Force Base 10 years ago, when the base experienced its greatest disaster. The following, is his story of a fateful day when men died.)

By WILLIAM W. WOOD JR.
As Told To
Pete Daniels
Managing Editor

WHITEMAN AFB — May 15 is an obscure sort of anniversary here, and those who observe it do so grimly and sadly. Exactly 10 years ago on this day, the fuel tanks on a B-47 Stratojet bomber, on the flightline here for routine maintenance, exploded, killed four on-duty airmen and injured 18 others.

Today, the flightline is the same, but the big birds are gone — replaced by the Strategic Air Command's Minuteman missiles.

That almost-forgotten day, 10 years ago, began routinely enough for the 340th Bomb Wing, but it changed drastically with the loud ringing of the telephone on the commander's desk.

No one had any real knowledge of what was going on, but the distant screaming of sirens left no doubt that some sort of emergency situation existed.

The wing commander, Col. Willis F. Lewis, however, had received word from tower observers on the flightline that what was believed to be a small electrical fire had erupted in one of the B-47's engines. It was nothing to be greatly alarmed about, everyone felt at the time, yet it was a situation which needed immediate attention — which it got.

Those not directly concerned with putting the fire out paid little attention, since there was no evidence of smoke. Firefighters were working on the plane and word eventually reached headquarters that the entire fuselage was covered with foam and the fire was under control.

More than 50 military aircraft were strung down the flightline at this time, and the B-47 was practically in the middle of them. However, the relief felt by base personnel after the first report would be shortlived — a second fire had erupted in the same aircraft and this time flames could be seen beneath the plane.

Base Fire Chief P. E. Ralls, Airman Second Class Joseph Palagonia of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Airmen Third Class Jacob Lang of Chicago and Wayne Hower of Allentown, Pa., once again approached the jet, inching their way toward the belly of the craft to find the cause of the problem. It was their last move.

The first engine exploded. Ralls and his three firefighters never knew what hit them. Thousands of slivers of metal sliced the air around the plane. The time was 3:50 p.m. and four men were dead. It would be another three hours and 15 minutes after the initial fire before the crippled aircraft would be reduced to a hulk. In the meantime, other aircraft had to be saved.

When the engine blew on the $3 million jet, it was just the beginning of a chain reaction of tank explosions. Other fuel tanks began to explode, sending hundreds of gallons of burning aviation fuel 100 feet across the flightline. Many airmen in the area were suddenly caught in a burning rain of fuel and some were actually on top of the plane when it blew. Several airmen were seen desperately rolling on the ground to extinguish their burning uniforms.

The cause of the fire was later determined to be leaking fuel from the air refueling receptacle, which had been ignited by the hot exhaust system of an MD-3 generator.

Firefighters from Sedalia, Warrensburg and Knob Noster responded to the emergency and remained on the scene until the danger was past.

The dead and injured were justifiably immortalized in the memories of the airmen stationed here at that time. There were, however, dozens of unrecognized heroes in the drama — people who braved the danger zone, clambered into cockpits of nearby aircraft and proceeded to manuever them out of danger. Some of these people had never handled the controls of a jet, and acted out of sheer courage and necessity.

Air Force procedure requires previously trained or licensed airmen or officers to taxi any aircraft on the flightline. But, on this day of sudden tragedy, such niceties were simply overlooked. The flightline was almost littered with other B-47's, KC-97 tankers, C-123 transports and T-33 jet trainers. All of them were moved within a matter of minutes.

Finally, about midnight, the danger was over. Yet the taste of tragedy remained for many days. It was possibly the worst single disaster in Whiteman's history, since later two more airmen died of their injuries. The big bombers left the base in 1963, taking with them the last vestige of the fire.

But days like May 15 won't be forgotten by those stationed at the base 10 years ago. "We'll always carry the memory of those who died, those who were hurt and the blackened shell of what once was a fine plane," one of them said.

Death of a Plane

On the Whiteman AFB flightline for routine maintenance, this sleek B-47 bomber was reduced to a smouldering hulk within a matter of hours after one of its engines caught fire. The huge cloud of black smoke, which here covers the tail assembly of the plane, was visible for miles from the base. (Air Force Photo)

Happy Mother's Day

Dear Mom:
You may think that pot is a vessel for cooking;
That grass is a green area just meant for looking;
That hash is a remake of last night's viands;
That a trip is a voyage to faraway lands;
You're convinced that dough is stuff made with flour;
That bread is to eat, not pay for work by the hour;
That fuzz is a substance you find on the rug;
Your bag, you believe, is for bringing home bacon;
In all these definitions you will find you're mistaken.
But there is one phrase that still means what it did:
"Happy Mother's Day and Love" from your with-it kid.

Festival of Music Performance Today

The Helen G. Steele Music Club will present its second annual Festival of Music in observance of National Music Week at 4 p.m. today at the First Christian Church.

The Music Club Chorus has selected a group of songs from the Ladies' Musical Club repertoire.

In addition to the chorus, the program will feature the Barbershop Quartet and a violin solo by Abe Rosenthal.

A piano duo selection by Mrs. A. J. Harlan and Mrs. W. B. Hurt and another by Mrs. Kenneth Schreiner and Mrs. J. W. Watts will be given as well as an organ and piano duo by Miss Florence Morseman. A flute duet will be presented by Mrs. Russell Rhoads and Mrs. Kenneth Schreiner.

The festival will conclude the Helen G. Steele Music Week. Mrs. Gary Schwartz and Mrs. David Turner have been chairmen for the observance.

Miss Carolyn Christine Mairs

Engagements

The Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Knox, 1527 East Sixth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ann Knox, to Rodney Eugene Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Sullivan, Route 2.

The future bride will graduate this month from Smith-Cotton High School.

Mr. Sullivan is a 1971 graduate of Smith-Cotton.

MILAN — The engagement of Miss Carolyn Christine Mairs to Richard William Robinson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Mairs, Milan.

The bride-to-be is a senior at the University of Missouri School of Journalism studying advertising. She will graduate this month.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson, 1400 West Broadway, Sedalia, holds a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Missouri, Columbia.

Beta Tau Installs Officers

Beta Tau chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the Old Missouri Homestead for a dinner meeting Thursday in observance of Mother's Day and for an installation of officers.

Mrs. Rod Anderson, vice-president, presided at the brief business meeting and read a letter from Mrs. Gene Meyer requesting a leave of absence.

Mrs. Richard Cole gave the report on the recent city council meeting and Mrs. Carl Zimmerschied, service chairman, announced that the surplus baked goods from the recent bake sale had been donated to a needy family.

The barbershop quartet from the Helen G. Steele Music Club entertained the group with a variety of musical selections in observance of National Music Week.

Newly elected officers were installed in a candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Robert Nichols conducted the installation as the following officers took their oath of office: president, Mrs. Rod Anderson; vice-president, Mrs. Pearly Jett; recording secretary, Mrs. Chuck Williams; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bill Stelljes; treasurer, Mrs. M. L. Hopper, and chapter advisor, Mrs. Robert Nichols.

New Policies On Weddings, Engagements

Wedding pictures and stories should be turned in on the Thursday preceding the wedding, if possible. No wedding stories or pictures will be accepted more than two weeks after the event. Pictures of the bride only will be published.

Engagement pictures will be published on Sunday only and must be submitted by noon Thursday preceding.

In order to better serve our readers with more timely news, the following policy will be followed:

Showers, receptions and rehearsal dinners must be turned in within 3 days of the time they occur and will not be included in the wedding story.

Pictures may be picked up at The Democrat office on the Monday following publication, but none will be returned by mail unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The Democrat will not be responsible for damage which might occur to pictures submitted for publication.

Gypsy Scarf

The gypsy scarf worn on the head is great for keeping hair in place while you're doing some of the more active things. All it takes is a square scarf. Fold it into a triangle and tie it at the side of your head. Big earrings will complete the effect, if you want a total gypsy look.

Next time you bake a piece of corned pork, give it this special glaze. Combine 1 cup syrup from a can of cling peach haves with one-third cup brown sugar and 2 teaspoons cornstarch. Add peach halves and cook until clear and thickened. Bake corned pork as usual, but during the last 20 minutes of baking, stick the scored fat of hot baked meat with cloves, and spoon syrup over. Bake 20 minutes or more in moderately hot oven, until nicely glazed. Serve with hot spiced peaches.

Club News

Happy Homemaker's Extension Club met Tuesday with Mrs. James Bahner who opened the meeting with the devotional.

Mrs. Rudy Rehmer gave a lesson on fashion and accessories and Mrs. James Westermier conducted the business meeting.

Attending as a guest was Mrs. Paul Lubbering.

WELLINGTON — Mrs. Jane Grahlmann, departmental chapeau from Kirkwood, visited Saline-Lafayette Salon No. 646 at their dinner meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Bernice Osthoff, Wellington. Mrs. Grahlmann presented information on control and treatment of cysticfibrosis and tuberculosis in Missouri.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Daisy Newman, chapeau, Higginsville. The local salon voted to contribute to funds for vapor equipment at Missouri State Chest Hospital in Mt. Vernon. Members plan to attend Chapeau Day, May 21 at Mt. Vernon, it was reported.

Mrs. Louise Phillips, Kirkwood, and Mrs. Christine Olendorff, Glasgow, were guests. Present were members from Grand Pass, Glasgow, Higginsville, Sedalia, Marshall and Wellington.

BUNCETON — Bunceton Extension Club met Tuesday at the Federated Church with eight members.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Laura Belle Floyd and guests were introduced.

A lesson on Light for Sight and truth in lending was given by the area home economist and the group decided to entertain members of the local 4-H club with a supper in June.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rea Earl Scott and Mrs. Riley Edwards.

JEANS STILL IN

You're never too old or too sophisticated to entertain wearing jeans. Especially if you wear the new black matte jersey jeans and jacket Western cut. With splashes of color added to the waist with a bright suede belt, to the feet with matching suede sandals, and a long scarf wrapped around the neck.

STRONGMAN MISSING

DARWIN (AP) — A strongman who bet he would eat an auto from bumper to bumper in four years is missing and there are no gnawed cars around.

It was in November, 1967, that Leon Sampson bet $23,000 with Darwin businessman John Katapodis. It is recorded on paper.

"I haven't seen him since we made the bet," said Katapodis as the four-year dealine drew near.

At the time of the bet Sampson was working the country show circuit doing a strongman act in which he munched razor blades and electric light bulbs.

Auxiliary Elects Officers

Officers of the Bothwell Hospital Auxiliary elected at the Thursday evening meeting of the group at State Fair Community College are Mrs. Claude Lambirth, president; Mrs. James Holman, vice-president; Mrs. John Bopp, secretary; and Mrs. Warren Foster, treasurer.

To serve a three year term on the auxiliary board will be Mrs. Mary Louise Cain. Other members with unexpired terms are Mrs. Fred Davis, two years; and Mrs. A. K. Downs, one year.

Yearly reports were read and an auditing committee of Mrs. Frank Wagner and Mrs. Frank Zahringer was appointed.

It was announced that memberships are due and the group plans a membership tea in the near future.

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Some people disclaim their natural habitat. I always named my origin. It didn't hold me back and neither has my color. I was born in poverty. My father raped my mother when she was 12. Now they've named a park for me in Chester (Pa.)."—Entertainer Ethel Waters, in an interview.

"I have gotten so much more out of the council than I have been able to give that if they should call me in the middle of the night and ask me to stand on my head in Times Square, I'd do it."—Actress Helen Hayes, retiring from the National Council on the Arts.

"Americans think it's such a strain to look after children on trips, and it is in this country. But abroad the child care facilities are so extensive that you can have it both ways—share experiences with the kids or have the option of being on your own, knowing they are well cared for."—Leila Hadley, who has written a book about traveling to Europe with children.

"There are some restrictions. There are three rooms in a row leading to the guys' showers. I can work in the outside two rooms, but not in 'the cage.' If that door to the showers swung open—wow!"—Susan Comorat, manager of the all-male LaCrosse team at the University of Delaware.

"People try to help you because you're a woman. Greek males—I don't think they're used to taking orders. But you shouldn't have to demand respect. Eventually you should just get it."—Georgia Sambasis, manager of a Greek restaurant in New York.

"Experience is important only in the early stages of a rider's career, to give him or her confidence. Later it has little to do with success."—Jockey Robyn Smith.

Recital Planned

Students of Mrs. Gary Schwartz will present a program of music in observance of National Music Week at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, at the First Christian Church.

In addition to piano solos several two-piano numbers, piano duets and organ solos will be performed.

The program will feature a variety of music ranging from sounds of the classical and baroque periods composed by such composers as Beethoven and Mozart, as well as sounds of today such as Bacharach.

Those participating in the recital will be Jeffrey Jarrett, Susan Hopper, Craig McLaughlin, Dawn McLaughlin, Chris Robins, Teri Thomas, Debbie Thomas, Mary Lusk, John Lusk, Camye Callis, Kandy Holman, Laurie Holman, Monte Holder, Tina Mark, Debbie Fischer, Larry Eldenburg, Steven Eldenburg, Curtis Eldenburg, Lee Kolsky, Christy Combs, Kevin Combs, Lisa Wheeler, Lynda Harvey, Dena Hibbard, Lunn Skurla, Cheryll Gorrell, Susan Bohon, Everett Bohon, Beth Bohon, Paul Luce, Sally Rodgers, Karen Johnston, Julie Stell.

The public is invited to attend.

POWDER FACE

Face powder is the best thing for a matte finish which will accentuate a glossy, deep-colored mouth and smoky eyes. And face powder is no longer thick and caky. Now it's sheer and so translucent it can be worn over your regular blusher to make the color last longer.

About Town

Mrs. Dora Dale Mittenberg, Moberly, was elected as a delegate of the ninth congressional district to the Republican National Convention recently.

Mrs. Mittenberg, the former Dora Dale Siron, of Sedalia, is Randolph County Republican chairman.

Sweet Springs Chapter Names New Officers

SWEET SPRINGS — Mu Omego chapter of Beta Phi officers were installed at the Tuesday meeting held at the home of Mrs. Tom Reid, Sweet Springs.

Mrs. Don Vogelsmeier, outgoing president installed the following officers: president, Mrs. Don Johnson; vice-president, Mrs. Andy Moore; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Johnson; recording secretary, Mrs. Melvin Lockney; treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth Hollingsworth; and extension officer, Mrs. David LePage.

Mrs. Vogelsmeier and Mrs. Johnson presented a program titled "The Printed Word," and members voted unanimously to support the proposition to issue general obligation bonds for Sweet Springs in the amount of $70,000 for the purpose of acquiring a site and improving the public park and constructing and equiping a swimming pool. Citizens will vote on this bond issue May 26, it was reported.

Hostesses were Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Donald Leach.

Carla Dumsday Is Bride Of Dale Edward Brandes

(Democrat-Capital Service)

CALIFORNIA — Repeating wedding vows before the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here Saturday were Miss Carla Sue Dumsday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dumsday Sr., California, and Dale Edward Brandes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brandes, Lone Elm.

MRS. DALE EDWARD BRANDES
Miss Carla Sue Dumsday

The Rev. Martin Hofman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white mums and pompon mums. Mrs. Jerry Vieth was the organist. The vocalist was Mrs. Don Howren.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a silk organza dress with a square neck, bishop sleeves, empire waist and softly gathered full skirt. The bodice was highlighted by lace lattice work and the detachable train was topped with two small bows. She carried red and white sweetheart roses with black ivy and a black orchid was in the center of the bouquet with ivy and white roses cascading in front.

Mrs. Jim Wissman served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Peggy Owens and Mrs. Carl Dumsday Jr., sister-in-law of the bride. All were in dresses styled similar to the bride's with black cotton boleros, full sleeves and black lace cuffs. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations, red sweetheart roses and black foliage.

Candlelighters were Miss Sherrill Dumsday, sister of the bride, and Miss Belinda Pirtle, cousin of the bride who were dressed identical to the bridesmainds with wristlets of white carnations and black trim.

Best man was Richard Brandes, brother of the groom and serving as groomsmen were Carl Dumsday Jr., brother of the bride, and Larry Rademann.

Performing the ushering duties were Dewey Dumsday, brother of the bride, David Brandes, brother of the groom, and Roger Pirtle, cousin of the bride.

Belinda Dietzman, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She carried a black lace basket with white bows and petals and was dressed identical to the bridesmainds.

Following the ceremony a reception and dance were held at the Lion's Club Hall at Bunceton. Table decorations included a bell shaped cake with black ivy and black tulip candleholders holding white tapers.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Ernie Rohr, aunt of the groom, Mrs. Ronnie Flatt, Mrs. Ben Tindle and Mrs. Jim Fisher.

Presiding at the guest book were Mrs. Ronnie Kloeppel and Miss Marjorie Long. At the gift table were Mrs. Steve Beatty and Miss LaVerne Naumann.

For traveling on a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a white knit empire dress with black lace trim around the neckline, hem, armholes and bodice and white accessories. Her corsage was a black orchid with white ribbon lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Jefferson City where the bride is employed by the Non-Teacher School Employee Retirement System of Missouri and the groom works for Chesebrough Ponds Co.

Report Pandas Opposite

WASHINGTON (AP) — If opposites attract one another, Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing should get along famously when they finally meet.

"They're as different as night and day," says Larry Collins, zoologist who cares for the two gift pandas from China. "She's an extrovert and he's an introvert."

Ling-Ling, the female, likes to charge her keepers whenever they enter her cage at National Zoo, Collins said. Hsing-Hsing, the male, just retreats quietly into a corner.

"He's kinda shy while she's the rough-and-ready type," he said.

Thousands of persons have trekked through the panda house since the rare animals arrived almost a month ago from Peking.

However, many visitors fail to glimpse the pandas because they spend much of their time napping in darkened cubicles out of sight of spectators.

The tractable Hsing-Hsing keeps a clean cage, said Collins, but rambunctious Ling-Ling likes to make a mess.

"She tears bamboo out of the pots so that we have to replace it every few days," Collins said. "We've never had to replace Hsing-Hsing's."

The pandas probably will be introduced to one another when the garden adjoining their cages is completed and they can go outside. They'll be weighed then, too.

MRS. EDWARD E. LOBDELL JR.
Miss Alice Elaine Brandt

Brandt-Lobdell Exchange Vows

STOVER — St. Paul's Lutheran Church here was the scene of the wedding of Miss Alice Elaine Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brandt, Stover, and Mr. Edward E. Lobdell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lobdell Sr., Shawnee, Kan., May 7.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Channing Miller before an altar setting of yellow and white gladioli and daisies, pyramid candelabra decorated with greenery and satin bows. Two large emerald palms completed the setting and satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of white organza with a bodice of re-embroidered lace. Pearls trimmed the lace ruffled collar, empire waist and tiered, puffed sleeves. Matching lace accented the hemline of the skirt that swept into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a pearl-trimmed lace headband and she carried a cascade of pale yellow cymbidium orchids and stephanotis tied with lace streamers.

Mrs. James Shultz served her sister as matron of honor, and wore a gown of orange chiffon. Shirring trimmed the bodice with a jabot and accented the juliet look in the leg-o-mutton sleeves. She wore a double bow of orange in her hair and carried a basket of yellow and white spring flowers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Knox and Mrs. Eileen Solomon. Their maize colored gowns were designed identical to that of the matron of honor and they wore matching bows in their hair and carried baskets of spring flowers.

Flower girls were Lisa Shultz, niece of the bride, and Kimberly Lovett, niece of the groom. Their gowns matched the matron of honor's and they scattered yellow rose petals from baskets decorated in yellow.

The groom was attended by William Knox as best man and groomsmen were James Shultz and John Wadley. Master Danny Shultz carried the rings to the altar and ushers were Richard Scales, Eldon Eckhoff, Tom Lovett and Kim Larson.

Candlelighters were Rick Brandt, brother of the bride, and Joe Moore, nephew of the groom.

Mrs. Terry Lafrentz was organist and accompanied vocalist Dale Grunewald.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors. The bride's table was covered with bouffant tulle and a garland of smilax. It was centered with the four-tiered wedding cake and two epergnes of yellow pompons and gypsophila holding lighted tapers flanked it.

Mrs. Janet Lovett presided at the guest book and Mrs. Lewis Wagner and Mrs. Roland Kerksick were at the gift table.

Mrs. Chester Coolidge presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Agnes Fischer was at the coffee service. Assisting in serving the cake were Miss Rita Dale, Miss Julie Case, Miss Lora Grunewald and Miss Jennifer Hoffa.

For her going away trip to Hawaii the bride wore a light blue three-piece suit and navy accessories. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid lifted from her bridal cascade.

Both are employed at General Motors Acceptance Corp. in Kansas City and they will reside in Raytown.

Hall-Harrison Wed

LaMonte Methodist Church was the scene of the April 28 wedding of Miss Marylin Adine Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Hall, 1220 South Ohio, to Pvt. Robert Martin Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Harrison, 2407 East 10th.

The Rev. Jack R. Shipman performed the evening wedding before an altar decorated with two sprays of blue carnations and white gladioli and Miss Debbie Williams was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin and lace gown with puffed long sleeves and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Debbie Meek who wore a baby blue floor length gown with an empire waist and ruffled sleeves. She carried a daisy nosegay with blue streamers.

Niece of the groom, Michell Butts was the flower girl and she was dressed identical to the maid of honor and carried a lace flower basket with blue and white carnation petals.

Best man was Michael Harrison, brother of the groom and serving as ushers and candlelighters were Clifford Hall, brother of the bride, and Gordon Adair.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church where Mrs. Michael Harrison and Miss Dianna Simmons served refreshments.

In charge of the guest book was Miss Judy Simmons, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Anna Briggs, cousin of the bride, attended the gift table.

For traveling on a wedding trip to St. Louis and Six Flags, the bride chose a white linen jumper with a lilac blouse. Her corsage was daisies with lilac ribbons.

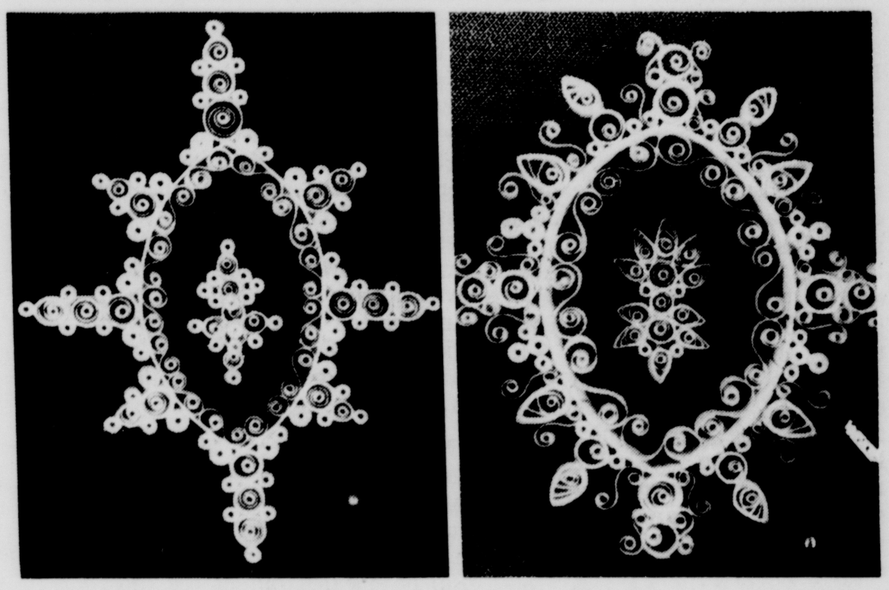
Quilling Revives Ancient Art



Quillwork Designs

A tiny pearl is Mrs. Alice Yahn's signature for her quillwork designs, made up of tiny coils of paper in delicate arrangements. An instruction sheet for this fascinating old craft is available to readers of this newspaper.
(NEA)

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Are you looking for a new kind of craft? Try your hand at quilling — the latest of the great-grandmother skills to be revived for today's handworkers.

Quilling is a technique for making intricate, lacy designs from narrow strips of paper which have been tightly rolled around a quill pen — hence, the name. Today, the strips are wound around a corsage pin, a toothpick or even a knitting needle.

Quilling is believed to have been originated by 13th century nuns in Europe, to simulate expensive carved ivory. It became so popular in the 17th century that young ladies were given lessons in the craft, and fine examples exist in several museums.

The basic quilling form is made by wrapping a 1/8-inch strip of paper tightly around a corsage pin, and fastening with a drop of glue. With a little practice, it's possible to make the coils tight or loose, to pinch one end for a flower petal shape or both ends for a diamond shape; to form stars, hearts, leaves and various kinds of scrolls. Once a supply of coils has been made up, they are arranged in an attractive design and glued to a wood or fabric background.

You can make all kinds of quilled designs, either abstract or realistic, and frame them for decorations.

One of the most enthusiastic quilling experts is Mrs. Alice Yahn of Prairie Creek, Ark. She has exhibited her work at the War Eagle Arts and Crafts Festival near Rogers, Ark., and her pieces have sold out almost instantly. She considers each work a "little gem," and uses a small pearl as her signature.

By studying Mrs. Yahn's technique, we've been able to work up an instruction sheet for making quilling designs, which is available exclusively to readers of this newspaper. If you're running next fall's church bazaar, if you're on the lookout for a new craft technique, if you work with groups such as Girl Scouts, this is a revival worth investigating. The technique takes a little practice, but the cost of materials is virtually nothing.

If you'd like to try your hand at quilling, just send 60 cents to Stitchin' Time, c-o this newspaper, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for Quilling Pattern No. 5565, and be sure to include your own name, address and zip code. Try it — you'll like it!

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

The Sedalia Capital

Published at Sedalia, Missouri, by The Sedalia Democrat Company

K. U. LOVE, Publisher — Sunday, May 14, 1972 — F. D. KNEIBERT, Editor

Quality Education Is Voters' Choice

A recent editorial in The Sedalia Democrat stated that the people of Sedalia were getting the quality education they are paying for. Sedalians have voted down a proposed increase in the school tax levy that would provide for operation and maintenance for the new Junior High, establish public kindergartens, reduce overcrowded conditions at Smith-Cotton, and help the school system get back AAA rating.

However, none of these objectives will be met. And it is a step that might prove to be hazardous for the students. But let's consider what this will mean to Smith-Cotton.

Early in the year, it was hoped that if the levy passed, new courses could be added to the curriculum such as vocational-technical training. Now there will be no such courses until we get an increased levy. The Junior High will be taking nine teachers from S-C. Passage of the levy would have enabled S-C to hire replacements for those nine. As a result of the levy's defeat, the staff will remain nine short, thus increasing class sizes. Class sizes are a problem now, one which is going to be even more of a problem.

As well, we cannot regain our AAA rating. However, there is one consequence even more frightening than all the other problems to be encountered—that is the very real possibility that Smith-Cotton will lose its NCA accreditation, something this school has had since 1928. Some of the reasons stated were overcrowded classrooms, lack of enough guidance counselors, and teacher load.

The NCA accreditation is not like the AAA rating and should not be taken lightly. If we lose it, students will have trouble getting into college of their choice. There will be doubt as to whether S-C can offer a quality education.

It seems unreal that Sedalians would want the young people of the community to go to an overcrowded high school, with an outdated and somewhat lacking a curriculum, all supported by the lowest tax levy in the state for cities over 5,000. That levy is not something to be proud of. Sure, taxes are high but no one ever got an education for nothing. It all costs money.

Why build a brand new Junior High, and then vote not to operate it? Is it because some people felt they weren't informed about every detail? If so, then the students who seriously want a good education have to suffer over such a silly, petty complaint. Does it seem real that in a town the size of Sedalia that in order for a child to go to kindergarten it must be a private one? What about the people who can't afford to send their children to a private kindergarten?

No one likes to pay high taxes, but one thing is for sure—they're not going to get any lower. Why must the students, who now need an education more than anything else, be cheated out of the most important phase of their lives? Why do the future voters and leaders have to have the same educational instruction their parents had? Times change and so does education. And to keep education in step with the rest of the world it takes money.

On May 16, the levy will be brought up again for approval. Sedalia School District No. 200 will be in a very sad shape if the members of the community keep it in the Dark Ages.

Edit Viet Reports To Give Rosy Tint

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is again releasing selective information from his secret advices in an attempt to manage the Vietnam news.

He has taken excerpts out of context which give a misleading impression of Vietnam developments.

The White House has spread the word, for example, that the mining of Haiphong harbor will affect the fighting in Vietnam within two or three weeks. Sources with access to the secret estimates flatly dispute this. Although the predictions vary, most estimates warn that Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the fabulous North Vietnamese commander, has enough men and material at the fighting fronts to last three to four months.

The secret reports express grudging admiration for Giap's genius at moving supplies under hazardous, almost impossible conditions. The American high command still can't figure out how he moved Soviet tanks, heavy artillery and antiaircraft missiles into South Vietnam without American planes spotting and destroying them.

In any case, the intelligence reports claim only about one-third of the Soviet equipment reaches North Vietnam by ship. Our most massive bombing has also failed to halt the flow of enemy armaments over the land supply routes. The secret consensus, therefore, is that the President's drastic actions in the North will have only a minimal effect on the fighting in the South.

Earlier, the President quoted Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander in Saigon, as saying the South Vietnamese army was fighting courageously and well. Sources with access to Abrams' secret reports tell us this message was taken out of context. Actually, Abrams had raised grave questions about the South Vietnamese military leadership, battle tactics and dependence on air support.

The Abrams message, which the President quoted, intended to convey in its full context only that the South Vietnamese were fighting better than the general had expected.

The President's foreign policy czar, Henry Kissinger, has also told the press that Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev led him to believe in Moscow that a Vietnamese settlement would come from renewed negotiations.

Sources with access to the full text of the Kissinger-Brezhnev talks agree that the Soviet leader encouraged the United States to renew negotiations. But Brezhnev was emphatic in declaring that the Soviet Union would not intervene to arrange a settlement and would not decrease its arms shipments to North Vietnam. Brezhnev suggested only that the Vietnamese war need not jeopardize Russian-American relations.

Clearly, the President, in taking the American people into his confidence about the Vietnamese war, is playing the old game of pick-and-choose.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), which is supposed to guard the public against corporate conniving, has joined the connivers in a multimillion-dollar case.

The commission has shown a strange concern for the welfare of American Electric Power, the nation's largest electric holding company, which is dead determined to take over an Ohio electric company worth $500 million.

To help grease the political skids, American Electric has mobilized senators, congressmen, mayors and other influential figures. Indeed, the SEC staff has accused American Electric's lawyer lobbyist, Arvin Alexander, of soliciting letters "designed to improperly influence" the SEC proceedings.

But the commissioners seem more impressed with a corporate giant and its political allies than with their own staff. For example, the commissioners, headed by Chairman William Casey, have sided with American Electric in its efforts to bypass the staff hearing examiner, Irving Schiller.

Although Schiller has worked four years on the case, the commissioners notified him in a blunt, one-page memo that they want to take the case away from him and decide it themselves. The bold Schiller, however, is resisting.

An SEC staff team, headed by gruff, grizzled Sol Freedman, has also fought in behalf of the consumers against the American Electric takeover. The staff accused the company of "unwholesome and retaliatory actions ... aimed at a witness."

But the commissioners killed subpoenaes designed to get the truth of these charges.

From our own sources and 30,000 pages of official evidence, we have discovered a variety of pressure tactics used by American Electric. Consider these examples.

✓ We found a 1969 letter from Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus, Ohio, suggesting that then-Senator Stephen Young, D-O., approach "the staff or members of the SEC" to help swing the deal for American Electric.

✓ Sen. Robert Taft, R-O., asked acting Attorney General Richard Kleindienst to intervene in behalf of American Electric. This awkward request was made while Kleindienst was under Senate fire for intervening in the ITT case. The embattled Kleindienst refused to help the corporate utility.

✓ American Electric fired Prof. James Nelson, who had been retained by the company as a lecturer, after he testified against the takeover. Ironically Nelson was going to teach the corporate executives about public utilities regulations.

Meanwhile, American Electric has come up with a dubious settlement offer. Even if it is accepted, the settlement could require further lengthy hearings at the SEC.

Footnote: It is worth mentioning that Don Cook, American Electric's president and chairman, once served as chairman of the SEC which now seems so eager to help his company.

Cook was out of the country and couldn't be reached. His executive vice president, Herbert Cohn, denied that there had been any improper pressures in the SEC proceedings. He declared: "If you talk with anyone in the area (served by the Ohio company) — press, chamber of commerce, political officials — you'll find that they are very interested in bringing American Electric Power in. They think it would be in the best interests of the area."

Mother's Problems

It isn't just preparing food
For all of her little brood,
Her greatest task is being able
To get them all down at the table,
Her family is so involved,
One mother thinks her problem's solved,
She's going to serve, she doesn't care,
At a time the most are there,
If it's only 4 o'clock, why then
She plans to serve her meal when
The most of them at the minute
Are somewhere near the house, or in it,
The thing she'll do is just prepare
The food and serve when most are there,
She'll just count noses, then seat
The ones present down to eat,
Each has a time that they must go
Somewhere, but how is mom to know,
A mother's life is quite a trial
She goes in circles all the while Trying to keep her family going
Trying to guess and never knowing,
Trying to keep them clean and fed,
Trying to get them off to bed
Busy schedules — every one,
Really keep her on the run,
But today's the day the family stops
Long enough to say: "Mom, you're tops."

Absentee Senators A Concern

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON — Sen. Marlow W. Cook (R-Ky.) has recently asked for hearings on Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's proposal for a constitutional amendment which would expel members from the Congress who maintain less than 60 per cent attendance on roll call votes. As co-sponsor of the Smith proposal and a member of the Constitutional Amendment Committee, Senator Cook stated that the public has a growing concern that its elected representatives tend to their business and that it is time for the Congress to explore the various means to achieve this goal.

Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) is the lone woman. The divorce rate is increasing.

The opera, Shakespeare and youth are currently featured at the Kennedy Center. It is a joy to have some familiar operas like Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" and "La Boheme" and Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," as well as a few experimental ones.

Richard Chamberlain (Dr. Kildare of TV fame) has again turned his talents to Shakespeare, and is playing to sold-out performances in the very sad Richard II play.

The subscription season is finished but musical youth has begun swarming to the Center. Selected young performers will appear in orchestras and choruses. Youth performances are also scheduled at the National Cathedral, Constitution Hall, Library of Congress and in all the area universities. Youth will come to hear youth. Parents will come to hear their young in concerts from Bach to rock.

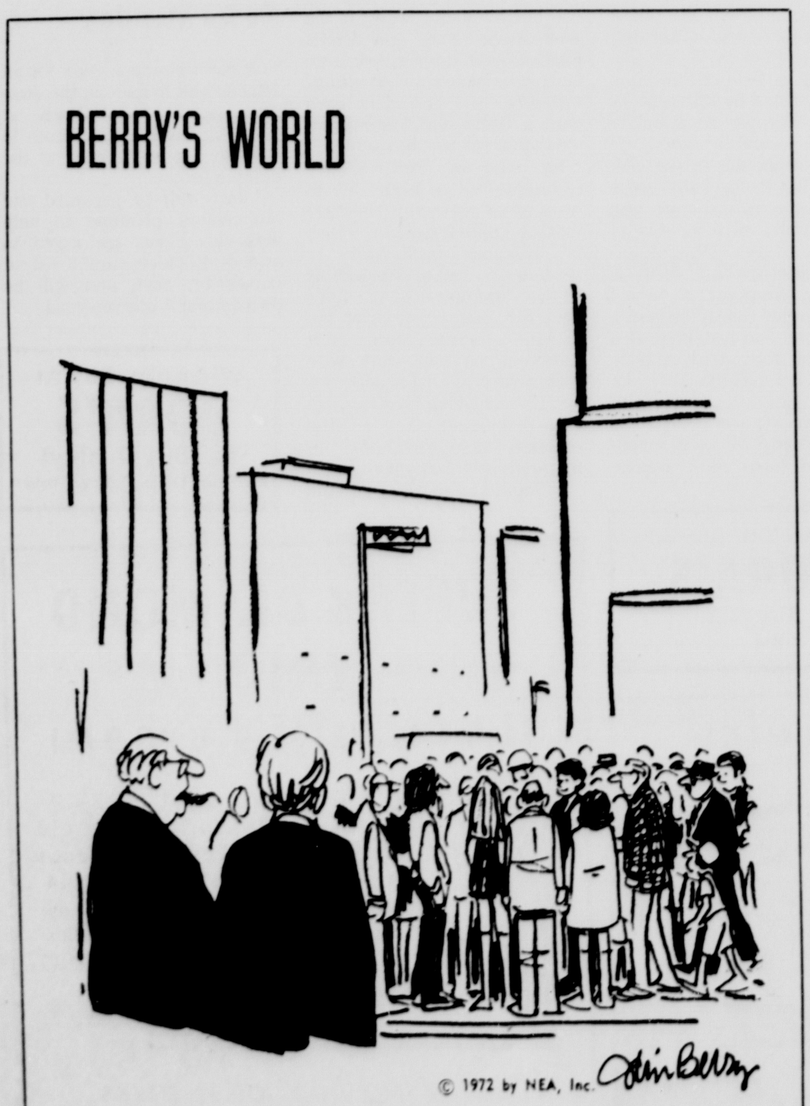
An area minister is solving some of the problems of his dwindling and aging congregation by making full use of the building. In the beautiful modern church, there are two separate pre-school classes, a ballet class, and YWCA "slimatics" group. Citizens associations and garden clubs hold their monthly meetings there. All pay rent or give an honorarium. The Boy Scouts help keep the grounds beautiful.

He has also become the patron (Presbyterian) saint of two nearby high schools. He invited them to hold several meetings there because of the well-equipped kitchen and the excellent acoustics. His only requisite was that he trusted them to be responsible. Another church told them they had to have parental supervision and police guards. He was not disappointed. Nothing was broken and the students left everything in order.



"Maybe Ted Kennedy is having a tough time convincing people that he's not a candidate, and THAT'S why he's making public appearances and speeches from coast to coast."

For or Against Youth?

In writing this letter, I am pleading with the citizens of Sedalia School District No. 200 to realize the needs and cries of its youth for a better education. The students of [illegible] community are dependent upon you, its citizens, for a quality education which will later equip them for society. When confronted with the opportunity of helping the young people of this community, will you the voters say no by voting against the school levy?

If so, surely you are not considering all the facets of this issue. For no one would question the importance of the education and pre-training provided by a kindergarten. Yet, if you vote negatively, you will be robbing many; many Sedalia children of a vital part of their educational career.

Likewise, a negative vote means that you are refusing to allow a program of vocational and technical training to be provided. There are many students in this community begging for vocational-technical classes, and this dream for them could come true if you, the voters, would permit it by supporting the levy.

No longer is this school levy passage choice, for Sedalia schools have been told they will lose their accreditation (North (Central) if present conditions — mainly that of over-crowdedness — persist.

Would you, the citizens of Sedalia, allow your schools to be discredited, and your children and the youth of this community to receive an inferior education that would certainly not be recognized by top-notch colleges and other centers of learning? Many citizens of the Sedalia area are beginning to wonder why so vast a number of its young people leave — could this be the reason? Maybe they realize the conditions of the Sedalia school system — and know that this will NOT suffice for their children.

It's up to you, citizens of District No. 22. You are either for or against the students and youth of this community. This is your chance to show the youth of this community that you do care!

An interested student.

Florence Nightingale, at the age of 17 in 1837, heard the voice of God calling her to service, like Joan of Arc, and, in 1844, dedicated herself to nursing the sick.

"Yellow journalism," describing newspapers in the 1890s, originated with a comic picture series called "The Yellow Kid," which was run alternately by competing New York newspapers.

'Duty, Honor, Country': MacArthur 10 Years Later

Editor's Note: Ten years ago, on May 12, 1962, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur delivered his farewell speech to the U.S. Military Academy, West Point. In observance of this anniversary, and because we believe the speech to be one of the greatest and most eloquent ever delivered by an American, it is reprinted below. The speech was originally published exclusively in the National Observer of May 20, 1962.

No human being could fail to be deeply moved by such a tribute as this, coming from a profession I have served so long and a people I have loved so well. It fills me with an emotion I cannot express. But this award is not intended primarily for a personality, but to symbolize a great moral code — the code of conduct and chivalry of those who guard this beloved land of culture and ancient descent.

Duty, honor, country: Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you want to be, what you can be, what you will be. They are your rallying point to build courage when courage seems to fail, to regain faith when there seems to be little cause for faith, to create hope when hope becomes forlorn.

Unhappily, I possess neither that eloquence of diction, that poetry of imagination, nor that brilliance of metaphor to tell you all that they mean.

The unbelievers will say they are but words, but a slogan, but a flamboyant phrase. Every pedant, every demagogue, every cynic, every hypocrite, every troublemaker, and, I am sorry to say, some others of an entirely different character, will try to downgrade them even to the extent of mockery and ridicule.

But these are some of the things they build. They build your basic character. They mold you for your future roles as the custodians of the nation's defense. They make you strong enough to know when you are weak, and brave enough to face yourself when you are afraid.

They teach you to be proud and unbending in honest failure, but humble and gentle in success; not to substitute words for action; not to seek the path of comfort, but to face the stress and spur of difficulty and challenge; to learn to stand up in the storm, but to have compassion on those who fall; to master yourself before you seek to master others; to have a heart that is clean, a goal that is high; to learn to laugh, yet never forget how to weep; to reach into the future, yet never neglect the past; to be serious, yet never take yourself too seriously; to be modest so that you will remember the simplicity of true greatness; the open mind of true wisdom, the meekness of true strength.

They give you a temperate will, a quality of imagination, a vigor of the emotions, a freshness of the deep springs of life, a temperamental predominance of courage over timidity, an appetite for adventure over love of ease.

They create in your heart the sense of wonder, the unfailing hope of what next, and the joy and inspiration of life. They teach you in this way to be an officer and a gentleman.

And what sort of soldiers are those you are to lead? Are they reliable? Are they brave? Are they capable of victory?

The Man at Arms

Their story is known to all of you. It is the story of the American man at arms. My estimate of him was formed on the battlefields many, many years ago, and has never changed. I regarded him then, as I regard him now, as one of the world's noblest figures; not only as one of the finest military characters, but also as one of the most stainless.

His name and fame are the birthright of every American citizen. In his youth and strength, his love and loyalty, he gave all that mortality can give. He needs no eulogy from me, or from any other man. He has written his own history and written it in red on his enemy's breast....

In 20 campaigns, on a hundred battlefields, around a thousand camp fires, I have witnessed that enduring fortitude, that patriotic self-abnegation, and that invincible determination which have carved his statue in the hearts of his people.

From one end of the world to the other, he has drained deep the chalice of courage. As I listened to those songs in memory's eye I could see those staggering columns of the first World War, bending under soggy packs on many a weary march, from dripping dusk to drizzling dawn, slogging ankle deep through mire of shell-pocked roads; to form grimly for the attack, blue-lipped, covered with sludge and mud, chilled by the wind and rain, driving home to their objective, and for many, to the judgment seat of God....

GENERAL OF THE ARMY
DOUGLAS MacARTHUR
1880 - 1964

I do not know the dignity of their birth, but I do know the glory of their death. They died unquestioning, uncomplaining, with faith in their hearts, and on their lips the hope that we would go on to victory.

Always for them: Duty, honor, country. Always their blood, and sweat, and tears, as they saw the way and the light. And 20 years after, on the other side of the globe, again the filth of dirty foxholes, the stench of ghostly trenches, the slime of dripping dugouts, those boiling suns of the relentless heat, those torrential rains of devastating storms, the loneliness and utter desolation of jungle trails, the bitterness of long separation of those they loved and cherished, the deadly pestilence of tropical disease, the horror of stricken areas of war.

Their resolute and determined defense, their swift and sure attack, their indomitable purpose, their complete and decisive victory — always victory, always through the bloody haze of their last reverberating shot, the vision of gaunt, ghastly men, reverently following your password of duty, honor, country....

You now face a new world, a world of change. The thrust into outer space of the satellite spheres and missiles marks a beginning of another epoch in the long story of mankind. In the five or more billions of years the scientists tell us it has taken to form the earth, in the three or more billion years of development of the human race, there has never been a more abrupt or staggering evolution.

We deal now, not with things of this world alone, but with the illimitable distances and yet unfathomed mysteries of the universe. We are reaching out for a new and boundless frontier. We speak in strange terms of harnessing the cosmic energy, of making winds and tides work for us...of the primary target in war, no longer limited to the armed forces of an enemy, but instead to include his civil population; of ultimate conflicts between a united human race and the sinister forces of some other planetary galaxy; such dreams and fantasies as to make life the most exciting of all times.

Mission Is Victory

And through all this welter of change and development your mission remains fixed, determined, inviolable. It is to win our wars. Everything else in your professional career is but corollary to this vital dedication. All other public purposes, all other public projects, all other public needs, great or small, will find others for their accomplishments; but you are the ones who are trained to fight.

Yours is the profession of arms, the will to win, the sure knowledge that in war there is no substitute for victory, that if you lose, the nation will be destroyed, that the very obsession of your public service must be duty, honor, country.

Others will debate the controversial issues, national and international, which divide men's minds. But serene, calm, aloof, you stand as the nation's war guardians, as its lifeguards from the raging tides of international conflict, as its gladiators in the arena of battle. For a century and a half you have defended, guarded, and protected its hallowed traditions of liberty and freedom, of right and justice.

Let civilian voices argue the merits or demerits of our processes of government: Whether our strength is being sapped by deficit financing indulged in too long, by Federal paternalism grown too mighty, by power groups grown too arrogant, by politics grown too corrupt, by crime grown too rampant, by morals grown too low, by taxes grown too high, by extremists grown too violent; whether our personal liberties are as firm and complete as they should be.

These great national problems are not for your professional participation or military solution. Your guidepost stands out like a tenfold beacon in the night: Duty, honor, country.

You are the lever which binds together the entire fabric of our national system of defense. From your ranks come the great captains who hold the nation's destiny in their hands the moment the war tocsin sounds....

The long, gray line has never failed us. Were you to do so, a million ghosts in olive drab, in brown khaki, in blue and gray, would rise from their white crosses, thundering those magic words: Duty, honor, country.

This does not mean that you are warmongers. On the contrary, the soldier above all other people prays for peace, for he must suffer and bear the deepest wounds and scars of war. But always in our ears ring the ominous words of Plato, that wisest of all philosophers: "Only the dead have seen the end of war."

The shadows are lengthening for me. The twilight is here. My days of old have vanished — tone and tints. They have gone glimmering through the dreams of things that were. Their memory is one of wonderous beauty, watered by tears and coaxed and caressed by the smiles of yesterday. I listen then, but with thirsty ear, for the witching melody of faint bugles blowing reveille, of far drums beating the long roll.

In my dreams I hear again the crash of guns, the rattle of musketry, the strange, mournful mutter of the battlefield. But in the evening of my memory I come back to West Point. Always there echoes and re-echoes: Duty, honor, country.

Today marks my final roll call with you. But I want you to know that when I cross the river, my last conscious thoughts will be of the corps, and the corps, and the corps.

I bid you farewell.

Avenues Open For Enemy

WASHINGTON (AP) — After some adjustments, Russia and Red China could get enough war materiel and food into North Vietnam by rail to make up for seaborne supplies cutoff by the U.S. mining of seven North Vietnamese ports.

That is the opinion of veteran U.S. military and civilian specialists who also believe the Soviet air-transport system is inadequate to handle a massive long-range heavy-cargo airlift to North Vietnam on a sustained basis.

"The mining will not be enough to tighten the screws so much that the North Vietnamese cannot carry on their campaign in South Vietnam," one analyst said.

These specialists obviously are much less optimistic than top government officials such as Adm. Elmo Zumwalt Jr., Chief of Naval Operations, who forecast Thursday that "the input of supplies ... will be a trickle from now on."

Along with the mining of North Vietnamese ports, President Nixon has ordered that "rail and all other communications will be cut off to the maximum extent possible."

But, despite intensified U.S. bombing of North Vietnam's rail lines and yards, government analysts said the North Vietnamese showed during the 1965-68 bombing campaign that they were resourceful in getting train cargoes through, although many were destroyed.

In the more than three years that North Vietnam was free of heavy bombing, engineers and laborers greatly expanded North Vietnam's transportation system.

"Redundancy is the key," an American specialist said. "Where there used to be one bridge, there now sometimes are three. Where there used to be one road, there may be five. They use pontoon bridges and ferries."

According to American experts, the Communists take account of the loss factor when they send through supplies. Thus, officials said, if the North Vietnamese want to get two tons through, they actually move about five tons and write off the balance.

Russia, East European Communist countries and Red China have been shipping about 200,000 tons of supplies a month to North Vietnam by sea, and another 22,000 tons by rail. It is easier and cheaper to send bulk cargo such as petroleum products and food by ship than overland.

But the American specialists say there are enough Chinese railroad cars to handle the load entirely. However, it will be much more difficult, in part because cargo must be shifted from Soviet trains to Chinese trains running on narrower gauge track.

Despite serious political differences, the Russians and the Communist Chinese have been cooperating in moving Soviet materiel through China to North Vietnam. American officials expect this to continue.

Oil, gasoline and lubricants are among the most vital products that have been coming into North Vietnam by sea, along with trucks, ammunition and major weapons. U.S. specialists estimate that the Chinese would have to divert only about 1 to 2 per cent of their railroad tank cars to move the 50,000 tons of petroleum products a month being used to run the vehicles sustaining the North Vietnamese offensive.

"Air strikes or not," a senior U.S. analyst said, "the North Vietnamese have enough (petroleum) stockpiled in North Vietnam for a minimum three months of operations and they can stretch that out."

So far as weapons and ammunition are concerned, specialists say the North Vietnamese have stockpiled enough supplies in the area above the demilitarized zone and in Laos to keep going for some time. They declined to give an estimate in weeks or months.

Air Force officers who keep close tabs on Soviet military airlift developments say that the Russian air-transport fleet probably would be used only to carry what they described as "high-value low-bulk items," such as spare parts, to North Vietnam.

They said that in order to sustain a long-range airlift between Russia and North Vietnam, an elaborate system of maintenance, logistics and other support facilities would have to be set up along the route.

There are also serious problems facing any Soviet airlift at the receiving end in North Vietnam.

Six of North Vietnam's 13 air fields are capable of handling Soviet transport planes, according to U.S. assessments. However, a U.S. technician said these North Vietnamese air fields lack instrument-landing systems and, as a result, there would be serious hazards for incoming planes in bad weather and at night.

Apart from the technical problems, the Soviets might have to contend with U.S. air opposition, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has implied.

Some Pentagon officials have said rather than shoot down Soviet planes, the U.S. Air Force and Navy bombers likely would attempt to crater and otherwise damage North Vietnamese air fields so the Russians could not land.

Campus Dating Procedures Have Changed Rapidly in Recent Years

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

On today's college campuses the dating game is dead.

More than 150 interviews on a dozen campuses across the country—with students, faculty members, administrators, physicians, psychiatrists and sociologists—disclose that young people generally are rejecting the rituals of dating as artificial, impractical and strained.

The young see themselves engaged in a search for more meaningful friendships in which men and women celebrate each other for their ideas and thoughtfulness instead of their money, manners, family and good looks.

Liz, Sherri and Ted have never met, but they agree on the demise of dating.

Sherri, a sophomore at the University of Michigan, says her idea of a good time is to invite a few friends to sprawl on the waterbed in her room, listen to music, eat crunchy food and smoke pot.

Liz, a junior at Boston University, has been living off campus with her boy friend for almost a year. They have no plans to marry, and she keeps her own room on campus so her parents don't find out about the arrangement. When Liz and Pete go out, usually to a movie, they go dutch-treat.

"My ideas toward girls have changed," said Ted Benoit, a Harvard sophomore. "Oow I like to talk to a girl to share ideas. I feel no qualms about treating her as an equal. That's why the traditional dating situation is losing ground. It implies inequality."

Sherri agreed. "I never liked the concept of dating anyway. I used to worry whether he'd kiss me good night once or twice. It was ridiculous."

Liz said she began to question her ideas about dating when she was packing her bags and moving from her boy friend's apartment to her room at the dorm every Sunday night, only to return the next Friday.

"It seemed absurd," she said. "Sometimes, I feel bad about it because my parents are still paying for the room, and in our family, money doesn't come easily. But I decided it was worth the sacrifice."

Bob, a pre-med student at the University of Mississippi, is more conservative than Sherri or Liz or Ted. But his views are changing too. Bob said he was raised "to be a Southern gentleman" who always called weeks in advance for a date. A lot of girls at Ole Miss still expect it, he said, but they no longer interest him.

"We're at a pivotal point," said Bob. "It's been a long time since any change has come here. But it used to be that couples would go to the Grove to make out. Now groups gather there to listen to tapes."

For someone returning after a few years away, the changes on campus are startling.

"It blew my mind when I first got back and saw men and women buying each other rounds of beer," said Richard (Eli) Tambling, a Vietnam veteran and a freshman at Manchester Junior College.

"It's tough," he said. "There aren't as many parties. You have to get out and hack it by yourself.

"But it's a good thing. There aren't the old vehicles to rely on. In the past, what many girls enjoyed were the times a boy showed her, not the buy himself."

Other things changed while "Eli" was away. Status now is owning a good stereo. Marijuana, in many places, is commonplace.

Stroll through dormitories in Cambridge, Mass., Ann Arbor, Mich., Storrs, Conn., and Chapel Hill, N.C., and you'll find single beds pushed together to make a double, aftershave lotion on the same shelf with perfumes, and the odor of marijuana hanging in the air.

At more conservative schools—in Liberty, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., and Oxford, Miss.—the changes aren't as sweeping, but they're there. The Big Weekend and beer-drenched fraternity parties still exist, but they appear to be on the wane—unhip, uncool.

At Ole Miss, things appear much the same on the surface. A dark-haired junior named Tish said she never leaves the dorm without her boy friend's fraternity pin attached to her sweater. Her room is decorated with sorority insignia, Confederate flags and pictures of herself and friends in formal attire.

But taped to her mirror hangs a hand-lettered sign: "Take Your Pill."

She is not alone.

On many campuses, student health centers provide contraceptive counseling and devices. Some have added gynecologists to their permanent staffs.

"I can't prove it from statistics, but I don't think there's been a real change in student behavior in terms of involvement with premarital sex," said Dr. Julian S. Kaiser, director of health services at the University of Connecticut. "It's just more open. They don't have to go to Lover's Lane anymore. They can go to each other's rooms."

Kaiser echoed the views of several physicians, but many students disagreed, insisting that The Pill has replaced the fraternity pin as a sign of commitment.

"From the number of calls we get, I can't believe there isn't more sexual activity on campus," said Bob Wilson, director of the student-operated Human Sexuality Counseling Service at the University of North Carolina. He said the service has received more than 1,000 calls since it opened last October.

A big student worry is not so much, "What will my parents do?" but, "What will they think?"

"I'd like my parents to know," said one freckle-faced sophomore who sleeps with her boy friend every weekend. "I love him, and I'd like it to be open. But they don't ask. They take the attitude, 'What I don't know won't hurt me.'

"I want to be a lawyer. I don't want complete responsibility for the house. And I don't want to jump into marriage the way a lot of people do just to legalize sex."

Women from Harvard's sister college, Radcliffe, have recently been allowed to live in Harvard housing.

One Radcliffe woman was assigned to her fiance's dorm. They live in her room and use his as a study. For the times when their parents call, they have rigged a telephone line to go out her window, twine through the ivy along a trench they dug, up through the ivy on his side of the building into his window. Now the phone rings simultaneously in both rooms.

Many college officials know students are breaking rules but only wink at it. At a small college outside Boston, the assistant dean of women is living with the dean of men.

"We walk to work together. We go home for lunch. Most of my co-workers know, but I'd sure hate the trustees to find out," she said. Asked if she would discipline male and female students for living together, she shook her head no.

Many colleges and universities have relaxed their rules, making it easier for men and women to see each other on a daily—and nightly—basis. Curfews have been abolished at a growing number of schools, including Smith College in Northampton, Mass., Colby Junior College in New London, N.H., and the University of Miami.

The Association of College and University Housing Officers reports that 70 per cent of the nation's residential campuses have coeducational living quarters. At Harvard, Boston University and the University of Michigan, men and women can choose to live on the same floor in select dorms.

"It's like a big family," said Dennis Burdziak, a junior at the University of Michigan who dates several girls but no one on his floor.

"It would be like taking out your sister."

According to the university's housing information director, John Finn, an advantage to this coed arrangement is that many women students say they feel more secure having males around to protect them from prowlers. Almost all rooms on the coeducational floors are full.

But at Memphis State, one coed dorm stands empty and the other is only 75 per cent full.

"The girls I talk to don't even want open visitation," said Carole Taylor, a resident adviser in a girls dorm at Memphis State. "They don't want to have to get all dressed to go to the shower."

Carole, a 25-year-old graduate student, said it doesn't bother her that she can't entertain men in her room. "I don't run around in my makeup all the time, and I don't want to break any illusions."

Off-campus apartment complexes are flourishing near the larger schools. In a shabby boarding house in Cambridge, two Harvard students share four rooms with a Radcliffe coed named Pat. They each pay $72 a month for rent and about $5 a week for food.

"When I lived in a dorm," Pat said, "men would call up and ask for anyone who didn't have a date. It was really artificial. I'm down on that kind of romantic life. I prefer to be with a lot of people who really care about me."

The traditional off-campus living quarters, fraternity and sorority houses, appear to be losing their appeal. At the University of Michigan, five fraternity houses are up for sale. The University of Connecticut had 20 fraternities four years ago. Five remain. There were seven sororities, now there are three.

John Vibert, president of the University of Connecticut Interfraternity Council, complained that the losses "have destroyed social life" on campus. But at the University of North Carolina, where the number of men pledging fraternities this spring dropped 25 per cent from last year, rush chairman Bill Griffin said:

"Fraternities aren't needed as social organizations anymore. We're going to see an emergence of fraternity life again, but it will be more oriented toward solving community and campus problems.

"When I was a freshman, at least a third of my brothers dated every night. Girls were impressed with fraternity status, the environment, the bands. You don't see that anymore."

What one finds now are small groups gathering in dormitory rooms and apartments, openly questioning traditional ideas of dating, love, marriage and careers.

"I used to look at dating as a social means to an end," said Muff Winter, a senior at Radcliffe. "Marriage—settling down—was the goal. Now, seeing that I can have a career makes me look at men in a different sense.

Marriage also was the primary goal of Nancy Brenneman, a junior at William Jewell College, a small, Baptist school in Liberty, Mo. "When I started school, I thought I'd go for a couple of years and get married," she said.

Nancy still plans to marry, but now she wants to finish school and teach. Not a radical change, but one she hadn't considered a few years ago.

New Coed Outlook

Nancy Brenneman, left, is a junior and Marty Dischinger a senior at William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo. When Nancy came to college her primary goal was marriage. Her ideas have changed, reflecting a general change in young attitudes to dating and marriage. She still wears her promise ring. But now she wants to finish school and teach. And if her boyfriend can't afford the cinema, she offers to pay. (AP)

An Open Letter to the Patrons and Voters of Sedalia School District #200

We, as members of the Board of Education, have spent many long hours studying the problems confronting our schools. We have pondered over the possible solutions to these problems, both collectively and as individuals.

After considerable deliberation, we are unanimous in our belief that the increase in the levy we are asking the people to vote is entirely justified and is the minimum required to solve our problems.

We believe that the children of Sedalia are as fine as any children in any other city and we believe that they deserve just as good an education as any children found anywhere.

We believe that these children are entitled to (1) a free public kindergarten, (2) classes that are at least the size of the average classes in the state, (3) an expanded Vocational Technical Educational Program for those who do not plan to attend college, (4) a school system that is accredited by the North Central Association and rated AAA by the State Department of Education.

We believe that the people of Sedalia School District #200 owe the children of the district a good quality education.

We know that without the increase in levy, these things cannot be done and the children will be penalized.

We urge you to prove to our children that we do care about them by voting for the levy.

Ferraro's 2-Out Hit Sparks Brewer Win

ST. PAUL—MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mike Ferraro's run-scoring single with two out in the 22nd inning gave the Milwaukee Brewers a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday in the completion of a game suspended Friday night after 21 innings.

The regularly scheduled game then went 15 innings, setting an American League record for most innings in two consecutive overtime games by the same teams, with the Twins winning 5-4 on Eric Soderholm's two-out, two-run homer after Ferraro put the Brewers in front in the top of the 15th with his first major-league home run.

The 37 innings—in less than 24 hours—wiped out the old AL mark of 36 set by the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox on July 12-13, 1951. The major-league mark for the most innings in two consecutive games by the same teams is 40 by the Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs on May 14 and 17, 1927.

Although the final inning of Friday night's game was played Saturday afternoon, the 22 innings matched the longest night game in American League history and was only two short of the major-league night mark. The longest game ever played was 26 innings, a 1-1 tie between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves on May 1, 1920.

Both teams sent their regularly scheduled starters to the mound in the suspended game, Bert Blyleven for Minnesota and Jim Lonborg for Milwaukee.

Ron Theobald led off for the Brewers with a bouncing single up the middle and Dave May sacrificed. After Bob Heise popped out, George Scott was purposely passed, but Ferraro slashed his hit off Carew's glove into center field as Theobald raced home.

The Brewers had tied the game 3-3 in the seventh inning Friday night on Tommy Reynolds' pinch two-run single off Dave LaRoche after starter Dick Woodson loaded the bases.

The Twins had broken a 1-1 deadlock in the fifth off starter Bill Parsons on Carew's run-scoring single and a bases-loaded walk to Bobby Darwin.

After the seventh—relievers Earl Stephenson, Ken Sanders, Frank Linzy and Jim Colborn for Milwaukee and LaRoche, Wayne Granger, Ray Corbin, Bob Gebhard and Tom Norton for Minnesota—matched scoreless innings until Blyleven and Lonborg took over in the 22nd.

Soderholm broke up the regularly scheduled contest with his first home run of the season after Jim Nettles drew a two-out walk from reliever Jim Slaton.

Milwaukee tied the game in the eighth as pinch-hitter Dave May opened with an infield single, took second on a sacrifice, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Bob Heise's grounder. Third baseman Soderholm had a chance for May at the plate but bobbled the ball.

George Scott's two-run homer gave Milwaukee a 2-0 first-inning lead. The Twins tied it in their half as Rod Carew's single scored Cesar Tovar from second and Rich Reese hit into a double play on which Danny Thompson scored from third.

Minnesota went ahead 3-2 in the second on Tovar's single after Soderholm had singled and moved to second on a fielder's choice.

Lolich Uses Royals To Notch 6th Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mickey Lolich became the major league's first six-game winner with a five-hitter, and Bill Freehan drove in all the runs with a single and two-run homer as the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 3-1 Saturday.

Dick Drago, 2-2, who has never defeated the Tigers, was the loser, allowing eight hits before leaving for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

The Tigers scored in the first on Al Kaline's two-out double and Freehan's single. In the third, Kaline walked with one out, and Freehan banged his second homer over the fence in left.

Lolich, who struck out nine and walked three, lost his shutout in the fourth after retiring the first nine Royals. Fred Patek tripled and scored on Cookie Rojas' pop-fly single. Lolich has lost one game.

Smith, Kennedy Star

Bosox Power Past Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — Reggie Smith's two-run homer put Boston ahead in a three-run fifth inning; and John Kennedy, who drove in five runs, delivered a three-run shot in the seventh to pace the Boston Red Sox to a 9-6 victory Saturday over the Oakland A's.

It marked the first time this season the Red Sox have won three in a row and the first time the A's have dropped that many in succession.

The A's held a 4-3 lead on Reggie Jackson's three-run homer in the first inning and Dave Duncan's RBI single in the third when the Red Sox went to work on Kent Holtzman in the fifth.

Luis Aparicio singled and Smith cracked his second home run of the season for a 5-4 Boston lead. Duane Josephson then doubled and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Kennedy.

The Red Sox had scored twice in the first on RBI singles by Josephson and Kennedy and once in the fourth on singles by Kennedy, Doug Griffin and pinch-hitter Rico Petrocelli.

In the seventh, with Joe Horlen pitching for the A's, Smith singled, Josephson walked and Kennedy unloaded his first home run of the season and his third hit of the game.

Johnson Making Changes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Alex Johnson is known as one of baseball's bad boys. But the ex-American League batting champion is trying to change that this season for the Cleveland Indians.

He was suspended by the California Angels last June after a series of run-ins with management, writers and teammates. He had been benched by Angels' Manager Lefty Phillips for lack of hustle before the suspension and charged that teammate Chico Ruiz threatened his life with a gun.

He came to the Indians in an off-season trade involving Vada Pinson and was a property that few teams except the lowly Indians wanted to gamble with.

Johnson, who blamed some of his problems of last season on writers for inaccurate accounts, still is shy of the press. Reporters who travel with the team say Johnson answers yes-and-no questions but avoids the others.

But that apparently is one of the few similarities between the Johnson of 1971 and the Johnson of 1972.

When the Indians were off Thursday, Johnson was the one regular who, strictly on his own, joined reserve players in workouts at Municipal Stadium.

"He's the other silent leader," Manager Ken Aspromonte said proudly of Johnson. He said veteran pitcher Gaylord Perry, obtained in the off-season from San Francisco, was the other quiet leader of his young squad that is fighting for the lead in the American League's East Division.

"Everybody here was watching him to see if he was going to have the same problems as before," Aspromonte said, adding that Johnson has turned in a "good effort" that has earned the admiration of teammates.

"That's the beautiful part about it," said Aspromonte. "He's getting along with everyone on my ball club."

And, in what seems as completely out of character with the Johnson pictured in previous years, Aspromonte adds, "He's happy. He's laughing."

Johnson missed 3½ months of the 1971 season due to the suspension and hit only .260 in 65 games early in the season. He had only two home runs and 21 runs batted in.

Johnson, who has been with five clubs in eight years, sharpened his batting by playing winter ball in Puerto Rico and has been hitting like the man who won the AL batting crown in 1970 with a .329 average with 14 homers and 86 RBI.

After 19 games this year, Johnson had a .307 average with three homers and 12 runs batted in. He had an 11-game hitting streak during that period.

The Indians traded for a hitter and apparently have received an extra bonus in his effect on younger players.

"The players are awed by his talent," Aspromonte said. "Talent is leadership, not talk or back-slapping."

Southwest Keeps MIAA Golf Crown

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Southwest Missouri State won the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association golf championship Friday for the third consecutive year by turning in a 36-hole total of 730.

The MIAA also started its two-day tennis and track championships although both were hampered by rain.

Northeast Missouri State was second in the golf with 747. Then came Central Missouri with 755, Southeast Missouri with 763, Lincoln with 773, Northwest Missouri with 776 and Missouri Rolla with 791.

Stan Logan of Southwest Missouri shot a par 70 over the Grandview Municipal Golf Course Friday to go with Thursday's 72 for a 36-hole total of 142 to take individual honors.

Two tied for second were Bob Markovics of Central and Randy Miller of Northeast, each with 144. Joey Kramer of Southwest, Bill Daniels of Northeast and Rodney Shell of Southeast tied for fourth, each with 146.

Northwest, the defending champion, took the first day's lead in tennis with 18 points, and Northeast was close behind with 13. Missouri Rolla had 5, Southeast 3, Southwest and Central 1 each and Lincoln none.

Nowthwest placed players in each of Saturday's six flights. Northeast had four survivors.

Only one final was held in track because of rain. Ken Ault of Southwest Missouri ran the 3,000-meter steeplecase, an MIAA event for the first time, in nine minutes, 22.1 seconds to win first.

Competition in the triple jump and the discus had to be postponed until Saturday.

Name New Grems' Coach

Steve Moss, head basketball coach for the past two years at Iberia, has accepted the top cage position at Sacred Heart, it was learned Saturday.

Moss, 25, a 1969 graduate of Quincy College, Quincy, Ill., also coached his first year out of college at St. George High School in Hermann.

Last season was the toughest of the three for the young basketball mentor, as he went 8-15. However, his opening year at Iberia saw success with a 13-9 record. Moss' squad was 17-8 in 1969-70 at Hermann.

Married with one daughter, Moss graduated from his home town high school of St. Paul at Highland, Ill. in 1965.

His hiring completes the ranks of Kaysinger Conference basketball coaches for the 1972-73 season. Chet Saladin and Larry Ficken recently took positions at Warsaw and LaMonte, respectively.

Moss replaces Tom Beer, who spent two successful years as the Gremlins' head coach. Beer resigned his coaching job to return to college for graduate study.

KNOXVILLE, Iowa — Lee Kunzman, Bill Puterbaugh and Steve Ungar have become the latest entries in the United States Auto Club sprint car show, June 3, at the Marion County Fairgrounds, here.

Promoters have posted a $6,500 guaranteed purse.

Cancel Tourney

Smith-Cotton's annual Invitational Baseball Tournament scheduled for yesterday afternoon and evening was cancelled.

The decision was made Friday night because of expected wet grounds, it was reported.

1972-73 Cagers Face Tough Slate

What Smith-Cotton basketball coach Jim Dinsdale described as the "toughest schedule ever for the Tigers" was announced Friday by athletic director Bob Edmondson.

Highlighting the 1972-73 schedule are games with Kansas State High School Activities Association 5-A power Shawnee Mission South, Kansas City Interscholastic League standout Paseo, along with St. Joseph Central and Springfield powerhouses Glendale and Hillcrest.

The Tigers open the cage campaign hosting a four-team tournament featuring Kansas City Paseo, Springfield Glendale and Columbia Hickman, in addition to S-C.

Other non-conference dates scheduled are with Raytown, Independence Truman, Moberly, Marshall and Ruskin (Hickman Mills). The Tigers will also play again in the Springfield Glendale Tournament and the Kansas City Center Tournament.

1972-73 Smith-Cotton Basketball Schedule

Nov. 30-Dec. 1 — Smith-Cotton Tournament; Dec. 8 — Springfield Glendale, here; Dec. 9 — Springfield Hillcrest, here; Dec. 15 — St. Joseph Central, there; Dec. 16 — Shawnee Mission, Kan. Tag Team Title Goes on Line In Mat Card

The North American tag team championship will be on the line Tuesday night during the weekly professional wrestling program.

Risking that title will be the duo of Danny Little Bear and The Stomper. They will face Chati Yokuchi and Black Angus in a best-of-three falls match.

This will be the first change in partners for Yokuchi, who normally lines up with Yasu Fuji.

A Texas-style "death match" is also scheduled, which will pit Bob Orton against The Viking.

Other events on the card find Omar Atlas meeting Billy Howard in the added event.

Pacers Go 1-Up In Series

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — George McGinnis fired in 30 points and grabbed 20 rebounds as the Indiana Pacers raced to a 114-108 victory over the New York Nets Friday and took a 2-1 lead in their American Basketball Association championship series.

An ABA playoff record crowd of 15,241 watched the Pacers regain the home-court advantage they had lost by splitting the first two games of the best-of-seven series in Indiana. Game four will be played Monday night here at the Nassau Coliseum.

The standout performance by McGinnis, 6-foot-8, 235-pound rookie from Indiana University, enabled the Pacers to overcome a 44-point effort by the Nets' Rick Barry.

McGinnis gave the Pacers the lead for good, 62-61, with 2:19 gone in the third quarter. The Pacers remained in control the rest of the way, building their lead to as much as 12 points in the final period.

Freddie Lewis, the Pacers' leading scorer with a 27-point average in the series first two games, added 22 points and veteran Roger Brown had 20.

Heard in Front Of NIT's Pack

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Easy-going Jerry Heard, gunning for his second victory of the year, shot a three-under-par 67 Saturday and pulled away to a three-stroke lead in the third round of the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Heard, 25, had a 54-hole score of 202—eight-under par on the Colonial Country Club course and the best ever for three rounds in this old tournament.

Veteran Phil Rodgers and Fred Marti were three strokes back at 205. Rodgers had a 68 despite a bogey on the final hole, and Marti clipped one stroke off par with a 69 in the warm, sunny weather.

Dave Stockton, a former PGA champion who shared first place after 36 holes, slipped to a 71 and was alone in fourth at 206.

Julius Boros, 51, a former United States Open champion, bolted out of the pack with a brilliant 65, the best round of the day, and moved into position at 207, five strokes back.

Lee Trevino, one of the few of the stars competing in this prestigious event, finally broke par with a 69 but remained far back in the field at 213—11 shots behind the leader.

Heard, back in action after a two-week rest, is in only his fourth year on the tour. He broke through with a victory in the American Golf Classic on the tough Firestone Course last year, won more than $100,000 and this season has a title in the Citrus Open and some $81,000 in winnings.

"I don't think I'm playing quite as sharp as I did at Firestone," the casual, relaxed young man from Visalia, Calif., said. "But my short game is real good, and I'm not throwing any shots away."

Heard's total—on rounds of 69, 66, 67—broke the old tournament record of 203 for 54 holes.

Tied with Stockton after Friday's second round, Heard took the lead when he chipped up to six feet and made the putt for a birdie four on the first hole.

He rolled in a 10-foot birdie putt on the third hole, then bogeyed the fourth from a bunker. He got the stroke back on the next one, however, holing out from a stand trap about thirty feet from the flag.

Playing with machine precision, he hit every fairway and every green and parred the next 10 holes.

He stretched out to a two-stroke lead over the challenging Rodgers when he hit a beautiful four-iron shot to within a couple of feet of the flag on the 200-yard, par-three 16th. Heard was bunkered again on the 17th and hit the flagstick with his explosion shot for an easy par.

He lipped out a 10-foot birdie putt on the final hole after Rodgers had bogeyed it from behind a tree on the right.

Northwest Grabs MIAA Track Title

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Northeast Missouri State of Kirksville won the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Conference track and field team championship Saturday in a meet in which six conference marks fell.

The team scoring included: Northeast Missouri State 761 Lincoln 63, Southwest Missouri State 54, Southeast Missouri State 49, Northwest Missouri State 28, Central Missouri State 10, U. of Mo.—Rolla 8.

The six conference marks were in the 3,000 steeplechase, which was set by Ken Ault, of Southwest Missouri in 9:22.1, a first time event; Mile — Steve Parker, Southeast Missouri State, 4:10.1 (old conference record 4:11.2 set by Fred Springer, Southeast State in 1971); 440—Larry James, Northeast Missouri State :47.1 (old conference record, :47.8 set by Fred Bank, Northeast Mo. State 1968). Half mile — J. Keal, Southwest Mo. State 1:50.6 (old MIAA record 1:53.5 by Wayne Denny, Northeast Missouri State, 1968); 3 Mile run—Parker, Southeast Missouri State, 14:19.2 (old MIAA mark 14:36.9 by Parker in 1971; Pole Vault — Don Allbritton, Northeast Missouri State, 16-0½ (old record, 15-0 Allbritton 1971).

White Sox Pounce On Baltimore

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox pounced on Baltimore's Pat Dobson for five runs in the third inning, three of them on Bill Melton's home run, and cruised to a 9-3 victory over the Orioles Saturday night.

Dobson was breezing along until Pat Kelly got the White Sox' first hit of the game, a two-out single that triggered the decisive outburst.

Mike Andrews drew a walk and Carlos May beat out an infield single to load the bases before Dick Allen lined a two-run single to left and Melton followed with his second homer of the year, a blast into the upper left-field stands.

Stan Bahnsen, meanwhile, held the Orioles hitless until Merv Rettenmund's leadoff double in the fourth, then yielded a sixth-inning single to Boog Powell before Baltimore broke through for two runs in the seventh on Paul Blair's single, Dave Johnson's triple and Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly.

When Powell drove his third home run of the season with two out in the eighth, Steve Kealey took over for Bahnsen, 3-4, to preserve the victory.

The White Sox capped their scoring with four runs in the eighth on singles by Andrews, May, Allen, Jay Johnstone, Rettenmund's error in right and Ed Herrmann's sacrifice fly.

Name West For NBA All-Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers reaped another reward from the National Basketball Association season Saturday when he was named to the All-Star team. But teammate Wilt Chamberlain was relegated to a second-term berth.

West, who joined Chamberlain to lead the Lakers to the NBA championship in a final playoff victory over the New York Knicks, was the leading vote-getter for the first team. Chamberlain, however, was beaten out of a first team spot by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Milwaukee.

Rounding out the first team were John Havlicek of Boston and Spencer Haywood of Seattle at the forward spots and Walt Frazier of New York at guard with West.

With Chamberlain on the second team were Bob Love of Chicago and Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia at the forwards and Nate Archibald of Cincinnati and Archie Clark of Baltimore at the guards.

Prior Seeks Fifth I-70 Stock Win

ODESSA, Mo. — Johnny Prior, Centralia, Ill., will go after his fifth I-70 Speedway late model stock car feature victory this afternoon.

The hobby stocks will also race on the half-mile, high-banked asphalt track.

Qualifying opens at 2 p.m.; the first race is set for 3 p.m.

The Sedalia Girls Khoury Softball League board will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the State Fair Community College student union.

Phils' Fielding Aids Dodger Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Claude Osteen, with ninth-inning relief help, chalked up his fourth victory and figured in all of Los Angeles' scoring as the Dodgers took advantage of sloppy Philadelphia fielding to beat the Phillies 3-1 Saturday night.

Osteen, who has lost one, walked three and struck out one before being relieved by Jim Brewer with one out in the ninth inning after giving up his eighth hit. Brewer got Byron Browne to slap into a game-ending double play.

In the third inning, Bobby Valentine led off with a single; and, when Osteen bunted for a sacrifice, Valentine scored as Steve Carlton's throw to first sailed into right field. Osteen came in when Mike Anderson picked up the ball and fired it into the third base dugout.

The Dodgers scored their final run in the fourth as Billy Grabarkewitz doubled and came home on Osteen's two-out single. The Phils broke through for their lone run in the sixth on Willie Montanez' single and Greg Luzinski's double.

And He's Ahead

Jerry Heard looks like anything but a winner Saturday at Fort Worth as he closes his eyes and lays his putter back on his shoulder while his attempt for a birdie on the 15th comes up short. He leads in the National Invitational Golf Tournament.

Owner Says Riva Ridge Pointed At Triple Crown

BALTIMORE (AP) — Riva Ridge, his racing road mapped for the Triple Crown, will try Saturday to add the Preakness to his Kentucky Derby victory.

"I have a very clever trainer, and he's been training this horse for the Triple Crown," said Mrs. John Tweedy before the Kentucky Derby.

Then Riva Ridge went out and won the Derby for trainer Lucien Laurin and Meadow Stable, operated by Mrs. Tweedy, with a wire-to-wire whipping of 16 other 3-year-olds.

His opponents in the 1 3-16 mile, $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico, the shortest and richest of the Triple Crown events, are expected to dwindle. From seven to nine others are expected to compete with one of them being Upper Case.

In face, Laurin doesn't think there are any better horses than his 1971 2-year-old champion.

"I don't recall a horse reaching the age of three any better than Riva Ridge since Citation," Laurin said last February before Riva Ridge launched his 1972 campaign that has seen him win the Hibiscus, Blue Grass and Derby in four starts.

"I think he's as great as any horse that's been around," Laurin said after Riva Ridge won the Derby and began a bid to become the ninth winner of the Triple Crown and the first since Citation took the Derby, Preakness and Belmont in 1948.

At least one other trainer agrees that Riva Ridge is too much at the present time.

"Wherever Riva Ridge is going, I'm going some place else," said Arnold Winick, trainer of Hold Your Peace, which was third in the Derby.

But Pimlico officials expect at least two other Derby colts to try Riva Ridge again—Joseph R. Straus' No Le Hace, second in Kentucky, and Dr. Hassi Shina's Hassi's Image, 11th in the Derby.

Kaysinger Teams Meet for Crown

COLE CAMP — The Cole Camp Blue Birds will host Warsaw Monday in the Kaysinger Conference showdown game, a baseball contest that will decide the 1971-72 league champion.

Both teams have 5-1 league records. The loser will drop into a three-way tie for second place with Stover and LaMonte.

In addition, a league softball contest is scheduled. Game time is set for 6:30 p.m.

Heber Hunt Wins Grade School Meet

Heber Hunt won the Sedalia grade school track meet Thursday at Jennie Jaynes Stadium with a team total of 136 points, easily out-distancing all competitors.

The close race for second place went to Striped College-Jefferson with 61, while Hubbard had 60 for third and Horace Mann took fourth with 58. Mark Twain registered 37, Whittier 28 and Washington 19.

By classes, the A division went to Hubbard with 41 points followed by Hunt at 32 and Striped College-Jefferson with 17.

Class B showed Hunt in first with 56 while Striped College-Jefferson netted 34 and Hubbard 16.

Hunt also won the C class with 48 points. Horace Mann took second in that division with 38 and Mark Twain had 22.

Name Coaches

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Elgin Baylor and Al Bianchi were named coaches Saturday for the May 25 all-star game between the National and American Basketball Associations at the Nassau Coliseum.

Baylor, who retired last year from the Los Angeles Lakers, will coach the NBA squad. Bianchi of the Virginia Squires will coach the ABA team.

Reds Down Cards, 11-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds jumped on St. Louis southpaw Lance Clemons for three runs in the first inning, then poured across five more in the third—three on Tony Perez' home run—and battered the Cardinals 11-2 Saturday night.

Clemons, 0-1, the first left-hander to start against the Reds in 18 games, was making his National League starting debut. Perez' fourth homer of the year knocked him out of the game.

The first four Cincinnati batters in the game reached base safely as Pete Rose led off with a single, moved to second on a walk to Joe Morgan and scored on Bobby Tolan's single. Morgan came home on a wild pitch and Tolan scored on George Foster's single.

Cincinnati broke the game open in the third when the first six batters reached base. Morgan walked for the second time and Tolan was hit by Clemons. Both scored on Perez' wrongfield home run to right center.

The Reds added two more runs off Tony Cloninger in the third. They scored twice in the seventh on an RBI-double by Tolan, who later came in on Foster's grounder, and once in the eighth on a pair of wild pitches by Dennis Higgins.

Fittipaldi Maintains Pole Spot

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi retained pole position Saturday for Sunday's Monaco Grand Prix when steady rain slowed cars in the final 90-minute practice session.

The 25-year-old Sao Paulo driver is joint leader of the world drivers championship standings going into the fourth event of the year around the streets of this riviera resort. In four of the past five years, the winner of the Monaco event has gone on to win the world title.

A forecast of continued rain Sunday made the Ferrari of Belgium's Jacky Ickx—an acknowledged king in the rain—a very real threat to Fittipaldi, who lapped the track Friday in 1 minute 21.4 seconds, to win the pole.

Saturday times were slower by up to 30 seconds.

Alongside Fittipaldi on the two-by-two grid of 25 cars was Ickx, six-tenths of a second slower Friday in the lead Ferrari. His teammate, Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland, was third fastest in 1:21.9, with France's Jean Pierre Beltoise, in a BRM fourth in 1:22.6.

Padres Blank Montreal, 5-0

MONTREAL (AP) — Larry Stahl and Nate Colbert backed Fred Norman's four-hit pitching with home runs as the surging San Diego Padres won their seventh game in their last nine outings with a 5-0 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday night.

Norman walked two, struck out two and hit a batter en route to evening his record at 2-2.

Stahl, who entered the game with a .147 batting average, gave the Padres a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he smacked a pitch from losing pitcher Ernie McAnally, 0-2, over the right-field fence.

Then Norman and McAnally settled into a tight pitching duel until the eighth inning, when the Padres struck for four runs to put the game out of reach.

Dave Campbell led off with a single and moved to second on Norman's sacrifice bunt. Derrel Thomas moved Campbell to third with a base hit and scored on a sacrifice fly by Enzo Hernandez.

Oldtimers Aimed at NFL Players

DETROIT (AP) — Some of the most illustrious names in the annals of professional football are lining up to form a flying wedge aimed squarely at the National Football League Players Association.

Most football fans affectionally refer to these players as NFL "oldtimers." They include familiar names such as Leon Hart, Doak Walker, Bill Dudley and Whizzer White. They also include such ex-heroes as Slingin' Sammy Baugh and Don Hutson.

Officially, however, they represent the National Football League Alumni Association (NFLAA).

The NFLAA represents every player who hung up his cleats prior to 1959—about 1,200 players. As a group, they are more than a little put out by the actions of the current NFL Players Association.

The bad feelings are based on the Players Association's reluctance to cut the old timers in on their pension program. No player who retired prior to 1959 is eligible for a pension.

Feelings were strained even further this past week with Ed Garvey, president and executive secretary of the Players Association, testified before the federal Pay Board that professional sports should be allowed to remain exempt from board control.

Hart, the former Notre Dame All-American and Detroit Lion star, said Saturday he believes the current NFL players are making enough money.

Speaking on behalf of the NFLAA, Hart said: "We recommend the Pay Board reject the requested exemption."

The NFLAA strongly feels that, if the demands of the current crop of pro gridders are accepted, the "golden goose" will have laid it's last egg, according to Hart.

"We're not only concerned for the ex-players," said John Panelli, a fullback who played with the old Chicago Cardinals. "We're concerned for the fans too."

Panelli said the rising price of tickets is going to drive the fans away from professional sports. "This thing has got to be put back in perspective. We've got to get our priorities in line and help to stablize the economy," Panelli said.

Hart, 42, now a heavy duty fleet manager, will receive no pension from the NFL. Nor will Panelli, now the president of the construction equipment company.

"It was the people prior to 1959 who actually formed the present Players Association," said Hart. "Charter membership was taken out in 1957. But there was no money back then.

"When money became available in 1967, the association was incorporated. But, too late, we learned that we could not belong to the association we formed."

"Instead of going back and picking up a few years as money became available," Hart said, "the current players chose unilaterally to lower their pension age from age 65 to 55, and they desire to lower it again to 45."

Still, the current players have made no move to cut the oldtimers in on their fat pension pot.

"We think there is a little bit of injustice there," said Hart. "Any thinking person can see that. They have overlooked the people who built it."

Smith-Cotton Squeaks By Kewpies in District Meet

(Democrat-Capital Service)

MEXICO — Catching the Smith-Cotton track squad in its worst condition of the season, upset-minded district opponents blew their chance here Saturday and the Tigers took home their second consecutive district title.

Bad luck was in ample supply for the Bengal thinclads at the very beginning Saturday; their best quarter-miler (and only entry in the event), Rick Bellmer, plus an important hurdler, Tom Bloess, both were sick with the flu.

Next, state indoor pole vault champion Pat Curry, who has gone 13'10" this season, missed the pit on his first jump and was unable to recover adequately enough to be able to place.

Then Jack Cook's first effort in the long jump finals turned into a catastrophe as he suffered a severely pulled hamstring muscle.

Robert Mayes' second place finish in the 880 yard run was disallowed because of an illegal pass. S-C's head track coach Larry York said officials ruled Mayes cut in on a Jefferson City competitor without having the required full-step lead.

And finally, both C. E. Baldwin and David Moore turned in sub-par performances in the mile and two-mile runs, two of S-C's strongest events throughout the season.

Now for the good news: two Smith-Cotton varsity records were broken and the Bengals edged out Columbia Hickman for first place by one point.

With all but the mile relay completed, S-C was tied with the Kewpies at 56 apiece. Right before the race, York told the foursome of Mayes, Baldwin, David Knott and Larry Hausam, "Finish ahead of Columbia."

Mexico won the event, but the Tigers came through in second to win the meet.

Sophomore Fred Washington set a new S-C varsity record in the low hurdles at 19.7 seconds and, according to York, "smoked" the field. Washington was just off the district record in the event which is 19.6.

Bob Fingland grabbed another of S-C's five first place finishes by going 45'11½" in the triple jump, also a new S-C record.

Other top efforts were contributed by the Tiger two-mile relay squad of Mayes (2:03.0), Steve Cable (2:04.3), Jeff Barnes (2:04.8) and Carl Berry (2:06.4) for a total 8:18.5 winning time.

Fred Knight took first in the high jump with a leap of six feet, one and three-fourths inches, while the other first place effort for S-C came from Aaron Hart who tossed the shot put 54'½".

Columbia Hickman took home more first place finishes (six) than S-C but lacked the needed depth by one event. The Kewpies called upon stand-out sprinter Bob Logan for a total of 18 points. Logan took firsts in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes.

Speaking of the stiff challenge S-C had to deal with, York said, "Columbia's got a very good team" and always has had.

He noted, however, that as in several other meets where the Bengals have been without key personnel, "Our kids have pulled together and had outstanding efforts for us to win. That's just the kind of people we have on our squad.

"You know one thing for sure: win, lose or draw, they're going to give it all!"

A sidelight on the heartbreaking third-place finish by Hickman in the mile relay is that S-C has beaten Columbia only one other time in the event this season. The Kewpies bested the S-C foursome in the Central Missouri Conference indoor and outdoor meets, and in dual competition just last Tuesday. The Tigers have come out ahead only once, at the Capital City Relays in Jefferson City.

Also, Mark Hewett, who graduated from S-C last year "don't get no respect," to borrow a phrase. Hewett left three records on the Tiger books when he graduated: in the pole vault, low hurdles and long jump. Only the long jump mark remains after Washington's effort. Curry set the current pole vault mark early this season.

As a result of yesterday's meet, the Tigers will compete in 10 of 17 events at the state competition Saturday in Columbia. S-C will have six men entered in seven individual events as well as three relay teams. The district meet qualified the top three finishers in each event.

Does It All

Rookie Buzz Capra won his own game by delivering his first major league hit — a two-out run-producing single in the second inning — to lead the New York Mets to a 1-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants at New York Saturday. Capra, who posted his second victory of the season, is shown in action on the mound and at bat later in the game.

At Indy Trials

A.J. Foyt Has Rough Day

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt Jr., shooting for a record fourth victory in the 500-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway race, apparently blew an engine Saturday in the only run of the rain-marred opening time trials session.

The five-time national champion started the 10-mile qualifying run in the last few minutes of the session, but a broken oil cooler ended his attempt.

A mixture of rain, oil and fuel scrubbed most of the scheduled opening session of time trials.

After an overnight rain, the cars couldn't get onto the track until 5½ hours after the scheduled 11 a.m. (EST) opening.

They ran at relatively slow speed until the 2½ miles of asphalt was dry. Then most of the remaining 90 minutes was consumed by cleaning up after cars that sprayed fuel and oil on the track while practicing.

The coveted pole position for the race—the No. 1 starting spot—remains open for the second scheduled qualifying session from noon to 6 p.m. (EST) Sunday.

The 10-mile record of 179.696 m.p.h., set last year by Peter Revson, is expected to be broken repeatedly when the track is finally in good running condition.

Police estimated a crowd of 175,000 at the old track Saturday in spite of the rain which fell most of the day. Speedway officials said rain checks will be honored on any of the remaining three days of qualifying since there were no qualifiers Saturday.

Before Foyt made his interrupted run at one of the 33 starting positions, Denny Zimmerman and Roger McCluskey went on the track but did not take the green flag for official tries.

No official qualifying attempts are charged against a driver unless he signals for a green flag with his arm at the end of his practice laps. Three tries are permitted provided the car does not go the full 10 miles on the first two attempts. Any completed run is final.

It was obvious at dawn that continuing rain would postpone the scheduled 12 p.m. (EDT) start, but thousands of fans were lined up for the 7 a.m. gate opening. The early crowd was estimated upwards of 20,000 by speedway officials—less than a tenth of the probable turnout if the weather had been good.

The attraction was a series of practice runs as much as 15 miles per hour faster than Peter Revon's year-old record of a little over 179 miles an hour. Revson himself had been practicing over 191 in his new McLaren-Offenhauser.

Former 500 winner Bobby Unser was favored to win the pole, the No. 1 starting position that goes with fast time on the first day of trials. Unser had been clocked at 194.721 m.p.h. in his new White Eagle-Offenhauser.

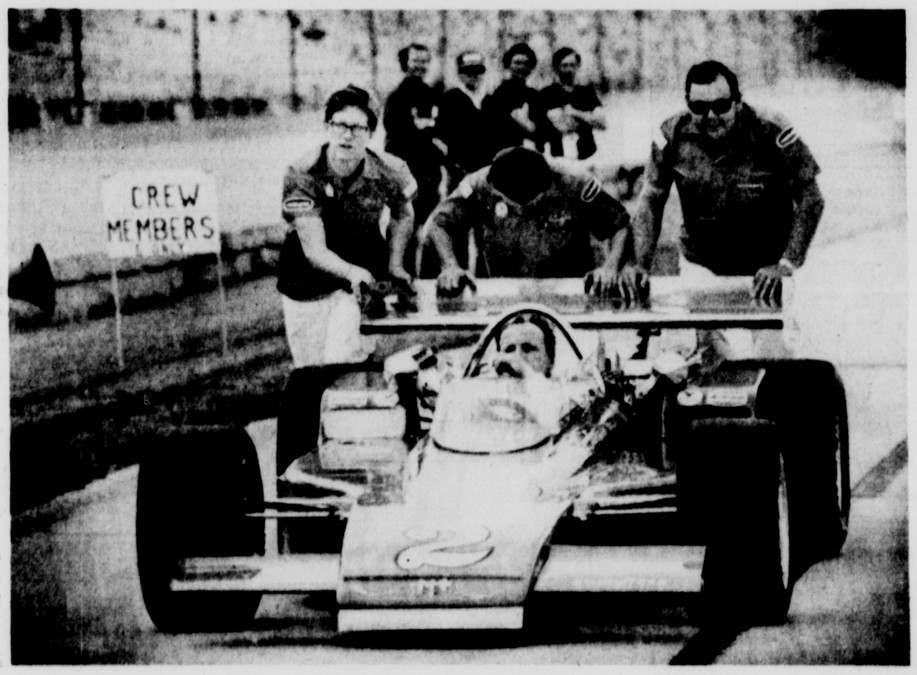
A rainout of the whole weekend would be welcomed by the Parnelli Jones garage and its "super team" of three former national champions—Al Unser, Joe Leonard and Mario Andretti. The team's new Colt-Offenhauser developed bugs in early practice, including problems with unique dihedral wings which were removed for further development work. Another week might make them competitive with the Eagles and Offenhausers.

"There's no doubt we would benefit from another week's work," Jones said Saturday.

Track officials were reluctant to turn loose the 800-horsepower cars when there was even a trace of moisture on the asphalt.

New treadless tires being used this year looked as if they would have a tendency to slide on a wet surface.

"I don't think the new slick tires make much difference as far as rain is concerned," Jones said. "You couldn't run in the wet with the slight tred we've been using."



One of Those Days

It just wasn't A. J. Foyt's day Saturday. Rain delayed Indianapolis 500 time trials until late in the day, then Foyt ran out of gas on a practice run, and finally the 3-time 500 winner blew an engine on a qualification effort, losing a chance to win the pole position. Time ran out with no cars qualified. Weather permitting, the run for the pole will be held today.

Capra Provides New York Key

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Buzz Capra and Tug McGraw combined for a three-hitter and Capra singled home the only run in the second inning as the New York Mets edged the San Francisco Giants 1-0 Saturday and extended Juan Marichal's losing streak to six games.

Cleon Jones singled to start the Mets' second and, with two out, Duffy Dyer outlegged a slow roller down the third base line. Capra then lined a single over short, scoring Jones.

Capra's biggest jam came in the third when one-out singles by Marichal and Chris Speier put runners on first and third. But Capra fielded Tito Fuentes' comebacker and started an inning-ending double play. The Giants' only other hit was a one-out double by Garry Maddox in the fifth.

Capra allowed all three Giant hits in his eight innings.

It was the 15th victory in 20 games for the Mets, leaders in the National League East. The Giants have dropped 16 of 21 and are last in the NL West. Marichal who has not won since opening day, allowed seven hits in seven innings.

CANTERBURY IS HOST

CLEVELAND (AP) — Canterbury Golf Club will be the scene of National Golf Day's round of champions on Tuesday, May 30. Jack Nicklaus, 1971 PGA champion, will face Lee Trevino, 1971 U.S. Open champion, while LPGA champion Kathy Whitworth plays Women's Open winner Jo Anne Carner.

Their scores will be targets for thousands of amateur golfers who take part at their home courses in the annual charity event.

Indians Trim Rangers, 7-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Alex Johnson clubbed a three-run homer as the Cleveland Indians scored six times in the third inning Saturday and trimmed the Texas Rangers 7-3.

Rookie Dick Tidrow, 3-2, allowed only two hits through seven innings but lost his shutout in the eighth and needed help from Steve Mingori as the Rangers scored all their runs.

The Indians' big third inning against ex-teammate Rich Hand began with singles by Eddie Leon and Jerry Moses. Tidrow walked and Del Unser's two-run double chased Hand.

An error by left fielder Frank Howard on John Brohamer's fly ball kept things going and Johnson then unloaded his fourth home run of the season off Casey Cox for the final three runs.

McGinnis, Brown, Lewis Leading Indiana Efforts

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — George McGinnis, Roger Brown and Freddie Lewis, though suffering various ailments, have been the Indiana Pacers' top scorers in the first three games of the American Basketball Association's championship series against the New York Nets.

Led by Lewis' 76 points, McGinnis' 68 and Brown's 65, the Pacers have won two games in the best-of-seven series. Game four will be played Monday night in the Nassau Coliseum, with the fifth game scheduled for Indianapolis next Thursday.

McGinnis—a 6-foot-8, 235-pound rookie from Indiana University—keyed a 114-108 victory Friday night that gave Indiana the 2-1 lead. He hit 11 of 17 field-goal attempts and added eight free throws for 30 points, while grabbing a game-high 20 rebounds.

Lewis, hampered by a sore rib cage, contributed 22 points; Brown, suffering from bronchitis, added 20.

McGinnis, who jammed a finger on his left hand in the second game and reinjured it Friday, is one of the youngest players in the league at 21 but plays like a veteran.

"He's awfully young to be as tough as he is," said Indiana coach Bob Leonard after McGinnis' standout performance in the third game.

"He was just super," agreed Nets coach Lou Carnesecca.

McGinnis, who dropped out of college after his sophomore season, became a starter midway through the 1971-72 season and averaged 16.9 points per game—third best in the Pacers' balanced attack behind Mel Daniels' 19.1 and Brown's 18.6. Daniels has been held in check by the Nets in the series, scoring only 41 points.

But Lewis, who averaged 15.4 points during the regular season, has taken up the slack, averaging 25.3

The Nets' All-Star forward, Rick Barry, has been the leading scorer in the series with 107 points, including a 44-point effort Friday. But he missed five of 13 free throws, and rookie John Roche misses six of seven.

Bucs Topple Astros in 12th Inning, 6-1

HOUSTON (AP) — Roberto Clemente's two-run triple highlighted a five-run Pittsburgh uprising in the 12th inning that carried Bob Moose and the Pirates to a 6-1 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday night.

Vic Davalillo's single off reliever Fred Gladding, 0-1, started the explosion. Gladding had taken over for Houston starter Ken Forsch, who had scattered nine Pittsburgh hits and struck out 11 before being removed for a pinch-hitter in the 11th.

Milt May batted for Moose, the Pirates' starter and Wade Blasingame relieved Gladding. Clines replaced May at bat and was hit by a pitch.

Dave Cash then bunted and, when third baseman Doug Rader wheeled and fired the ball over third into left, Davalillo scored to break the 1-1 tie.

Al Oliver's single made it 3-1 and, when George Culver took over on the mound, Clemente greeted him with his two-run triple.

In one of the early rounds of the Vanderbilt, both teams reached four spades after identical bidding. Both Wests opened the six of diamonds and both declarers tried to cash three rounds of diamonds only to have East ruff the third lead.

One declarer discarded the seven of hearts and could not make his contract after East led a trump and West cashed the ace and led a second one.

Jack Blair of Tulsa, whose team went on to get to the finals, recovered by over-ruffing, leading the seven of hearts and letting it ride to East's queen.

East led a trump and West played ace and another, but Jack won in dummy and led the jack of hearts. East ducked and Jack discarded. West took his king and led a fourth diamond.

Jack ruffed in dummy and led the 10 of hearts. East held back his ace, but it did him no good since Jack discarded another club and continued hearts to wind up making his contract and gaining a valuable 13 IMPs.

The hand is interesting indeed as the best line of play would have been to win the first diamond and lead a heart at trick two, but the actual play of three rounds of diamonds would have been better had diamonds run three times.

When they failed to break nicely, Jack found a most ingenious way to recover.

Scott First

Joe Scott is a top scientist in a top industrial laboratory, head of two research groups at RCA Laboratories, Princeton, N.J., where he's pictured here. As such he approves or disapproves the purchase of instruments that cost as much as $200,000 apiece. His watchword is "I'm a Scott first, a black second and an American third." To get where he is now, he had to pass through a world where he was a black first, Joe Scott second, an American third.

Middle Class Blacks Represent the Very Few Who Have Succeeded

AP Newsfeatures Writer ..

These are the ones who have made it. A few blacks moving into white jobs and white neighborhoods; a puny vanguard; a slim statistic to bait the national conscience; a small black beachhead on the white man's beach. Look out, Archie Bunker, here they come.

Through five administrations and the Warren Court since World War II, the door has cracked a little and they came through. They emerged from a black middle class into a white middle class. Some blacks call them Uncle Toms. Some whites call them tokens, house niggers. They still cannot belong to the New York Athletic Club. They no longer desire the local Elks. They are midway between two worlds. They survive knowing wherever they go they stand black against a white background.

They live in a no-man's land. They are torn between the plight of the poor they have left behind and the affluent disarray of the suburbia they have entered. They look for friends in the new world and try to keep those in the old. They seem to be a bridge between the two, and sometimes they are. Sometimes they are not.

They are mostly products of black colleges. They know more of black history than their ghetto-bound brothers. Yet they identify with white goals. They are amazed at the social progress in the South. They despair of social inertia in the North. They have a fine, ironic ghetto humor that helps them survive.

The blacks are something new for the white world to contend with. In his forthcoming book, "The Black Migration," George Groh sums up the escape of 2.5 million blacks from the bottom ranks of poverty in the 1960s. "Even more dramatic is the rise of the black middle class. It has largely escaped press and public attention, but the middle income urban blacks now comprise a large group than the hard core ghetto poor. . . . In the decade just ended the employment of black professional and technical workers soared 131 per cent. There was a 67 per cent gain among black officials, proprietors and managers, and a 67 per cent increase also of foremen and craftsmen. The increase in the combined categories amounted to nearly 750,000 jobs. Such thrust, moreover, is growing stronger."

The Census Bureau counts a three-fold increase in the number of non-white families with $10,000 or more in purchasing power. Blacks now total 7 per cent of all college enrollments, closer to the 11 per cent they comprise in the general population. No one has a count on how many blacks work in white companies on the executive level, or how many have moved to white suburbs. But they are there nevertheless. Whites work for them. And they work for whites. They are moving in next door and down the street. Their kids play with white kids. Blackness, they say, has been put upon them by the white amind. So they wear it and they flaunt it. Or they just endure it. Or they fight it.

Joe Scott's father used to tell him, "Listen. You're a Scott first, an American second and a black third. Remember that." Today Scott remembers it, but now he alters it to read, "I'm a Scott first, a black second and an American third." Joe Scott, to get where he is now, a top scientist in a top industrial laboratory, had to pass through a world where he was a black first, Joe Scott second, an American third.

When he was very young in the 1920s, Jim Plinton dreamed of small airplanes in the big sky.

Trouble was it was a white sky. Today, having helped integrate the sky, Jim Plinton, airline vice president, hires blacks to captain America's airliners, and black stewardesses to serve coffee, tea and milk.

Al Campbell is a science teacher in a prestigious Eastern school system. He grew up in a segregated South where the signs told him where he could or could not go. He took a job in the integrating North where he lived with whites and found more subtle, more cruel limits. When he searched for an apartment for his young family, the building superintendent took one look and said, "We're not hiring." Campbell said he wasn't looking for a job, but a place to live. He finally got the apartment, with the help from the local human rights organization in Great Neck, N.Y. Even then one of his neighbors stood in his way. As he approached the front door he heard someone call out, "Here comes the nigger." Campbell looked around and asked, "Where?"

When the man who called out threatened to move out, Campbell talked to him. He said that Long Island wasn't really very big and if he moved too far out he'd end up in the Atlantic, and if he did, then, "I'd have to get a raft, because we're comin'."

The man moved to a New Jersey suburb, where now he has a black as a neighbor.

When Jim Plinton joined Eastern Air Lines, he was assigned to the Miami headquarters with two other new vice presidents. He sent his white wife ahead to house-hunt and she found just what she wanted. But the builder backed down.

By the time Plinton reached Miami the next day the builder had a change of heart. The real estate lady said, "His conscience was bothering him." Plinton didn't believe it. Before the day was out, Plinton discovered that the builder was also putting up homes for the other two Eastern executives, both white. "I know the answer to this buy," he told his wife, Kathy. "It's not a change of conscience. It's about a quarter of a million dollars.

The black man learns that money and position talk in the white man's world.

So here they are, one foot in the black past, one in the white future. Uncle Toms? House niggers? They get it from both sides. Jim Plinton still gets angry stares from some whites in the company cafeteria, senses when an unfriendly associate cooperates with him guardedly. Maceo Nance senses that white legislators are less at ease then he is when they discuss school budget problems.

Joe Scott, who shunned white lab coats for a black one when he first came to the RCA labs, admits that his position tends to be a social narcotic. "It's so pleasant, so pleasurable to be accepted, to function without restraint, that you need something to remind you once in a while to get back out and get involved."

Integrating The Sky

James Plinton is an airline executive who has helped to integrate the sky. He is pictured in his office at Eastern Air Lines' Miami headquarters, beside him a carved ebony head of a pigmy. He's part of the small black beachhead on the white man's middle class beach. He hires blacks to captain America's airliners and black stewardesses to serve coffee. No one has a count on how many blacks work in white companies at executive level now. But they are there nevertheless. (AP)

3—In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF our dear father, and husband, Vernon P. Glenn, who passed away May 13, 1957.

Gone, is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
But while you wait in peaceful sleep,
Your memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed By Wife and Children.

Eagle Killer?

Herman Werner, 79, owner of the Bolton Ranch in Carbon County, Wyo., was charged Thursday by federal authorities in connection with the shooting of 366 Golden and Bald eagles. All but one of the killings allegedly occurred during a two-month period late in 1970 and early in 1971.

You never know when you'll need a good place to camp.

And where do you even start to look? They're not usually on the main highways, that's for sure.

Well, the one place you'll find them all is in the AAA Camping and Trailering Guides. If you join The Auto Club of Missouri now, we'll send you both these books—848 pages in all —as your first membership benefit.

AAA surveyed every major campground and trailer park in the country and parts of Canada. So you can find out not only where they are—but also what they cost, how many campsites, stoves, tables, restrooms they have. If water, wood, recreation facilities are available. Location of and mileage to the nearest hospital. Information you couldn't get before that makes choosing a campground as easy as choosing a motel. Plus each book includes important facts such as trailer speed limits and restrictions of every state.

Then, when you leave on your trip, AAA goes along. With Triptiks, emergency road service, World Wide Travel Agency help and more membership benefits.

Fill out the coupon today. You get things with AAA that are hard to get without it.

We Built It. . .

Let's Staff It!

It has been said many times, "When Sedalia citizens understand a need, they respond." So, let's take a look at the need for the proposed school levy to be voted on May 16th, and reason it out.

As a starting point, let's review our recent past as it concerns our school needs. The people of Sedalia School District No. 200 were told before they approved the construction of the new Junior High School that the building of it was only a part of the total job, and that an increase in the school levy would undoubtedly be necessary to provide for the additional teaching staff which would be required to take care of the school. This was explained on several occasions to everyone during the campaign to get voter approval for building the school.

Now let's move on to the ultimate purpose of the new school. The goal was the better education of the school district's young people. This can only be accomplished with a qualified teaching staff and those needed to administer and man the school.

The Junior High School is nearing completion and will be ready for the fall school term which begins on September 5th. It's now time to take our next step to complete the job we set out to do. That is, to provide the educational opportunities we planned to give our young people when we agreed to construct the new building.

That's what the 65-cent school levy we will vote on May 16th is all about. Here, in a nutshell, is what your favorable vote will help to accomplish:

1. Provide the needed teaching staff at the new Junior High School.
2. Provide facilities and staff for kindergarten education for our pre-school age children, as is now required by state law.
3. Provide for vocational-technical training for our junior and senior-high school students, who may not plan a college education, so they may begin preparatory training for worthwhile careers in the business, industrial and service sectors of our economy.
4. Provide for a quality education for all of our students so our Sedalia School System may again take its place among those schools in our state maintaining an AAA rating. Our school system was so rated for many years until we faltered somewhat in our responsibilities a couple of years ago, and lost it.

We believe there is no one in this school district who would approve of a second rate school system, or of a second rate education for our young people. We have the opportunity to correct the situation as it now exists, but it will take the help of all thinking and concerned citizens of this community.

You may inquire, "We know that passage of the school levy is important and necessary if our children are to have the educational opportunities they need, but how can we get a majority vote to approve passage?"

You have the answer. If you as a concerned citizen will join with mothers, fathers, older sisters and brothers, aunts and uncles, and grandmothers and grandfathers of our school children, there can be only one answer on May 16th. That answer will be an overwhelming approval of the school levy and a conclusive demonstration of your concern for the future of Sedalia's young people.

GIVE OUR CHILDREN THEIR CHANCE TO COMPETE IN TODAY'S WORLD —
Vote Yes For The Levy On Tuesday, May 16th.

FOR DANNY THOMAS

I understand the children's research hospital you founded, St. Jude, has come up with a cure for malnutrition among this country's poor kids. True?—M. Williams, Chattanooga, Tenn.

● Well, that's an oversimplification. But Dr. Donald Pinkel, the medical director at St. Jude, tells me he and his staff have found a way to prevent malnutrition among small infants—if only the country will listen. Their studies show that if impoverished babies are fed a commercial infant formula, fortified with iron and vitamins (at a cost of 21 cents a day per child), malnutrition is prevented. If the country can find it in its heart to afford 21 cents a day per starving child, these babies can grow up to be healthier and possibly more intelligent. I say more intelligent because research shows undernourished infants actually have smaller brains than well-fed babies. And without proper brainpower, they'll never climb out of poverty. But some politicians and sociologists say this answer is too simple—and too cheap. Their argument is that you can't eliminate malnutrition until you've gotten rid of poverty. This is just a cop-out. We may never be able to get rid of all poverty. But we can prevent infant malnutrition, right now, and for not that much cost.

FOR LILY TOMLIN of "Laugh-In"

Do you write your own scripts for Edith Ann and Ernestine? If you don't, who does?—John Bergholm, Nabnasset, Mass.

● When I first came to NBC for Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," I wrote the scripts—until the show's writers got better acquainted with my gal characters. Then they began writing them and still do it.

FOR ROD SERLING

You've been frightening me for years—first with "The Twilight Zone" and now with "Night Gallery." What frightens you?—F. Sanderson, Titusville, Fla.

● Well, I've never had a frightening experience of an occult nature, if that's what you had in mind. I guess I get scared by the same things that scare everyone else—like, say, walking through empty old houses late at night.

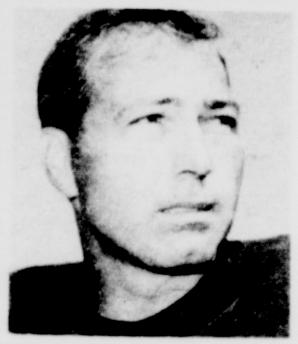
FOR GRAHAM KERR, the Galloping Gourmet

Do you drink all that wine on your TV show or is it colored water?—Ann Rolcovage, Hop Bottom, Pa.

● I actually drink about a fourth of a cup of wine on each show—just enough to keep my tongue moist. I couldn't pretend it was wine if it wasn't because that would be a cheat, and then you wouldn't believe anything I did.

FOR BART STARR, Green Bay Packer quarterback

It's reported you will retire from football before next season. True?—J. Williams, Champaign, Ill.



● My future in professional football won't be determined until next month. I am presently on a training schedule that consists of special resistive exercises which, hopefully, will allow my arm to regain its full strength.

FOR CANDY JONES, head of Candy Jones' Career Girl School

What do you look for in a girl who wants to be a model?—Michelle Fomous, Scranton, Pa.

● We look for the three B's—Beauty, Brains, Breeding. Experienced or inexperienced, we consider all races, and we represent girls from age 12 to their mid-fifties. Skin, hair, teeth, speech and overall photogenic qualities are screen-tested on our closed-circuit television. Personality, salesmanship, facial animation and a positive, enthusiastic attitude—all rate high.

FOR ELIZABETH BAUR, actress

Do you have any special "gimmick" you use when you audition for a role?—Diane Terry, Bloomington, Ind.

● After "Lancer" went off, I went on auditions for roles I know I should have won. But I didn't get them. My agent checked and told me the producers felt I "didn't have enough energy." I just walked in quietly, introduced myself, then got to the reading. Well, the next interview I went into that office bouncing off the walls, being the jerk of the century. I got the part. You just have to be bigger than life in an audition.

FOR CARROLL O'CONNOR

Why do you wear your rings on the second finger from the thumb instead of the third finger, as most people do?—Deborah Raslawski, East St. Louis, Ill.

● The ring on my right hand is a family ring, and the only finger it fit was the middle one. I don't want to alter it for obvious sentimental reasons, so I just wear it on the middle finger. I like the way it looks. To balance the ring, when I was married, I had the wedding ring fitted for the middle finger on the left hand.

FOR ALEX WEBSTER, coach of the New York Giants

What kind of changes do you think will be evident in the team's playing now that you've lost Fran Tarkenton?—W. Eilers, Baltimore, Md.

● We've lost something, but we may be able to gain something, too. We've lost Fran's ability to scramble, and that ability was always a factor in our offense. But because he could do it, we would send two men out of the backfield as receivers, and maybe that wasn't always a good thing.

FOR SIDNEY POITIER

You don't seem to be as angry about racial prejudice as, say, your friend Harry Belafonte. Is this just a surface impression or is it the truth?—F. Eckert, Tucson, Ariz.

● Well, partly it's that Harry is much more volatile, much more public than I am. I'm really a very private person. I'm angry, but the black thing is only a part of my anger. Even if the whole thing were reversed, and whites and blacks suddenly loved each other, I'd still be angry – because I don't think our value system, based on "making it," is sufficient to produce an America that is capable of doing our most urgent task at hand. In my opinion, we must make this country infinitely more caring about people, infinitely more respectful of the value of human life, infinitely more energized to selflessness and compassion.

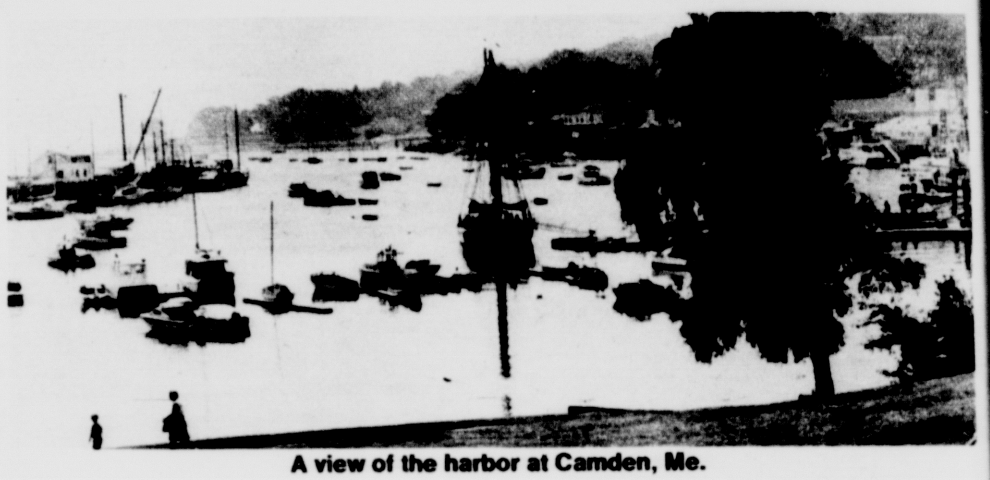
Our 12 Favorite Safe American Places

David and Holly Franke, authors of "Safe Places," pick their favorite spots for "Family Weekly"



A view of the harbor at Camden, Me.

"In Wyoming, we first ran into an attitude that followed us throughout the West, and later in New England—a strong desire to avoid publicity that would attract outsiders. . . . In the West, they feared a migration away from overpopulated California; in the East, of course, the specter was of hordes of New Yorkers."

America the Beautiful has special meaning for us. Recently, we spent four months on the road, traversing this nation from coast to coast and from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande. Our search was for unspoiled America—for havens of peace and quiet where the air is pure, where the automobile and neon tube are under control, where citizens can walk the streets without fear.

We found our havens, dozens of them, and we tell about them in our 938-page guidebook, "Safe Places." At a time when our major cities seem to be disintegrating, they offer renewed hope for America, for they combine healthy local economies with a spirit of energy and optimism on the part of their residents. We city slickers were impressed by the quality and variety of their community life, by the sparkling-new medical, educational and public facilities in these small towns and small cities.

We found friendliness and a helping hand throughout the country, but in Wyoming, we first ran into an attitude that followed us throughout the West, and later in New England —a strong desire to avoid publicity that would attract outsiders. Too many people would spoil their Eden, they seemed to be saying, and they wanted to avoid the mistakes and problems of the big cities. In the West, they feared a migration away from overpopulated California; in the East, of course, the specter was of hordes of New Yorkers. While the Midwest and South remain growth-oriented, even there people are becoming more selective: they want only small, clean industries that will not pollute the environment or dominate the economy. A commendable attitude, we believe.

Limited land, housing and employment—as well as a skeptical attitude toward growth—will protect these communities from any overnight invasion by the masses. But the openings are there for the retiree or the young family willing to search for them, and the rewards are great. Peace of mind for your family's safety, an escape from the rat race, the beauty of nature—these are just some of the rewards.

What follows are our own personal choices, listed in no particular order, of the 12 most livable places in the nation. Please turn page.

General Electric introduces the only portable air conditioner portable enough to have a handle.

If you've ever wondered why portable air conditioners don't come with handles, you've never tried lifting one. With one small exception, they weigh about 59 pounds and up. The small exception is the one you're looking at—General Electric's new Carry-Cool Portable. Its 4,000 BTU's make it ideal for small bedrooms, dens, and the like.

New Carry-Cool Portable, the world's lightest.

At 43 pounds, it's the world's lightest portable room air conditioner. Light enough to carry from store to home. Room to room. Or wherever it's hot.

Install it yourself.

Even if you're not especially handy, you can install it yourself in minutes. Built-in side expanders let you easily mount it into almost any window. (A Carry-Cool Portable's case is only 10-7/8″ deep by 20-1/2″ wide and fits windows as narrow as 22-1/2″.) Plug it in (it runs on any adequately wired normal house circuit). Then sit back and cool off. A 10-position thermostat maintains room temperature automatically.

Five years to develop.

The Carry-Cool Portable didn't happen overnight. Probably the biggest challenge was coming up with a tiny 12-1/2 pound compressor (to make sure our room air conditioner would be light enough to be really portable). And at the same time, to make sure it would do a good cooling job.

To test its cooling power, we put its 4,000 BTU's up against a variety of uses in some pretty hot places. Like Texas, California, Florida—to name a few. It passed the test, which came as a great surprise to no one.

Another challenge we met and overcame was constructing an outside case (weather side) that would be very strong, yet very light in weight. The material? GE's super tough Lexan® polycarbonate resin.

Ten year Lexan Outdoor Case Warranty.

General Electric has enough faith in the ruggedness of our Lexan outer case (the portion exposed to weather) to warrant it for the first ten years. Which means, if a failure should occur in the outer case due to a manufacturing defect (like breaks, cracks, blisters, chips, peels or rust), we'll replace it free. Both parts and repair labor.

A word about service.

The Carry-Cool, even at this low price, is quality built to give dependable performance. But if anything should go wrong, you have one of the best features of any General Electric appliance: the largest appliance service organization of any manufacturer in the country. Its symbol: Customer Care Service Everywhere. So wherever you are, or go, chances are you'll find an expertly-trained GE serviceman or franchised servicer nearby.

From all this a simple, basic truth emerges. With General Electric's new Carry-Cool Portable, you don't have to be rich and powerful.

Woodstock, Vermont

The country's first ski tow was opened here in 1934, and a quarter of Vermont's ski areas are within 40 miles, but Woodstock's character remains that of an unspoiled New England village. It has graceful old homes, churches whose towers house four bells cast by Paul Revere and his family, Laurence Rockefeller's Woodstock Inn, and what is perhaps the most famous village green in Vermont. Spring is maple time, with sugarhouse parties and sugar-on-snow, a Vermont delicacy. The summer and fall bring auctions, antique sales, church suppers, country fairs, community picnics and foliage tours. Winter brings sleigh rides, winter carnivals, plenty of snow and plenty of skiing. Four seasons of life as we think it should be lived.

Coconino County, Arizona

If you want desert country, it is here in its greatest glory, for nature exhausted the colors on her palette when she created the Painted Desert. If you want mountains, the San Francisco Peaks rise to elevations of more than 12,000 feet. And canyons! What other area can claim both an Oak Creek Canyon, with its intimate beauty and rippling mountain streams, and—Grand Canyon! Here, too, are vast ponderosa forests and air rated as the purest in the nation. Flagstaff serves as its trading and cultural center, while Sedona is a haven for artists and retirees in the Red Rock country, the locale for more than 40 Western movies. Buy a couple of acres adjoining a national forest, and it's almost as if all that were yours too. Wherever you live, the wilderness is just minutes away.

Camden, Maine

A home for poets, writers, musicians, artists, sculptors, craftsmen . . . and boatbuilders, lobstermen, sailmakers . . . as well as retired professors and military officers, and young professionals who find it an inspiring setting for their work. Mountains meet the sea at Camden, a picture-book New England community that is at once a fishing village, a windjammer port, an arts and crafts center, and a home to small publishing, blueberry, textile and nautical industries. Serious crime is almost unknown—the biggest problem is kids stealing street signs. Edna St. Vincent Millay, who grew up here, was inspired by the views of Penobscot Bay; you will be too.

A lighthouse on the Oregon Coast

Wellesley, Massachusetts

This is what suburbs should look like. Its attractiveness and charm proceed from a harmonious blending of winding tree-shaded streets, stylish homes (with Colonials in favor) and a downtown that avoids the neon-alley look. Nature makes its contributions, too; in the lakes and streams with hiking trails alongside, the wooded campuses of Wellesley College and Babson College, and the geese and ducks at play around town hall. The location is ideal. You're next door to Boston, and within a two-hour drive is all of Southern New England, from the Berkshires and White Mountains to the beaches of Cape Cod.

Cape Cod's North Shore

Cape Cod is sand dunes, cranberry bogs and wild beach plums; windmills, clambakes and Indian summer; little theater, antique shops and glassworks; shingled cottages, rose-covered cottages, salt-swept cottages. Above all, it is 300 miles of coastline with majestic beaches, intimate coves and snug harbors. Avoid the south shore—it is one long traffic jam, one big hamburger stand. The north shore remains surprisingly unspoiled, however, the way all of Cape Cod must once have been. There the magic and beauty remain.

Glenwood Springs, Colorado

Wake up to a panoramic view from your home, get in some trout fishing on the Roaring Fork or Frying Pan rivers, spend the afternoon on the mile-wide slopes of Aspen, and cap the day with dinner at a gourmet restaurant and a concert by a renowned orchestra. That's the life you can enjoy around Glenwood Springs, combining ready access to Aspen with a stability that Aspen itself lacks. Big game abounds. Mountains protect you from the harshest elements of winter weather. Crime? It's so safe, we arrived to find the police station closed for the weekend.

Big Sky Country

We dream of owning a ranch in the lush meadows of Wyoming's Jackson Hole, with our front porch facing the majestic Tetons, their peaks jutting up more than a mile above the valley floor. That's an expensive dream, but to the north is Red Lodge, Mont., a very Western-looking town, with a wide main street and shops displaying Stetsons and Levis in their windows—and at reasonable prices. In between is the Beartooth Range of the Rockies, a vast expanse of forests, gushing mountain streams, primitive areas, Arctic tundra and glacial lakes. All this and Yellowstone too!

Belvedere, California

On the north shore of San Francisco Bay, in famed Marin County, Belvedere's mountainside and waterfront homes offer breathtaking views of San Francisco, the Golden Gate Bridge and Sausalito. Executives commute by passenger ferry to offices across the Bay, and social life centers around the oldest yacht clubs on the West Coast. All the attractions of the nation's most beautiful city are less than an hour away, yet here you are safe from the violent crime that captures headlines in California. Only those with money need inquire: Houses begin at $55,000, and zoom up from there.

Lexington, Virginia

Here, in the beautiful Valley of Virginia, you can walk the streets, visit the homes and attend the churches that were here when George Washington endowed the college that now bears his name . . . when Stonewall Jackson taught science and mathematics to the cadets of Virginia Military Institute . . . and when Robert E. Lee spent the last years of his life as president of Washington College, now Washington and Lee University. Lexington has history and architecture matched by few towns, yet is relatively undiscovered by tourists.

Fairhope, Alabama

In its stately old homes, moss-draped trees, and azalea and dogwood foliage, you can see the heritage of the Old South. But Fairhope is much more, too—a town enjoying the French and maritime cultural influences of the Mobile area, with minimal taxes and a low cost of living, a gracious style of life, a zesty cultural calendar, and excellent swimming and fishing in the Gulf of Mexico and Mobile Bay. This is what much of Florida was like before its population explosion.

Sleigh riding in front of the Woodstock Inn, Woodstock, Vt.

The Oregon Coast

Like everyone before us, we came under the spell of its densely wooded mountains, precipitous cliffs and jagged rocks, some of them throwing waves hundreds of feet into the air, others teeming with sea lions. If you have to work for a living, our Safe Place of North Bend and its sister city of Coos Bay offer most of the jobs. The ocean, bays, lakes, rivers and sloughs around North Bend make it a fisherman's paradise, too, and whenever you tire of the fishing and swimming and hiking and rock hunting, you can just find yourself a spot on a cliff, take in the view of the sandhills and beaches and cragged rocks surfacing beyond the shore, watch the sun as it sinks into the vast blue-green Pacific with a blaze of color that shimmers through the clouds and dream.

Big Bend Country

West Texas is one of the nation's best-kept tourist and retirement secrets, with desert scenery and climate rivaling that of Arizona and Southern California. Only here the crowds haven't arrived yet. Championship rodeo teams are the pride of the college at Alpine, a Western cow town. Big Bend National Park contains some of the nation's most spectacular desert-mountain country, and El Camino del Rio—a little-known highway following the Rio Grande—is one of the most scenic routes this side of the border. All about you are the Indian and stagecoach trails, the military forts and smugglers' routes, the abandoned mines and ghost towns of the Old West . . . waiting for you to add your tracks to those of Cabeza de Vaca, Chief Victorio, Pancho Villa and Black Jack Ketchum.

The Grand Canyon's Kaibab Trail, Coconino County, Ariz.

"Safe Places," by David and Holly Franke (Arlington House, $13.95), is a compendium of 50 communities that have more or less been bypassed by the ills of modern living. Places, in other words, that are not only beautiful, but where people can still leave their doors unlocked. To buy your copy at a special price, send $11.95 to "Safe Places," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. Makes checks payable to "Safe Places." The book is designed, say the publishers, "for retiring people who want to spend their golden years in peace; for young families in search of good schools and clean air; for Americans of all ages in search of a real home."

QUIZ / By John E. Gibson

How Do We Americans Really View Ourselves?

True or False: Most Americans are pretty satisfied with the way they are spending their lives. (See number 6.)

It has been said that as a man believes, so is he. In this True or False quiz, we take a look at some of the attitudes and beliefs of Americans.

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Most Americans believe that this country has the best food, the most beautiful scenery and the best-looking women.

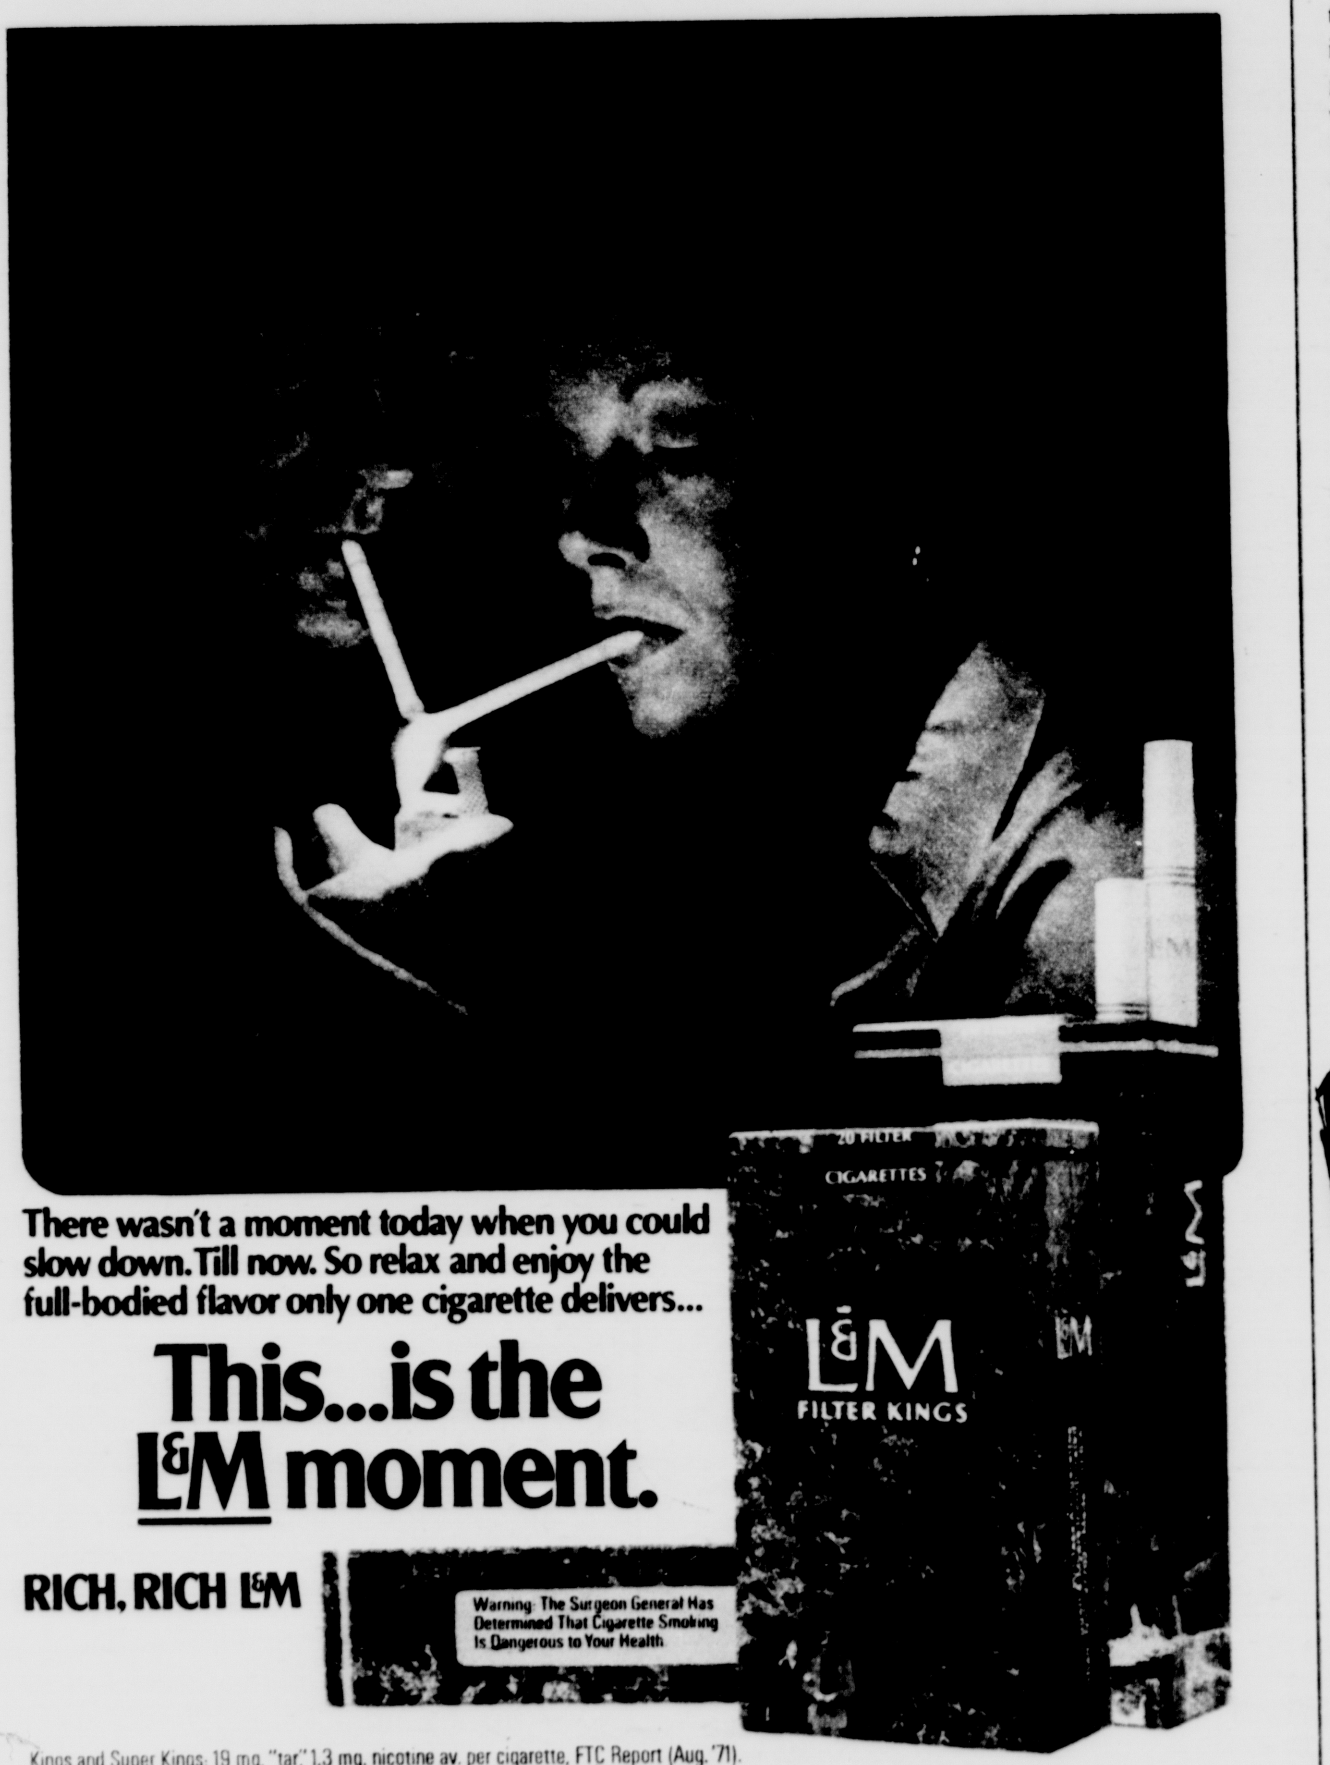
2. American men are more cynical in their beliefs and attitudes than women are.

3. Our popular idea that the bachelor leads "a carefree, happy-go-lucky life" is a myth.

4. Most of us believe that intelligence tests provide an accurate picture of a person's capabilities and his overall potential.

5. Americans with the least security worry the most about the future.

6. Most Americans are pretty satisfied with the way they are spending their lives.



ANSWERS

1. True. In a nationwide survey of men and women from all walks of life, the U.S. was ranked tops on all three counts. Sweden and France scored second and third respectively on beautiful women; Switzerland, followed by Germany, rated next to first place on scenery; as for food, France was voted second place, with Italy third. Could Americans be prejudiced? Possibly—for an international survey (which included the U.S. and five other countries) showed France getting the most votes for best food; Sweden and France tied for beautiful women; and Switzerland taking the laurels for the scenery.

2. True. Studies show that women are more believing, have more faith, are more religious, more trusting in Providence, than men are. Men, investigations have shown, tend to have a more tongue-in-the-cheek attitude toward things they can't see, feel or touch, and are less concerned with spiritual considerations than women are.

3. True. Studies show that the attitude and outlook of most bachelors are far from carefree, and that the married man is significantly happier. When a married man does find himself leading an unhappy life, he still has an advantage over the bachelor—he has somebody to put the blame on.

4. False—according to the findings of two national public-opinion surveys, which showed the average person has misgivings about the use of intelligence tests. A chief concern was that insufficient allowance is made for possible changes in either the person or his future environment. Most people, the surveys showed, are inclined to believe that intelligence increases throughout life. Other major objections were that the tests amount to an invasion of privacy, and that they only partly measure a person's talent and abilities, overlooking many valued qualities.

5. False. A sociological study has shown that people with the least security—in terms of income, status or material possessions—are much more inclined to live in the present, making the best of today and shrugging off concern for the future with a tomorrow-will-take-care-of-itself attitude. People in the more comfortably well off income brackets were found to be much more security-minded.

6. True—according to the findings of cross-sectional surveys conducted by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. People were asked: "In general, how satisfying do you find the way you're spending your life these days? Would you call it completely satisfying, pretty satisfying, or not very satisfying?" Twenty-four percent answered completely, 66 percent said pretty, and a disgruntled 10 percent answered not very.

Everyone loves a party—family and guests alike. These recipes are planned to please the busy hostess. Several can be made weeks ahead and frozen, waiting for party day. Other recipes are easy to prepare one day ahead or on party day. Look and see if our ideas won't help you with your upcoming celebration.

Decorative Delights For Your Spring Party

An array of party-pretty recipes to enchant your guests: Coffee Charlotte Dessert, Golden-Blossoms Cake, Citrus-Sparkle Punch, Strawberry Sherbet and Chocolate Pastry Dessert. Combine or mix the recipes to suit your party.

COFFEE CHARLOTTE DESSERT

2 tablespoons instant quality coffee
¾ cup hot water
32 regular marshmallows, cut in small pieces
2 cups (4½-oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 pkg. (3 ozs.) ladyfingers, split
1½ cups (¾ of 4½-oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 square unsweetened baking chocolate

1. In medium saucepan, dissolve instant coffee in hot water. Add marshmallows. Stir over low heat until marshmallows are completely melted. Chill until slightly thickened.

2. Fold 2 cups whipped topping into coffee mixture smoothly.

3. Line an 8-inch-square pan with double thickness of wax paper, extending paper above top of pan.

4. Arrange half of ladyfingers in single layer on bottom of pan. Top with half of coffee mixture. Cover with another layer of ladyfingers and top with remaining coffee mixture. Freeze until firm (takes about 2 hours).

5. Overwrap with foil, seal with freezer tape, label, date, return to freezer.

6. To serve: Lift dessert out of pan with wax paper. Carefully remove wax paper from dessert, place on serving platter.

7. Spoon 1½ cups whipped topping into pastry bag with Number 7 star tip. Pipe scallops and rosettes around edge of dessert as shown in picture. Refrigerate until serving time.

8. To make chocolate curls: Allow chocolate square to soften slightly in warm oven about 2 minutes. Make curls with a vegetable peeler, scraping carefully across surface. Place on dessert as pictured. *Makes 8-10 servings

*For a larger dessert put 2 Coffee Charlotte Desserts together. Decorate outer borders of dessert. Leave center plain or write an inscription on it: "Happy Birthday," etc.

GOLDEN-BLOSSOMS CAKE

1 pkg. (18.5 ozs. or 18½ ozs.) yellow or white cake mix
1 envelope whipped topping mix
4 large eggs
1 cup cold water
Sunny Butter Frosting (recipe below)

1. Combine cake mix, whipped topping mix (do not whip; use right from envelope), eggs and water in large bowl of electric mixer. (Continued on page 10)

2. Blend at low speed until moistened. Beat at medium speed for four minutes, scraping sides of bowl occasionally with spatula. Timing is important here, do not under-beat.

3. Preheat oven to 350°F. Spoon the following amounts of batter into the greased and floured pans:

9-inch pan—3 cups batter
7¼-inch pan—2¼ cups batter
5½-inch pan—1¼ cups batter
3¼-inch pan—remaining batter

4. Bake the two larger layers for 30-35 minutes and the two smaller layers for 25-30 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center of each comes out clean.

5. Cool cakes in pans 10 minutes; then remove from pans and finish cooling on racks.

6. Frost tops of layers with Sunny Butter Frosting; stack and frost sides of cake. Use a small spatula to achieve smooth effect.

7. Spoon remaining frosting into pastry bag with Number 32 star tip. Make shell design at edges of layers as pictured.

8. Place cake on 9-inch foil-covered cardboard circle. Place in freezer until frosting is firm.

9. Remove cake from freezer, cover with plastic bag. Seal to cardboard with freezer tape, label, date, return to freezer.

10. To serve: Remove plastic bag from cake. Allow to thaw at room temperature 2-3 hours.

11. Place cake on serving plate or cake stand. Garnish with flowers, if desired. (Flowers pictured are freesias.) Always place flowers on a doily, never directly on cake.

Makes about 20 servings

SUNNY BUTTER FROSTING

⅓ cup orange-flavored instant breakfast drink
⅓ cup water
¾ cup butter, softened
½ teaspoon salt
1½ lbs. unsifted confectioners' sugar

1. Dissolve instant breakfast drink in water. In large bowl of electric mixer combine butter and salt.

2. At low speed, gradually add about half of the sugar, blending well. Scrape sides of bowl and beaters occasionally with rubber scraper.

3. At low speed, add remaining sugar alternately with liquid, beating after each addition until mixture is smooth.

4. At medium speed, beat until of proper spreading consistency.

Makes 3½ cups frosting

CITRUS-SPARKLE PUNCH

⅔ cup grapefruit-flavored instant breakfast drink
1 qt. cold water
2 cups ginger ale, chilled
Strawberry Sherbet (recipe below)

1. In pitcher, stir instant breakfast drink into water; stir to dissolve. Cover, refrigerate.

2. Just before serving, pour into chilled punch bowl, mix in ginger ale. Float small scoops of Strawberry Sherbet on punch.

3. Ladle into punch cups and top with scoops of sherbet.

Makes 2 qts., 16 half-cup servings

STRAWBERRY SHERBET

1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
1 cup frozen whipped topping, thawed

1. Place strawberries and lemon juice in an electric blender container. Cover and blend until smooth.

2. Pour into bowl; stir in sugar, corn syrup and salt.

3. In medium bowl, beat egg whites till stiff. Fold into strawberry mixture, smoothly. Fold in whipped topping thoroughly.

4. Pour into 1½-qt. freezer container. Cover, freeze until firm, about 3 hours. Remove from freezer 10 minutes before serving.

Makes about 4¾ cups or 8-10 servings

CHOCOLATE PASTRY DESSERT

1 pkg. (11 ozs.) piecrust mix
2 tablespoons sugar
Water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon rum or 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
4 cups (9-oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
¼ cup chopped pistachio nuts, walnuts or almonds

1. In medium bowl combine piecrust mix and sugar; prepare piecrust mix with 1 tablespoon more water than directed on package.

2. Place dough directly on outside bottom of 15x10x1-inch jelly-roll pan. Roll dough to completely cover outside bottom of pan.

3. Preheat oven to 450°F. Measuring across long side of dough mark off 4 sections 3¾ inches wide and 10 inches long. Pierce with fork.

4. Measuring down on one section, mark off eight 1¼x3¾-inch strips. Pierce with fork.

5. Bake 8-10 minutes. Cool completely on rack. When cool, cut with sharp knife into sections on pierced lines.

6. Combine gelatin and water in saucepan; let stand 5 minutes to soften. Add chocolate, sugar and salt.

7. Stir over low heat until chocolate and sugar are melted. Cool slightly; blend in rum.

8. Spoon whipped topping into a large bowl, fold in gelatin-chocolate mixture thoroughly.

9. Spread 1 cup chocolate mixture over each of two large pastry strips; stack. Top with third large pastry strip.

10. Spoon remaining chocolate mixture into pastry bag with Number 8 star tip. Make 8 rosettes on top of pastry, spacing evenly in pairs.

11. Place pastry on foil-covered cardboard; freeze until firm. Remove from freezer, overwrap with foil, seal with freezer tape, label, return to freezer.*

12. Place small pastry strips on foil-covered cardboard, overwrap with foil, seal with freezer tape, label, date, freeze.

13. About 1½-2 hours before serving, remove pastry and pastry strips from freezer. Remove foil, refrigerate about 1½ hours to thaw.

14. When ready to serve, arrange pastry strips on top of pastry between rosettes. Cut 2 pastry strips in half and place lengthwise between rosettes. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and chopped nuts.

15. Place on plate. Serve immediately or refrigerate until serving time. Makes 8 servings

*Or assemble dessert completely without freezing, refrigerate until serving time.

Frozen-Fruit Medley, cool and colorful, adds a light accent to your buffet table.

FROZEN-FRUIT MEDLEY

1 pkg. (3 ozs.) mixed fruit, strawberry or lemon flavor gelatin
Dash salt
1 cup boiling water
½ cup pineapple liquid
¼ cup lemon juice
⅓ cup mayonnaise
2 cups (4½-oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 can (8¾ ozs.) pineapple tidbits, drained
1 medium banana, diced
½ cup fresh strawberries, washed and halved
¼ cup green grapes, washed and quartered
¼ cup chopped nuts
1 pt. strawberries, washed
1 small cluster green grapes, washed
Mint leaves

1. In medium bowl dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Stir in pineapple liquid and lemon juice. Add mayonnaise, beat with wire whisk until smoothly blended.

2. Cover with foil or plastic wrap, refrigerate until very thick.

3. Stir whipped topping into gelatin mixture smoothly, blend with wire whisk.

4. Stir in pineapple tidbits, banana, halved strawberries, quartered green grapes and chopped nuts. Pour mixture into a 1½-qt. ring mold. Cover securely with foil, label, date, freeze overnight, or until firm. (Or store up to 1 week in freezer.)

5. To serve: Unmold by placing hot, damp dish towel around mold. Place on serving plate or cake stand.

6. Let stand at room temperature 30-45 minutes before serving. Place strawberries, grape cluster and mint leaves around mold for garnish.

QUICK SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

Preheat oven to 375°F. Spoon 1 can (15 ozs.) spaghetti and meatballs into 2-qt. casserole. Cut four frankfurters in chunks. Place half on top of spaghetti. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon wheat germ and dash pepper. Spoon 1 can (16 ozs.) cut green beans, peas or peas and carrots, drained, over mixture. Dot with ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese or cottage cheese. Spread 1 can (15 ozs.) spaghetti and meatballs over all, top with remaining frankfurter chunks, 1 tablespoon wheat germ and dash pepper. Bake for 40-45 minutes, until casserole is bubbly.

Makes 6 servings

fudgie scotch squares

Half chocolate, half butterscotch. A unique new chewy taste combination that's really easy to make with Nestlé's Semi-Sweet and Butterscotch Morsels and Borden Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk. Here's how you do it. First, preheat your oven to 350° F. Blend together:

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
1 can Borden Eagle Brand® Sweetened Condensed Milk (not evaporated milk)
1 package (1 cup) Nestlé's® Semi-Sweet Chocolate Morsels
1 package (1 cup) Nestlé's® Butterscotch Morsels
1 cup coarsely-chopped walnuts

Mix well and press mixture into very well-greased 9" square pan. Bake at 350° F for 30-35 minutes. Cool for 45 minutes and cut into 1½" squares (makes 36). Then stand back and bask in the glory of the ooo's and aah's.

A picnic can be a mini-vacation when you prepare the fixings before you go, and store them in the refrigerator wrapped in Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Then at barbecue time they're all ready to go on the grill. So try our fix-ahead picnic ideas. You'll have more time for more fun with your family and friends.

MEAT LOAF HERO Serves 4

1½ pounds lean ground beef
⅓ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup bread crumbs
1 egg
1 medium onion, minced
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ Tbsp. prepared mustard
¼ tsp. garlic powder
¼ tsp. Tabasco Sauce
1 loaf Italian bread, split lengthwise
8 strips of American cheese
Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap

Mix ground beef with the next 9 ingredients. Place bottom half of bread on large sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Spread meat mixture on bread. Bring foil up and double-fold top and ends. Place on grill 2 inches above hot grey coals, meat side down. Cook 45 minutes. Open foil and top with cheese strips. Rewrap loosely and return to grill for 5 minutes, bread side down. Toast top half of bread on grill, cut side down. When ready to serve, open foil and replace top. Cut into serving pieces.

SWEET AND SAUCY SPARERIBS Serves 4

Marinade:
¼ cup soy sauce
⅓ cup corn syrup
⅓ cup lemon juice
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. ground cloves
¼ tsp. Tabasco Sauce
¼ tsp. salt
Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap

Trim fat from spareribs. Combine and blend marinade ingredients. Place ribs on a piece of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap large enough to enclose completely. Turn up foil and pour marinade over ribs. Close foil with double-fold across the top. Let stand at room temperature for 2 hours. Place foil-wrapped ribs 6" above hot grey coals. Cook 1 hour, turning occasionally. Open foil, cut into serving pieces.

Some hot picnic ideas for keeping the cook cool

(Creative picnic cookery from Reynolds Wrap)

CHICKEN BOUNTIFUL Serves 4

1 broiler-fryer, 2½ lbs., cut-up
Paprika
1 can (1 lb.) boiled onions, drained
1 can (1 lb.) potatoes, drained
1 can (1 lb.) carrot slices, drained
1 can (15½ oz.) cut green beans, drained
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
4 tsp. dried salad herbs
Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap

Rinse chicken and pat dry. Season with salt and pepper. Divide chicken into four equal portions. Place each portion on a square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Sprinkle chicken generously with paprika. Divide vegetables equally, and add to chicken portions. Spoon on soup and sprinkle with herbs. Twist foil at top to make a bundle. Place bundles 4 inches above hot grey coals and cook for 1 hour. Serve in foil.

TIPS FOR CAMPERS

Whether you're a tenderfoot or a camping "buff," here are some ideas to help make your chores and cooking easier. Disposable Dishpan: scoop a hole in the ground and line it with 2 layers of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Drinking Cup: Mold a double thickness of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap round the bottom of a metal can. Lift off foil, crimp edges to make a secure rim. Need a strainer? Just puncture small holes in the bottom of the foil cup. Make a breadboard by placing a strip of Reynolds Wrap on any flat surface. Sugar, flour, salt stay dry when you wrap the packages in Reynolds Wrap. When roasting food on a spit, wrap the food in Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. This bastes the food automatically. When the food is almost done, remove the foil so it will brown.

PEPPERS MEXICALI Serves 6

1 can (15 oz.) chili with meat
1 can (12 oz.) kernel corn, well drained
¾ cup catsup
¼ tsp. Tabasco Sauce
¾ cup bread crumbs
Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap

Slice top from peppers, remove seeds and membranes. Drop into boiling water, cook for 5 minutes. Drain and cool. Place each pepper on a length of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Divide mixture equally and fill each pepper. Wrap foil closely around peppers and double fold at top. Place 6 inches above hot grey coals. Cook for 30 to 40 minutes.

Lee Marvin: Got a Big Family? Try "Mob Soup."

By Lee Marvin, as told to Helen Dorsey

When I got married, I had four kids from a previous marriage; Pam also had four, and now we've got a grandson. So we've really got a big family, even though there are only four kids living at home. We've made all kinds of soups, nice lentil soup, but mostly "mob soup." In other words, you pretend it's the Depression, and you serve it with lots of French bread and things like that. It's good and cheap!

Pam and I are on a turnip kick now, but the trouble is that no one in Los Angeles is from the South, so turnips are pretty expensive there. They're really a pretty cheap piece of food, and they're great! Pam usually boils them first and then fries them. She's also got a great eggplant recipe for ratatouille, made with mushrooms, herbs, tomatoes and garlic.

"Take it from me—here's the cheapest way to feed 'em fast."

LEE AND PAM MARVIN'S "MOB SOUP"

- 4 lbs. fresh tomatoes, peeled and diced
- 2½ qts. water
- 1 small turnip (about 4 cups), peeled and diced
- 1 cup onion flakes
- ¼ cup celery flakes
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 3 tablespoons basil leaves
- 1½ teaspoons instant minced garlic
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 lb. eggplant, peeled and diced
- 4 cups diced cabbage
- 1 small cauliflower, cut into flowerets
- 2 cups corn off the cob
- 2 cups carrots, peeled and sliced
- 4 small (¾-lb. each) zucchini, peeled and sliced
- 2 cups potatoes, peeled and diced
- ¼ cup parsley flakes

1. In a large pot combine tomatoes with water; bring to boiling. Add turnip, onion and celery flakes, bay leaves, salt, 1½ teaspoons of the basil leaves, minced garlic, sugar and black pepper. Cover, cook 1 hour.
2. Add remaining vegetables and cook 45 to 60 minutes longer, or until vegetables are tender.
3. Add remaining 1½ teaspoons basil leaves and parsley flakes.
4. Serve with long loaves of French or Italian bread broken into hunks. Great with thick barbecued steaks or sliced ham. Makes 12 servings

How to Cut Down on Those Tempting Meat Fats

Those delicious fats, such as the fat edging a charcoal-broiled steak, have twice as many calories as sugar, ounce for ounce. But, dieter or not, you still need some fat to stay healthy. So the idea is to cut down, not cut out, and there are some easy ways to do it. When eating a steak or chop, for instance, cut off the edge of fat all at once and set it aside, rather than at each bite. It's a once-and-for-all way to eliminate the tantalizing temptation of leaving a bit of fat on each mouthful. Do it even at a dinner party—your hostess will forgive you (she's probably dieting, too). At home, if you're cooking your own steak, cut off all but an eighth of an inch of fat around the rim before cooking—and of course broil the steak instead of sautéing or frying it.

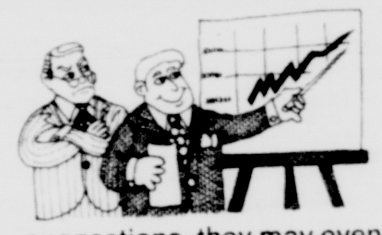
Jobmanship
Horatio Alger Would Not Have Pleased Every Boss



If you work for a small business, you may believe that your boss will value you if you are a hustler filled with practical ideas for building business volume, size and diversity. Not necessarily. Studies show that people who were "pushed into" business by unemployment or fear of unemployment or retirement will usually resist your ideas. They simply want to "make a living." Not only will they turn away from your expansion suggestions, they may even regard you as a nuisance. If you are bursting with ambition and inventive commercial plans, you need a small-business boss whose basic aim is making a lot of money or building an industrial empire. He will treasure you! However, if you aren't that ambitious, settle in with the other kind of boss. You and he will treasure each other! —By S. R. Redford

MARK DONOHUE:
"A College Degree Does Not Make Me a Smarter Driver"

Mark Donohue once worked for a pulverizing-equipment company in Perth Amboy, N.J. "I never want to return to anything like that again," he shudders. Chances are he never will have to. The blond-haired 35-year-old is too successful at pulverizing his opponents in the world of auto racing. . . . Not satisfied with success in Indianapolis-style cars, Donohue also is competing this year on the NASCAR Grand National circuit, long the stronghold of Southern stock-car stars. "I know it'll take a while before I'm competitive against them," Mark acknowledges, "but I see no reason why I shouldn't do well eventually. Racing is my business, after all." . . . Few take the racing business as seriously as this mechanical-engineering graduate from Brown University. "People talk about our success as if there was some sort of magic involved. Believe me, nothing could be further from the truth. Hard work is what makes us successful." . . . Mark scored his biggest victory of 1971 at the inaugural running of the Pocono 500 for Indianapolis-style cars. While many are impressed by Donohue's engineering background, he scoffs at the suggestion that this gives him an edge. "If I had to design anything tomorrow, I'd be in serious trouble. Everyone involved with cars knows the same things about them as I do. Maybe I can just articulate them better." —By Larry Bortstein

Why we smoke Vantage.

Joan started smoking Vantage about a year ago. I began when you came out with your menthol.

Oh, Lou and I were concerned about smoking a long while before that. You can't read in the papers day in and day out what they're saying about smoking and not be concerned.

I guess we like smoking too much to want to stop. Funny thing about our old brands, though. We felt guilty smoking them.

Well, Lou, the people who are against smoking accomplished that much.

Yeah, we even tried some of those new low 'tar' cigarette brands. They tasted like nothing, so much blah.

And I have 4 children and run around the house the whole day cleaning up after them. When I sit down for a break, I want a cigarette I can get some taste out of.

Vantage is everything you people say it is. Same flavor I got out of my old brand and I know you can't lie about those low 'tar' and nicotine numbers.

You're right, Lou, they really are fantastic.

I'm a one man band for them, got half a dozen of the guys who work with me to go over to them. We'd recommend Vantage to anybody who smokes.

A Reader Takes Issue:

After FAMILY WEEKLY'S article last February by convicted murderer Leaman R. Smith, "What Death Row Has Taught Me About Living," letters poured in from readers all over the country. Many were sympathetic with Mr. Smith. The following is a letter that we felt was particularly articulate for the opposing side.

—The Editors

Leaman R. Smith, A-85506

An Open Reply to Death-Row Author Leaman R. Smith

In the February 27 issue, FAMILY WEEKLY published an article by Leaman R. Smith entitled, "What Death Row Has Taught Me About Living." I'm afraid Mr. Smith only convinced me that his ordeal on death row really has taught him very little. He mentions that he learned to face reality and stop indulging in self-pity. Yet he closes with an obvious appeal for sympathy motivated by self-pity.

Mr. Smith mentions a survey showing that 91 percent of people questioned admitted having done things for which they could legally be imprisoned. That statistic is probably close to the truth. How many of those people, though, had only done a single such act, for which they would probably have been given a suspended sentence? And how many of the 91 percent he calls his fellows would have taken the life of a police officer in the midst of a crime? No, I think most of us have very little in common with Mr. Smith.

The greatest deterrent to crime yet devised, since we have not been able to eliminate the motivation toward crime, is the certainty of detection, capture and punishment. The 91 percent cited by Mr. Smith are not a symbol of brotherhood with him; rather, they are a monument to our citizenry's failure to care.

How many hardened criminals are walking the streets today because citizens will not report criminal acts, will not appear as witnesses; in short, will not "get involved"? Why is it so reprehensible for an American to report somebody who is assaulting or stealing from his neighbor? If every citizen were to report criminal acts to proper authorities, we could reduce our crime/conviction ratio enormously, secure proportionate reductions in our insurance premiums and greatly improve the personal security and happiness of our daily living.

What good does Mr. Smith's punishment really do? By his capture, trial and execution, other young men and women are made aware that the law does operate to apprehend criminals and mete out justice. By this knowledge they may be deterred from following Mr. Smith's example and instead encouraged to make their way within the law. To let him go free or reduce his sentence would do just the reverse and encourage more to enter the field of crime.

Why should Smith not be punished? Would it give life back to those from whom he violently took it? Would it give comfort to their widows and children? Would it make our citizens feel safer walking the streets, or going about their daily lives? Would it help our policemen do a better job of protecting us? In point of fact, Mr. Smith, what have you done to deserve to live?

If you don't know the answer to your question, Mr. Smith, I don't believe you have much to offer society. And if society does not recognize the answer, I fear that it has little to hope for except more crime, more fear, less individual freedom and less enjoyment of life in these United States.

How to get $20 in buying power—for every ten bucks you spend!

Do you have to "know somebody" to buy at factory prices? Yes, you do. Us. Unity Buying Service.

Join us . . . and you'll never pay regular prices again.

To be specific, you'll get about $2 worth of merchandise for every dollar you spend. How is this possible? Simple. You'll have an "in." You'll be part of a special group of people who never have to pay store prices . . . a privileged "inner circle" of consumers who buy all the things they need and want — and can save up to 50% or more on every purchase they make.

Our organization can be described in one simple sentence: We enable you to buy nationally advertised, brand-name merchandise at DIRECT FACTORY PRICES plus a 6% service charge.

That's all there is to it. There are no "gimmicks." No strings attached.

If you want to get more for your money — actually DOUBLE your purchasing power — join Unity now!

As a member you can buy the things you want at never-heard-of prices like these . . .

- $18.85 for a nationally advertised watch listed at $41.95
- $21.95 for 7½" saw listed at $49.95
- $12.15 for an automatic electric blanket that lists for $24.95
- $13.95 for a famous-make spinning reel that lists for $26.95
- $35.00 for a portable sewing machine selling for $99.95
- Yes, that's all you pay plus 6% service charge and shipping.

And I'm talking about savings on famous-brand merchandise. Names like Kodak, Gruen, Polaroid, Schick, Royal, Remington, Webcor, West Bend, Oster, Regina, MacGregor, Oneida — and more than 200 other nationally known manufacturers.

How can Unity offer merchandise at such exclusively low prices?

But you're only one person. Chances are that no manufacturer will sell directly to you. But we represent 400,000 members — and that's a lot of buying muscle! So we're able to buy direct at factory prices.

And we sell to our members at . . .

The factory price, plus 6%, plus shipping charges. Period.

That 6% is to help us cover our administrative costs and make a profit. No store, no matter how large, can make that statement.

Everything you buy is brand new, first quality, and fully guaranteed

With few exceptions like bulky furniture, all items are stocked in our modern warehouse where all orders are filled and shipped promptly. Remember we are not brokers or agents — we stock our merchandise.

Everything comes with the manufacturer's full guarantee. And with our own guarantee on top of that: if you are ever dissatisfied, for any reason, with anything you buy from us, let us know within 10 days . . . we will either exchange it or give you a refund.

Prove it to yourself!

In a "nutshell" we are promising you up to two dollars' worth of buying power for every dollar you spend now. This may seem to be too good to be true . . . and these days, we can understand that!

So what other proof can we offer you that Unity Buying Service is for real? Just this: test the Service at no risk. Here's how: Send us the membership application with your $6 annual membership fee. In return, we will rush you . . .

- Our beautiful 436-page current catalog, picturing in full color most of the 10,000 items you can buy at huge discounts. This catalog will show you the manufacturer's suggested list price or the fair comparison price. But to find out what you pay, you must turn to your . . .
- FACTORY PRICE BOOK, where you'll find the Dealer Cost of every item, and, lowest of all, the Factory Price you pay plus 6% service charge.

Then start comparison shopping. Check the prices in our Factory Price Book against any store or discount house in your area. We know they can't beat us.

No minimum purchase!

Act now!

We print a limited number of catalogs each year. Once our supply is exhausted, we will not be able to accept new members until a new catalog is printed next year. BELEAGUERED GEORGE BISSETT
"You mean Tom Jones looks like me!"

A less honest man would take unscrupulous advantage of the likeness—but not George Bissett. He says. The pretty girls all take him for singer Tom Jones, but he'd really like to be left alone to earn a living as a part-time barman and model. He insists. "I've had this trouble for five or six years now," he complains. "Girls gaping at me everywhere I go. I get a bit annoyed. I try to tell them I'm not him, but most of them won't believe me. The ones who do are very disappointed—and show it!" Courage, George, nothing to do but grin and bear it.

Book Quote: This is Spiro Agnew's half brother, insurance man Roy Pollard of Baltimore, talking: "I don't go for the big words that Spiro uses. I wonder where in heck he gets all the words he tosses into his speeches. I think he's deliberately digging them up or having research on it, I don't know. I think he's doing this now simply for effect. About a year ago I said to him, 'Spiro, all these big words you're using. You have a wonderful command of them. I think they're fine for a certain kind of people. But actually, what you're trying to do is to reach Mr. Middle-Class Man and average people. Why don't you use words that can be understood by everyone?' Well, he disagreed with me. He said, 'I'm doing this intentionally. I think I'm doing the right thing.'" – From "White Knight: The Rise of Spiro Agnew," by Jules Witcover (Random House, $10).

MRS. FLORENCE BARNABY, 84
An exception to the rule

Mrs. Florence Barnaby, 84, lives in a house without electricity, indoor plumbing or heating system, in Brookline, N.H. She rides her bicycle into the village every day, and to Pepperell, Mass., seven and a half miles away, twice a month for Golden Age meetings. "Just say I'm content," she says. "I think easy living has spoiled many Americans." (She uses kerosene lamps, chops wood for her stove and lugs water from a spring a half mile away.) The widow's only income is a small Social Security pension. "It isn't much; still I make it do." Her hobby is reading: "I've got good eyes." She allows herself two luxuries—a transistor radio and a telephone. She says, "I'm happy with my little old house. I've got a beautiful location on the edge of the woods. I've got fine friends and neighbors. What more could I want?"

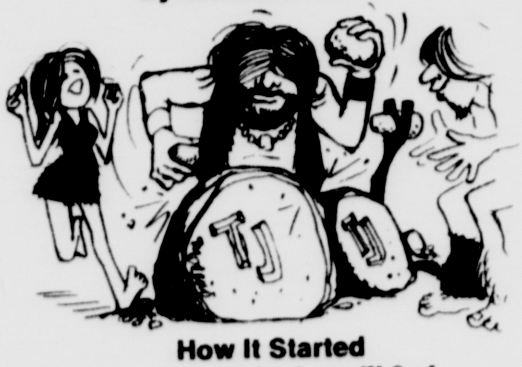
ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour



How It Started

Stone Age man, I think you'll find,
Had music, too, of crudest kind.
It had a beat and it was loud
And Stone Age man was very proud.
Two stones together he did knock,
And found it good, and called it "rock."

Not only do most of us have trouble thinking on our feet, sitting down doesn't seem to help much, either.
—Arnot L. Sheppard, Jr.

The thief admitted to having repeatedly broken in the same dress shop.
"What did you steal?" asked the judge.
"A dress for my wife," he explained, "but she made me exchange it three times." —Dorothea Kent

The lodge brothers filed out 10 minutes after they had entered their meeting place.
"What's wrong?" a late arrival asked.
"No leader," replied a brother sadly. "The Grand All-Powerful Invincible Most Supreme All-High Courageous Unconquerable Potentate had to stay home and baby-sit." —Thomas LaMance

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

My grandson Tony, age four, was sitting at the table having lunch with his sister and two little girl cousins. He asked them, "Do you like worms?" When they answered with "Oh, no," "Ugh," and "Yuck," he said:
"Oh, I don't mean to eat – I mean just to be with."

SOUR GRIPES

Some women envy actresses,
Those who have great beauty.
Some girls begrudge a stewardess
Her exciting duty.
But I can say quite honestly
There's just one group I hate—
That lucky sisterhood of girls
Both rich and underweight!
—Sue Culp

"I gotta see a psychiatrist one of these days," the man confided to his friend. "I've been talking to myself."
"Aw, that's nothing to worry about," his friend scoffed. "Everybody talks to himself now and then."
The man lapsed into a brief silence, thinking. No matter what problem he mentioned, it always seemed his cynical friend would refuse to take it seriously. "Can I use your phone?" he asked.
"Aw, c'mon," the skeptic protested. "You're not going to call a psychiatrist, are you?"
"Oh, no," the man replied. "I just want to ask myself what I think about your opinion." —Dean Morgan

This plan pays so much and the $1 offer is so good, you probably have some questions—or even some doubts. We've put all the answers (including the minor limitations) down right here . . . in black and white . . . for Family Weekly readers so you won't miss the Enrollment Deadline for the Extra Cash/Plus Plan. Comparison shows Extra Cash/Plus helps answer today's alarming jump in hospital charges, now up to $81.66 a day national average—with still worse to come.

Ordinary hospitalization insurance alone just is not enough now when your family is hit with a hospital stay. You need to supplement it with a hospital income plan that pays enough extra cash—cash that's in addition to any other money and insurance or Medicare benefits you may have. Otherwise you could end up draining your life savings, children's college fund, etc. Low-cost Extra Cash/ Plus helps answer this need. It pays more because it covers more. Helps out for both sickness and accident, the burdensome costs of Intensive Care and convalescent facility. Yes, benefits even increase to meet rising costs.

Your family is safer and so are your hard-earned savings—no matter what. And now it's easy to get the Extra Cash/Plus Plan with NO AGE LIMIT FOR ADULTS, but you must mail the Application by May 24, 1972.

YOUR $1-BACK NO-RISK GUARANTEE

Under this Guarantee, you risk nothing. Examine your policy in your home. Show it to your insurance agent, or other trusted advisor. If not absolutely satisfied, return it within 10 days after receipt. N-BF Life will refund your $1 at once. . . . But mail Application before limited enrollment ends on May 24, 1972. Better yet, do it today!

Doctor or Hospital – to use as You see fit...All Tax-Free!

NOW—for only $1—you get your first month's protection, regardless of your age, occupation or size of your family. But you must reply before midnight May 24th.

During this Limited Enrollment Period you the readers of Family Weekly can enroll yourself and all eligible members of your family simply by filling in and mailing the Enrollment Form on the back cover of this booklet with only $1. It's that easy!

But to take advantage of Extra Cash/ Plus, you must mail your Enrollment Form before midnight May 24. Your protection begins just as soon as we receive your form and issue your policy. You gain nothing by waiting—act now—please mail your Enrollment Form today!

Now, for the very first time, you can get tax-free cash paid direct to you—not to the doctor or hospital unless you tell us to—when either you or a covered family member is hospitalized for sickness or injury—paid from the first day for up to 25 months . . . PLUS your cash benefits increase each year for five years at no additional premium just to help you keep up with the rising cost of living.

And you can enroll right from this Family Weekly booklet without the usual insurance investigations, without any red tape at all and you risk nothing as N-BF will refund your $1 if you're not absolutely satisfied.

Here's how to get your Extra Cash/ Plus in addition to ordinary health insurance

All you need to do is fill in and mail the short Enrollment Form with $1 before midnight May 24. It's that simple!

With hospital costs reaching nearly $100 a day across the country, no matter how much ordinary health insurance you have it probably won't cover all your medical and hospital expenses today . . . and it certainly won't cover the increasing costs in the months and years ahead.

But even if it does, almost every family knows the many extra bills and expenses that come when there's illness or an accident . . . the worries and bills . . . not just for the hospital and doctor but the household expenses and all the extra needs of the family during those difficult times.

It's to help meet these needs . . . to provide the cushion of extra cash, that N-BF Life Insurance Corporation created the Extra Cash/Plus Plan that pays you tax-free cash when you need it most . . . extra cash you can use any way you wish . . . tax-free cash that you don't have to account for to anyone.

Without the cash to pay the additional bills and the extra expenses, you could leave the hospital without the money to meet your obligations, or even to meet your household expenses. Without the Extra Cash/Plus Plan, you might have personal debts you can't pay.

A steady flow of cash paid from 1st day in hospital

But with cash benefits day after day, week after week, month after month paid by your Extra Cash/Plus Plan, you can have a steady flow of cash to meet your additional needs.

Your cash benefits begin the very first day — there's no waiting period — and benefits are paid for as long as hospitalization continues, even up to 25 months—more than two full years—for each new stay in the hospital for sickness or accident. PLUS: you get extra benefits for up to 30 days when you or a covered family member must be confined to the intensive care unit and you're paid for the first 30 days of convalescent or nursing home care following hospitalization —all at the same low premium.

Your Extra Cash/Plus Plan pays you directly in addition to everything you receive from any other Insurance Company — even Medicare. You're paid your full cash benefits even if other insurance pays all your expenses.

All of your unmarried dependent children residing in your home may be included under this plan between the ages of 1 month and 19 years. Both you and your wife—if neither has been hospitalized for sickness for more than a total of seven days in the past two years—are eligible for coverage. There are no other qualifications!

Generous benefits at 65 and over paid in addition to Medicare

If you're over 65, or when you become 65, because Medicare will pay many of your medical and hospital expenses, your Extra Cash/Plus Plan will pay you $300 a month ($10 a day) for the first two months you're in the hospital and then $600 a month ($20 a day) for the next 23 months. And you get up to $300 ($10 a day) extra benefits for up to 30 days of intensive care and convalescent or nursing home benefits for up to 30 days following hospitalization.

Premiums are kept low— because there's no costly red tape

Your policy will be issued to you on your application without the usual fuss or bother and with no red tape.

These few customary exclusions help keep your premiums low: conditions resulting from declared or undeclared war or act of war; mental illness or nervous disorder; confinement in a federal hospital or federal convalescent facility. Even maternity is covered when both husband and wife are insured. Pre-existing conditions are covered when hospi-

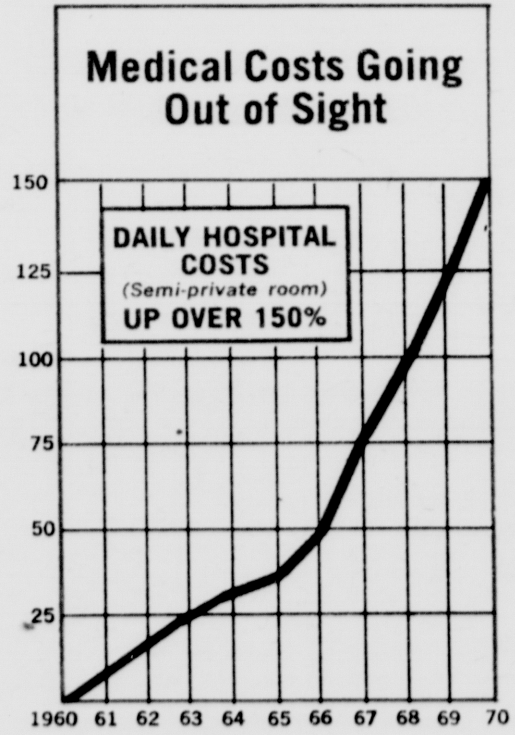
Regardless of your age or size of your family, your first full month is only $1

You get all these benefits now plus a 5% increase in your extra cash benefits each year for five years—a total increase of 25%—to keep up with the rising costs of everything you have to buy. And you get this protection for yourself and your entire family for even less than you'd think. Regardless of your age or the size of your family, your first full month's protection is only $1. You pay only these low monthly rates* according to your actual age at the time of each renewal (when both husband and wife are covered, the husband is the insured):

*Washington and Montana Residents—1 Yr.



LOW MONTHLY RATES*

Age of Insured Policyholder*	Policyholder	Policyholder and Spouse
19 - 44	$4.50	$8.50
45 - 54	5.50	10.00
55 - 64	6.50	11.50
65 and over	8.00	14.50

For only $2.00 a month more you can cover all your children residing in your home—no matter how many—who are unmarried, dependent on you and are between one month and 19 years old. And, every addition to your family is automatically covered at one month of age with no additional premium.

NOTE: And once issued to you, your policy can never be cancelled or your rates changed no matter how old you grow, no matter how poor your health becomes, no matter how many claims you make unless we refuse to renew or change rates for all policies of the same classification in your entire state.

How can the rates be so low for so much protection?

The answer is simple. The Extra Cash/Plus Plan was created by the National Ben Franklin Life Insurance Corporation (a nation-wide leader in low cost group plans for veterans, and others) for mass enrollment of Family Weekly readers throughout the United States. And because we sell through the U.S. mail, sales costs are kept very low and you get the most protection for the lowest possible rate.

Generous Benefits if You Are 65 or Over...Pays in Addition to Medicare!

Medicare payments are great and will pay many of your medical and hospital expenses but can fall far short of your money needs when a prolonged hospitalization hits you.

The National Ben Franklin Life Insurance Corporation, Chicago, Illinois, is a member of The Continental Corporation, among the largest insurance groups in the entire world. National-Ben Franklin is a legal reserve company founded in 1852—more than 100 years ago—licensed in your state and regulated by your own state insurance department.

For only $1, your policy will be issued and go into force for a full month just as soon as we process your Enrollment Form. Sorry, only 1 policy per family.

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is simple, direct and easy to understand. Read it carefully and show it to a trusted advisor to make sure it's exactly what you've wanted and needed. If you change your mind for any reason whatsoever, simply return the policy within 10 days of receipt and your money will be refunded promptly.

PLEASE REMEMBER: This is a Limited Time Enrollment—we can only accept your Enrollment Form if it is postmarked before Midnight May 24. Please don't wait until the last moment. The sooner we receive your Enrollment Form, the sooner you and your family will be protected by the Extra Cash/Plus Plan. With the $1 money-back guarantee, you risk nothing, but you could risk losing hundreds of dollars of extra cash if you delay. Please mail your Enrollment Form today!

26 Important Questions Answered...

1. What is the Extra Cash/Plus Plan?

The Extra Cash/Plus Plan is an entirely new, low-cost plan that pays cash direct to you from the very first day when you or a covered family member are hospitalized for sickness or accident.

2. What are my chances of having to go to the hospital?

1 out of 7 people do each year. Yes, one out of two families could have a loved one in the hospital this year. It could be your wife, your children or you. Think of the additional bills you will have if hospitalized. You could count on up to 25 full months of benefits — up to $15,000 with the Extra Cash/Plus Plan.

3. $15,000.00? How come Extra Cash/Plus offers so much coverage at so low a cost?

Because of mass enrollment throughout the country and because there is no red tape, sales costs are kept to the barest minimum with savings passed along to you in lower premiums!

4. What will you pay for my Wife?

Same big benefit as yours, $600 a month ($20 a day) (under age 65); up to 25 months. This means up to $15,000 for each of your wife's hospital benefit periods too!

5. Are maternity benefits included?

Yes, unlike many companies, National-Ben Franklin pays $600 a month ($20 a day) up to 25 months for your wife's hospital confinement for pregnancy, (and its complications), which begins while both of you are insured. No separate charge!

6. Will Extra Cash/Plus take care of our children?

Yes, we pay up to $7500 — $300 a month ($10 a day) up to 25 months for any of your children's hospital benefit periods. Each new baby is covered automatically after 1 month and through age 18. Yes, one low premium will include coverage for all of your children residing in your house—no matter how many.

7. When does my family protection begin?

Every eligible family member is covered immediately for any accident or any illness that begins after your policy is issued.

8. Does Extra Cash/Plus cover nursing home care?

Yes, and not many do. Regardless of age, it pays up to $300—$10 a day for 30 days (each hospital benefit period) for confinement in a nursing home or hospital convalescent unit, which starts within 7 days of a 3-day (or more) covered hospital stay.

9. What is the 25% cost-of-living raise?

A hedge against even higher hospital costs! Each person's original benefits will increase 5% for benefit periods which start after the end of the 1st year of his coverage. Similar increases for 4 more years. This means 25% more cash for you at No Added Cost!

10. Does the "intensive care" feature of Extra Cash/Plus really Double my benefits?

Yes, for adults under 65 Extra Cash/Plus pays up to 30 days each benefit period. Up to $600 ($20 a day) are added to your hospital income dollars, a total of $1200! (Other generous benefits for other age groups). Even regular recovery room service is covered after 24 hours.

11. Do my children get the "Plus" benefits too?

Yes, Up to $300 additional ($10 a day) for Intensive Care; up to $300 ($10 a day) Nursing Home Care. Cost-of-Living Raises bring children's $300 benefits to $375 after 5 years.

12. What if I have other insurance?

Extra Cash/Plus pays in addition to your group coverage, Workmen's Group, Medicare, or any other company's policies.

13. Who gets the cash?

14. All mine? No taxes?

No taxes.

15. Just who can get Extra Cash/Plus?

You and your wife—Each, who has not been hospitalized for sickness for more than a total of seven days in the past two years, are eligible. All of your children under 19 are eligible even if they have been hospitalized.

Here's Why—National-Ben Franklin Extra Cash/Plus Policy is Your Best Protection for the Lowest Cost.

16. Why is Extra Cash/Plus so attractive to Senior Citizens? What features in Extra Cash/Plus are designed to serve those over age 65?

At age 65 Extra Cash/Plus pays you up to $14,400 . . . for up to 25 months (over 2 years!) for each hospital benefit period. $300/month—$10 a day first 2 months; $600/month—$20 a day for 23 months more. The $600 benefit means more money when you need it most—when your Medicare stops.

17. Do we get the "Intensive Care" feature?

Yes, 65 or over, $10 a day for 30 days, up to $300, is added to your hospital income payment.

18. What is our Total Cost-of-Living Raise for age 65 or over?

Your original benefits will increase up to a total of $375 for each of the first two months and $750 a month thereafter.

19. What am I paid for less than a month?

You're paid 1/30 of your monthly benefits for each day of confinement from the 1st day.

20. How often can I be hospitalized and still collect my full Extra Cash/Plus benefits?

As often as necessary for as many different injuries and ailments as occur. Later confinements for the same condition will be treated as continuations of the original confinement—then, after 12 months free of hospital or convalescent confinement for that condition, you will again be entitled to a new full 25 month benefit period.

21. Can my premiums be changed or can my policy be cancelled?

Your policy can never be singled out for change or cancellation because of claims or poor health. Rate schedule changes or cancellation could only occur for all policies like yours in your class and state upon proper notice; nothing of the sort is foreseen. You're Safe with Extra Cash/Plus.

22. Will I receive my money promptly?

Yes. Your claim will be handled promptly and your tax-free extra cash will be sent directly to you to use any way you wish!

23. What About "Pre-Existing" conditions?

Even these are covered when hospitalization begins 2 years or more after protection starts.*

*Washington and Montana Residents: 1 year.

24. What few exclusions are there?

Only a few—to help keep your rates low. They are conditions resulting from declared or undeclared war or act of war; mental illness or nervous disorder; confinement† in any federal hospital or federal convalescent facility. Even maternity is covered when both husband and wife are insured.

25. How must does my first month cost? How much do I pay after that?

You pay only $1 for your first full month's coverage regardless of how old you are or the size of your family. After that you pay only the small monthly premium for your age group.

26. Whom should I list on the Enrollment Form?

We recommend you include every eligible member of your family. Remember, though, at least one parent must be covered to include any number of your children under their low rate offered during this Enrollment Period. The premium for family coverage is so low you can't afford not to have the added protection.

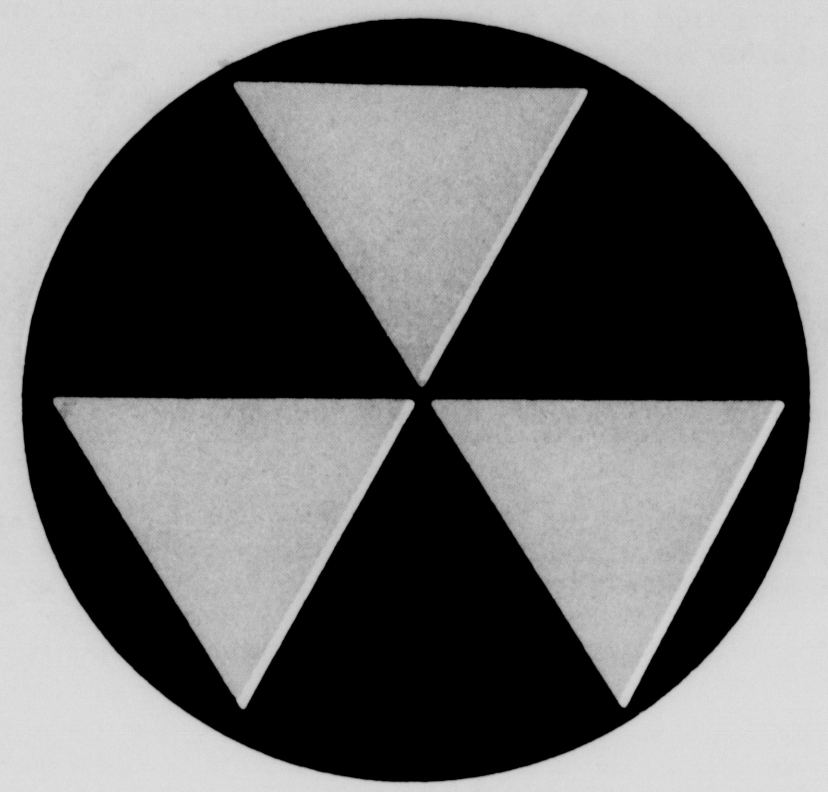
PETTIS COUNTY
COMMUNITY SHELTER PLAN



THIS PLAN WAS PREPARED BY THE MISSOURI OFFICE OF DISASTER PLANNING AND OPERATIONS-COMMUNITY SHELTER PLANNING SECTION IN COOPERATION WITH THE SHOW-ME REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSION, LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE DIRECTORS, AND THE VARIOUS COMMUNITIES IN PETTIS COUNTY.

SAVE THIS INFORMATION IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

The following public officials have approved this community shelter plan. Keep it where you can locate it at any time. It May Save Your Life.

The purpose of this is to match citizens to public shelter which they can reach in a reasonable length of time and to recommend action to be taken by people who cannot or do not want to go to a public shelter.

This community Shelter Plan was approved on the 1st day of March, 1972.

B. G. Fischer
Presiding Judge

YOUR CSP COMMITTEE

Local officials and civic leaders who served on the Community Shelter Planning Committee and provided advice and assistance to the planners who prepared this plan are:

Associate Judge Zeb Thomas	Associate Judge E. L. Birdsong	Pettis County
Mayor Jerry N. Jones	Jerry Iuchs, CD Director	Sedalia
Mayor B. C. Clemons	William B. Martin, CD Director	Smithton
Mayor Paul Steinkuhler	Gene Smith, CD Director	LaMonte
Mayor E. Lloyd Brown	Harold Yunt, CD Director	Green Ridge
Mayor Floyd W. Shane	John Parkhurst, CD Director	Hughesville

WHERE TO GO AND WHAT TO DO IN THE EVENT OF NUCLEAR ATTACK

In case of a nuclear attack upon this country, you and your family would need to know WHERE TO GO AND WHAT TO DO. This Community Shelter Plan for Pettis County contains this information for every citizen. It is based on making the best possible use of the fallout protection now available in Pettis County. If you and your family take action as this plan recommends, you have maximum chance for survival.

FALLOUT SHELTERS IN PETTIS COUNTY

There is enough fallout shelter space in Pettis County for all citizens. Most of the shelters are located in Sedalia and LaMonte (See maps on page 3.)

Many of the shelters are stocked with essential survival items and most are marked with a sign that looks like this.

If you choose to stay at home rather than go to a public shelter, follow the instructions on page 4, on how to improvise or construct a home fallout shelter.

You can obtain a copy of the handbook, In Time of Emergency, from your local Civil Defense Office.

Supplement to The Sedalia Democrat, Sunday, May 14, 1972

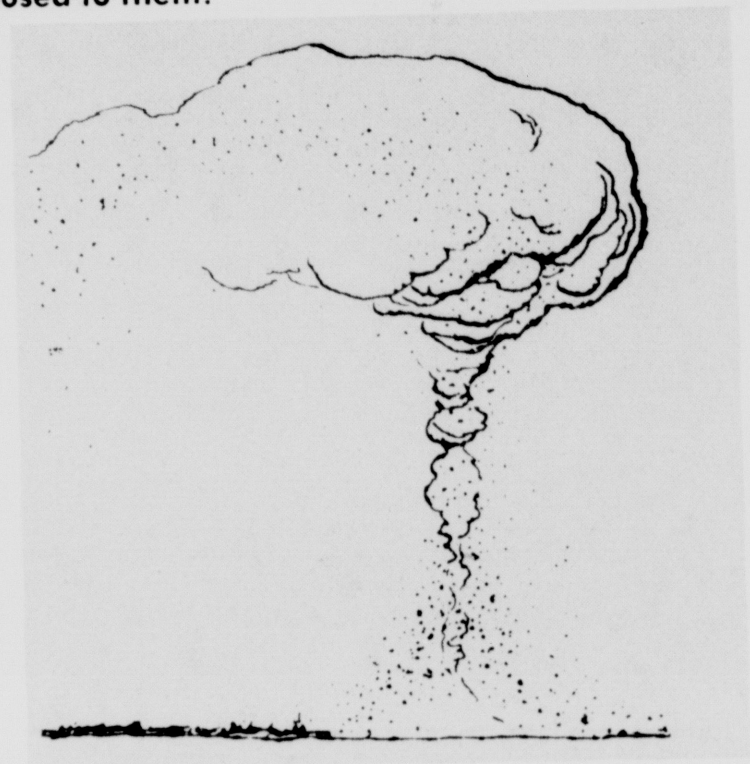
WHAT IS FALLOUT?

If a nuclear weapon explodes on or near the ground, tons of earth are drawn up with the "fireball" produced by the explosion. They mix with the radioactive materials produced by the explosion of the nuclear weapon and eventually fall back to the ground as particles of "fallout".

Where these fallout particles come back to the ground depends on the winds.

Fallout may fall as far as several hundred miles from where the weapon exploded. IT MAY NOT ARRIVE FOR SEVERAL HOURS, FARTHER DOWNWIND.

The primary danger from fallout particles is caused by the "gamma rays" they give off. Like X-rays, they can harm living things exposed to them.



Radioactive fallout decays. Seven hours after the burst, fallout is only 1/10th as radioactive as it was at 1 hour after the burst. After 2 days it is only 1/100th as radioactive as it was at 1 hour.

FALLOUT PROTECTION

You can protect yourself from fallout by getting heavy material (shielding) between yourself and the fallout particles giving off the gamma rays. The heavier the construction of a building you may be in, the better protection it gives you.

ATTACK WARNING

The attack warning signal will be a 3 to 5 minute wavering tone and the attention or alert signal will be a 3 to 5 minute steady blast. If you hear the attack signal, you should go immediately to shelter. If you hear the attention or alert signal turn on your radio for emergency information.

BATTERY POWERED RADIO

In time of emergency, a number of radio broadcast stations will remain on the air to provide emergency information. Turn your radio dial to a station that is broadcasting in your area.

When You Go To Your Shelter, Take Your Battery Powered Radio.

THE NATIONAL FALLOUT SHELTER PROGRAM

Since 1962, The Department of Defense has been working with state and local governments to identify those existing buildings, such as courthouses, office buildings and factories, which provide substantial shelter against fallout radiation. Nationwide, shelter spaces for over 194 million people have been located. Over half of these buildings are marked with the yellow and black fallout shelter signs, and many of them are stocked with food, medical kits, and other survival supplies.

USE THIS INFORMATION WHEN COMPLETING YOUR FAMILY EMERGENCY PLAN

If you live in Sedalia or LaMonte, follow the instructions under the city maps. You should go to a building in the same shaded area where you live.

If you live in other areas of the County, follow these instructions:

Persons in Blackwater, LaMonte, Dresden, Elk Fork, Green Ridge, Washington, Flat Creek, and Sedalia Townships should go to the Smith-Cotton High School.

Persons in Houstonia, Hughesville, Longwood, Heath's Creek, and Cedar Townships should go to the Swift & Company building in Sedalia.

YOUR FAMILY EMERGENCY PLAN

Fill out the family emergency plan below. This will tell each member of the family where to go and what to do in case of nuclear attack. Enter the names of all members of the family in the boxes at the left. Write the place for each person to go, in the column. Make certain that every member of the family is thoroughly familiar with this plan.

Family Member	Take Shelter At	Special Items To Take To Shelter

FALLOUT PROTECTION FOR CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

This plan is based on persons moving to public shelter from their homes, or taking shelter at home, therefore, if the attack warning signal is sounded during school hours, your children will be taken home according to normal procedures.

You should not attempt to go to school and pick up your children. Your school officials will make every effort to see that they are brought home safely. Keep in mind your children are under the protection of school officials who are trained to safeguard them under emergency conditions.

PUBLIC SHELTERS FOR LA MONTE

The shelter for the yellow area is the Olin Conductors building on U.S. Highway 50.

Red numbers indicate shelter locations.

HOW TO IMPROVISE A HOME FALLOUT SHELTER

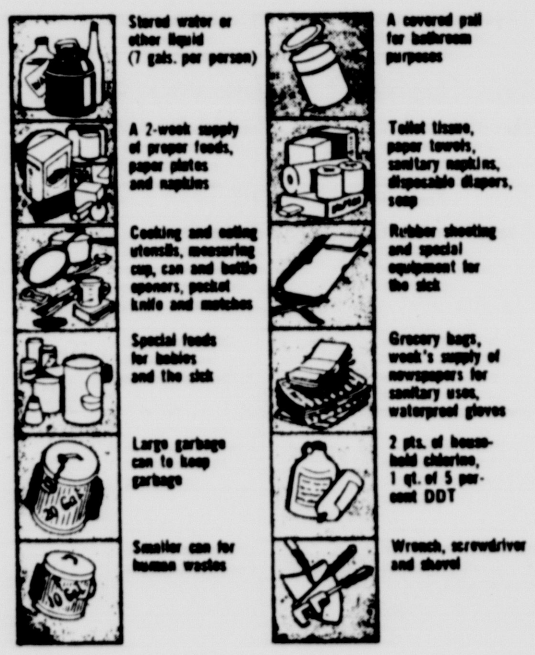
If your home has a basement and you have a sturdy table or workbench, put it in the corner where the outside ground level is highest. Quickly fill boxes or dresser drawers with the heaviest material readily available — sand, dirt or bricks, or if you have nothing heavier, newspapers or books. Stack these materials on the top and at the sides of the table or workbench. It is important to have most of the material overhead. Be careful not to overload the table to the point where it will collapse.

If your home does not have a basement and a workbench is not available, you can improvise a small shelter area by using furniture, doors, dressers, or other materials. Make a sturdy table by removing doors from their hinges and placing them over supports in the central part of your home. The supports for your table can be a chest of drawers or anything which can take a heavy load.

Use two or three doors for the top of this table. Place boxes or drawers filled with earth, sand, bricks, etc. . ., on top of the table and along the sides. Use anything with weight that can be moved. The heavier the material, the more protection.

SUPPLIES FOR HOME SHELTERS

You might have to stay in your home area for 1 or 2 days, but it is possible that you might have to stay there for as long as 2 weeks. Therefore, take as many supplies as possible to your shelter. (See following illustration.)



You should not leave shelter until you are told by authorities that it is safe to do so.

PROGRAMS TO SECURE MORE PUBLIC SHELTERS

Pettis County and the various communities together with the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense are working actively to get more public shelters. The County Civil Defense Agency is working with private firms, organizations, School Boards, etc., which may construct new buildings in the future to assist in providing information on the incorporation of shelters.

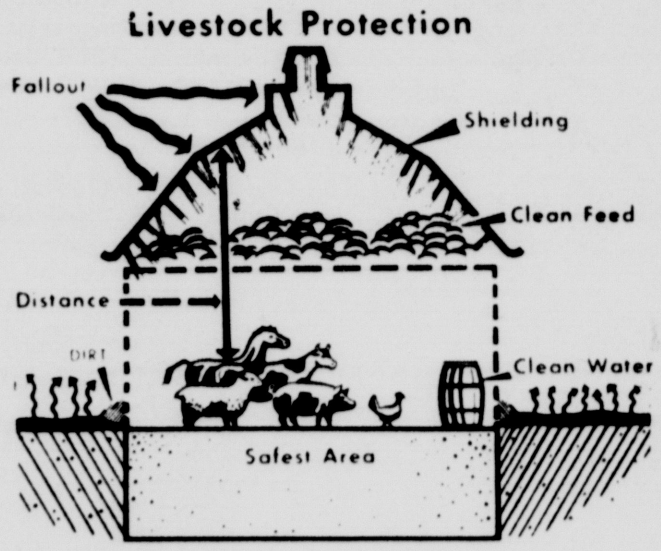
IN TIME OF EMERGENCY HANDBOOK

You can obtain a copy of the handbook, "In Time of Emergency" by contacting the County Civil Defense Office, 201 W. 2nd St., Sedalia, Missouri. This handbook provides information on all types of emergencies including home first aid.

ON THE FARM

You should place as much of your livestock and produce in barns as you can. A normally filled hayloft affords some shielding from fallout radiation for animals below. You should store as much water in covered containers as you can. Radiation harms only living creatures; therefore, food, water, etc., would be safe to use if kept covered.

Chickens and eggs would be a particularly important direct food resource because they are relatively resistant to radiation, especially if they are raised under cover using safe packaged foods.



Afterward, any livestock exposed to fallout could be washed or brushed to remove fallout particles. Water from wells and streams would be safe for animal use. Even water in a pond could be used since the fallout particles would settle to the bottom. If no covered feed is available, animals could be turned out to pasture after a few days when the radioactivity has decreased.

Farm animals and poultry would be an important source of human food and they should not be allowed to sicken and die from thirst and starvation. Animals which have been exposed to early fallout or which have fed on contaminated pasture could be slaughtered and the muscle meat would be fit for human consumption. Internal organs, such as the liver and spleen should not be eaten unless no other food is available. It would be easier to preserve meat on the hoof than on the hook. Hogs and steers could be kept alive even with water and feed containing early fallout particles.

If county agents are available, they can help you decide what crops, pasturage, and methods will be best and safest to use. Seeds of all sorts are quite resistant to radiation and do not require any special protection.

More information can be obtained from your County Civil Defense Office and County Extension Office.
